Contributors

JENNY BARKER-DEVINE is associate professor of history at Illinois College in Jacksonville, Illinois. She is the author of On Behalf of the Family Farm: Iowa Farm Women's Activism Since 1945 (University of Iowa Press, 2013). Her current project, featured in the blog americanathena.com, focuses on women's education and activism in the nineteenth-century Midwest.

STEPHANIE GROSSNICKLE-BATTERTON is a doctoral candidate and graduate instructor in the Department of American Studies at the University of Iowa. She holds a B.A. in English from Elizabethtown College and an M.A. in American Studies from the University of Iowa. She is currently working on her dissertation, in which she examines representations of women's religious dress in the United States in the late nineteenth and early twentieth century.

TRACY LUCHT is assistant professor in the Greenlee School of Journalism and Communication at Iowa State University. She holds a Ph.D. from the Philip Merrill College of Journalism at the University of Maryland and is the author of Sylvia Porter: America's Original Personal Finance Columnist (2013). Her historical research examines the relationship between gender and agency in the careers of women journalists.

The State Historical Society of Iowa

The Annals of Iowa is published quarterly by the State Historical Society of Iowa, the Historical Division of the Department of Cultural Affairs of the State of Iowa. The society operates from two centers, Des Moines and Iowa City. A museum, research library, state archives, special collections, community programming, historic preservation, and membership programs are located at 600 East Locust Street, Des Moines, IA 50319, phone 515-281-5111. Publications, a research library, and special collections are located at 402 Iowa Avenue, Iowa City, IA 52240, phone 319-335-3916. The society also operates several historic sites across the state.

Subscriptions

Subscriptions to The Annals of Iowa are $24.95 per year; single copies are $7. Contact Publications, State Historical Society of Iowa, 402 Iowa Avenue, Iowa City, Iowa 52240.

The Annals is available on microfilm from Xerox University Microfilms, 300 N. Zeeb Road, Ann Arbor, Michigan 48106.

Submissions

The Annals of Iowa invites the submission of articles on Iowa history and on subjects concerning the nation and the Midwest with an Iowa focus. State, local, and regional studies of political, economic, social, cultural, intellectual, institutional, ethnic, religious, material culture, archeological, and architectural history are welcome. The Annals also reviews significant books on related topics. A detailed set of editorial guidelines is available on request. All correspondence concerning editorial matters should be addressed to:
