

SOME PUBLICATIONS

The New Regime 1765-1767 (Collections of the Illinois State Historical Library, Vol. XI, British Series, Vol. II). Edited with introduction and notes by CLARENCE WALWORTH ALVORD and CLARENCE EDWIN CARTER. Springfield: Illinois State Historical Library. 1916. Pp. xxviii, 700. Portraits, plates, map. The documents printed in this volume cover the period from February 28, 1765, to July 15, 1767, and deal with the policies and problems of the British in establishing their control over the Illinois country. For purposes of convenience the documents are divided into ten chapters, the contents of which are indicated by the titles: George Croghan's journals, occupation of Fort Chartres, the completion of the occupation, plans for a colony, conflicting plans, the rendezvous at the Illinois, the trade and colonial plans progress, a chapter of opinions, the value of the Illinois country, and discussion of the Indian trade. A comprehensive index offers ready access to the material in the volume.

Those who are acquainted with the high standard maintained in the previous volumes of the Collections need not be told that the editorial work performed on this volume by Professors Alvord and Carter is thorough and scholarly. No one interested in the history of British control in the West can afford to overlook this book containing letters and documents of vital importance which have hitherto been inaccessible to the average person.

Proceedings of the Mississippi Valley Historical Association for the Year 1914-15. Edited by MILO M. QUAIFFE. Cedar Rapids: The Torch Press. 1916. Pp. 361. This volume contains the papers read at the mid-winter meeting of the Association in Chicago in December, 1914, and at the annual meeting in New Orleans in April, 1915. The proceedings of the eighth annual meeting, the report of the secretary-treasurer, and the report of the committee on the establishment of departments of State history in State universities occupy about seventy-five pages at the front of the volume.

In the first paper William J. Trimble points out in an interesting manner the possibilities of The Agrarian History of the United States as a Subject for Research. A brief discussion of The Indian Policy of Bernardo de Galvez is presented by Elizabeth Howard West. The Attitude of the Newspapers of the United States towards Texan Independence is indicated by J. E. Winston. Under the heading The New Invasion of the Goths and Vandals Isaac Joslin Cox furnishes an entertaining narrative of the advance of American frontiersmen into the Mississippi Valley during the period of Spanish control. The paper which touches Iowa history most closely is one by George B. Merrick on Joseph Reynolds and the Diamond Jo Line of Steamers, 1862-1911. It would be difficult to estimate the importance of this steamboat line in the history of the cities along the eastern border of Iowa — especially Dubuque. A paper by William O. Scroggs presents a picture of Rural Life in the Lower Mississippi Valley about 1803. A majority of the remaining papers in the volume deal with various phases of the history of the South.

Grace Gardner Griffin's bibliography of Writings on American History, 1914, has appeared from the Yale University Press.

The George Banta Publishing Company of Menasha, Wisconsin, has brought out a volume of nearly three hundred pages by Dice Robins Anderson on William Branch Giles: A Study in the Politics of Virginia and the Nation from 1790 to 1830.

A two-volume biography of Leonidas Polk: Bishop and General, written by William M. Polk, has been published by Longmans, Green, and Company.

Among the monographs which have recently appeared in the Studies in History, Economics, and Public Law published by Columbia University are the following: State Regulation of Railroads in the South, by Maxwell Ferguson; Railway Monopoly and Rate Regulation, by Robert James McFall; and The Butter Industry in the United States, by Edward Wiest.

The Bureau of the Census at Washington has published a valuable study of The Federal Registration Service of the United States: Its Development, Problems, and Defects, by Cressy L. Wilbur.

The American Navy as a Line of Defence is the subject discussed by Fred T. Jane in the opening pages of The Military Historian and Economist for July. Charles J. Bullock discusses Adam Smith's Views upon National Defence. Carl R. Fish is the writer of an interesting description of The Raising of the Wisconsin Volunteers, 1861. There is the concluding chapter of Willey Howell's study of Lieutenant-General Grant's Campaign of 1864-65; and finally, A. L. Conger presents a statement of Moltke's Plans of Campaign.

