GEORGE L. FINN was born at Middletown, New York, in 1846, and died in Los Angeles, California, January 20, 1929. His parents were William E. and E. J. Finn. When a boy he worked on his father's farm and attended common school. Later he attended Walkeley Academy, New York. He removed to Bedford, Iowa, in 1869 and in 1872 was graduated from the Law Department of the State University of Iowa, was admitted to the bar and began practice at Bedford. In 1885 he was elected representative and served in the Twenty-first General Assembly. He took a leading part in the election of Albert Head for speaker, was made chairman of the Committee on Railroads, and became at once an active legislator. In 1887 he was elected senator and was re-elected in 1891, serving as senator in the Twenty-second, Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth, and Twenty-fifth general assemblies. In the first two of these assemblies he was chairman of the Schools Committee and in the last, chairman of the Committee on Educational Institutions, as well as being president pro tem of the Senate. During all these years he was somewhat of a free lance, although he classified as a Republican, but soon after retiring from the Senate in 1895 he affiliated with the Democrats. For years, besides practicing law, Mr. Finn had dealt largely in land properties in Taylor County and in Kansas. In 1900 he removed to Los Angeles where he continued his operations in real estate and as a capitalist, and was successful in accumulating a large amount of property.
