

time of his demise; consolidated Wallaces' Farmer and the Iowa Homestead, becoming president and general manager of the company, his nephew, Henry A. Wallace, being the editor until taking the position of secretary of agriculture in President Roosevelt's cabinet and later vice president.

He was also president of the Capital City Printing Plate company, Des Moines, and in more recent years conducted an insurance agency with his son Ross Wallace; married Elizabeth Maud Gibson, in Des Moines, in 1896, who survives him with three children, Ross Wallace, Des Moines, Mrs. A. W. Voorhes, Tucson, Arizona, and Mrs. Foster Farrell, Chicago, Illinois; served as a member of the state board of education; was president of the Memorial Union at Iowa State college when the building was erected, and since a member of the Memorial Union board, a member of the Des Moines Library board, chairman of the membership committee of the Red Cross during World War I, a member of the national board of missions of the Presbyterian church, and a member of the Des Moines Y.M.C.A. board many years; a member of the executive committee of the National Rural Boy Scouts of America, interested particularly in rural boy scouting; also served as president of the Des Moines Pioneer club; a member of the Central Presbyterian church, Des Moines, and a Republican.

---

ARTHUR VYNE WOODWORTH, minister, died December 22, 1947, from injury from a fall, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. James M. Gwin, 4309 Tuckerman street, University Park, Maryland; born at Grinnell, Iowa, in 1872, son of the Rev. William Walter Woodworth, who held a Congregational pastorate there, a member of an old New England family; a graduate of Amherst college and Yale university, and ordained in the Congregational ministry in 1899; served as superintendent of a Congregational missionary school in the mountains of Tennessee for eight years and held pastorates at Manvel, North Dak., Harwenton, Conn., West Brattleboro, Vt., East Derry, N. H. and McIndee Falls, Vt., and survived by his wife, Mrs. Emma Hall Woodworth, Westminster, Vt., two sons and three daughters.

---

DWIGHT F. WINDENBURG, educator and physicist, died November 14, 1947, at Washington, D. C.; born in 1895 at Lamont, Iowa; served as radio operator in the U. S. navy in 1917-1919 and also in the Merchant Marine afterwards; a graduate in 1921 of Cornell college, Mt. Vernon, Iowa, and received his masters physics degree there in 1923; from 1923 to 1929 taught mathematics in California, at the University of California, the Polytechnic college of engineering at Oakland, and the Long Beach Junior college; removed to Washington in 1929 as a physicist with the Experimental Model

Copyright of Annals of Iowa is the property of State of Iowa, by & through the State Historical Society of Iowa and its content may not be copied or emailed to multiple sites or posted to a listserv without the copyright holder's express written permission. However, users may print, download, or email articles for individual use.