THE DES MOINES RIVER IN 1721.

The Moingona issues from the midst of an immense meadow which swarms with buffalos and other wild beasts. Its course from north to west is said to be two hundred and fifty leagues in length. It rises from a lake, and is said to form a second, at the distance of fifty leagues from the first. Turning to the left from the second lake we enter into Blue river, so called from its bottom which is an earth of that color; it discharges into St. Peter's. Going up the Moingona, we find great plenty of pit coal; one hundred and fifty leagues from its mouth there is a very large cape, which causes a turn in the river, where its waters are red and stinking. It is said that great quantities of mineral stones and some antimony have been found upon this cape.—Charlevoix, Kaskaskia, Oct. 20, 1721.
