DAVID EDWARD HADDEN, druggist and weather observer, died at his home in Alta, Iowa, September 20, 1943; born Oct. 22, 1866 in Killrush, Ireland; graduated from Wesleyan college, Dublin; came with his parents to LeMars in 1881, and in 1887 removed to Alta; first an employe of Chas. E. Cameron as a druggist, later a member of the firm and in recent years sole owner; received the degree of doctor of science from Morningside college; was in one place of business fifty-six years; in 1909 was made a member of the state pharmacy commission and served eight years; served on the Alta school board, the county board of education and the library board; was active in the Methodist church and a republican.

For more than fifty years Mr. Hadden kept accurate record of weather observations with instruments set up in his own yard and this service was given high praise. His great hobby in life, however, was as an amateur astronomer, and on astronomy he engaged in writing and lecturing. In this field he became honored by membership in the Royal Astronomical Society of Great Britain and a member of the American and Belgian astronomical societies. He had an observatory of his own, and in 1900 was one of a party of eminent astronomers to go to North Carolina for observation of a total eclipse of the sun. His contribution to scientific publications in America and in Europe gave him world-wide fame. He was married in 1888 to Emeline Dier of LeMars, and a son and daughter survive.
