THE DADA & SURREALIST WORD-IMAGE

Judi Freeman
with a contribution
by John C. Welchman

The incorporation of words, letters, and numbers in paintings became a significant preoccupation of such artists as Marcel Duchamp, Kurt Schwitters, René Magritte, and Joan Miró. The Dada & Surrealist Word-Image examines this fusing of words and images, its impact on traditional forms of art, and the issues it raises for today's modernist agenda.

MARCEL DUCHAMP

Artist of the Century
edited by Rudolf E. Kuenzli
and Francis M. Naumann

"These essays . . . constitute the most insightful and valuable work on Duchamp to date. The collective result is a state of the art analysis of what many have considered the most brilliant mind in 20th-century art."—Martica R. Sawin, Parsons School of Design

ON THE PASSAGE OF A FEW PEOPLE THROUGH A RATHER BRIEF MOMENT IN TIME

Greil Marcus, Tom Levin,
Mark Francis, Elisabeth
Sussman, Mirella Bandini, and Troels Anderson

These photographs, essays, drawings, and original texts document the rich agit-art legacy of the Situationist International, a group of European artists and writers who emerged from such avant-garde movements as COBRA, Lettrisme, the Imaginary Bauhaus, and from the breakup of surrealism, to launch a strategy of art as cultural critique.

OCTOBER

Art | Theory | Criticism | Politics

Joan Copjec, Rosalind Krauss and Annette Michelson, Editors

Published quarterly by The MIT Press

"OCTOBER is among the most advanced journals in the 1970s and 1980s in the fields of art theory, criticism, history, and practice. Its current editors. . . are intimately familiar with the cultural and political avant garde of Europe and the United States and are able to attract its best thinkers. . . Few, if any, could receive a higher recommendation."

-- CHOICE

OCTOBER presents the most significant texts by and about leading artists, scholars, and critics. While other journals address specific areas of inquiry, OCTOBER considers the interrelationships between the most relevant contemporary cultural practices in their social and political contexts. And, only OCTOBER situates contemporary culture in relation to the history of modernism.