Mabel Thacher Rosemary Washburn is the writer of an article on Washington's Old World Ancestry which appears in the opening pages of the April-June number of The Journal of American History. There is an address by Elihu Root on the question Should International Law be Codified? An interesting paper by Emilius O. Randall on The Mound Builders of Ohio is embellished with a large number of illustrations pertinent to that subject as well as to various phases of the early history of Ohio. Andrew M. Sherman writes on The Revolutionary Camping-Grounds of the Connecticut Brigades in Morris County, New Jersey, the Winter of 1779-80; and there is a short discussion of George Rogers Clark and his Little Army in the Enemy's Country, by Charles Gilmer Gray.

Preparedness and America's International Program is the central topic of discussion in The Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science for July. The various papers are grouped into three parts devoted to the basis of a durable peace and the safeguards against future international conflicts, the program for which the United States shall stand in international relations, and the effect of a large military and naval establishment on our domestic institutions and policy. New Possibilities in Education is the general subject of the September number. Points of emphasis in the curriculum and organization of the modern school, the continuing readjustment of the school curriculum and organization, and the extension of opportunities for adult education are the headings of the three parts.

Harold J. Laski discusses The Political Theory of the Disruption in the opening pages of The American Political Science Review for August. Charles H. Cunningham writes on the Origin of the Friar Lands Question in the Philippines. A paper entitled Presidential Special Agents in Diplomacy is the work of Henry Merritt Wriston. Other articles are: Problems of Percentages in Direct Government, by C. O. Gardner; Proper Safeguards for the Initiative and Referendum Petition, by W. A. Schnader; Recent Experience with the Initiative and Referendum, by Robert E. Cushman; and Safeguarding the Petition in the Initiative and the Referendum, by F. W. Coker. The Legislative Notes and Reviews, conducted by John A. Lapp, deal with legislative investigations, new administrative agencies, public health administration, codification, and reforms in legal systems.

Catharine C. Cleveland is the author of a doctoral dissertation on The Great Revival in the West, 1797-1805, which has been published by the University of Chicago and sells for one dollar, postage extra. A short introduction is written by Professor William E. Dodd. The first chapter describes the religious condition of the West prior to 1800. In chapter two, dealing with the revival leaders and their teachings and methods, mention is made of such frontier preachers as James McGready, John and William McGee, William Hodge, Barton W. Stone, John Rankin, Robert Marshall, William Burke, William McKendree, Louis and Elijah Craig, John Taylor, Ambrose Dudley, Moses Bledsoe, and William Hickman. The spread of the revival and its culmination, and the remarkable emotional phenomena of the revival are discussed in chapters three and four; while the fifth and concluding chapter deals with the results of the revival. Several appendices containing contemporary material concerning the revival, and a bibliography of sources complete the volume. Miss Cleveland has produced a scholarly piece of work written in a very readable style.

Charles Scribner's Sons have put out a volume entitled Presidential Nominations and Elections, by Joseph Bucklin Bishop. The origin of the nominating conventions, the first national conventions, the first "dark horse", Clay's bitterness in defeat, Webster's long and hopeless quest, Lincoln's two nominations and elections, the last Democratic convention before the Civil War, Blaine's fate, Cleveland's first nomination and campaign, Republican conventions between 1868 and 1908, the third-term convention, the two-thirds rule and its effects, the "steam roller" convention, the Progressive convention, the machinery of presidential elections, campaign methods and caricature, the genesis of American political caricature, cartoons of Lincoln's first campaign, weekly and daily journal cartoons, Washington's inaugurations, John Adams's gloomy entrance, the truth about Jeffersonian simplicity, inauguration clothes and customs, the Jackson invasion, the unique distinction of the Adams's, "Tippecanoe" and other inaugurations, Lincoln's first inauguration, and the results of national elections — these are the subjects discussed in the twenty-seven chapters of the book. Mr. Bishop's volume is popular rather than monographic in character and makes entertaining reading — while being at the same time a work of value to the student of political history. There are numerous illustrations which lend an added interest to the contents; and a satisfactory index is provided.

WESTERN AMERICANA

Journalism in California is the title of a large volume by John P. Young, which has been published by the Chronicle Publishing Company of San Francisco.

A discussion of The Torrens Land Transfer Act of Nebraska, by Thorne A. Browne, constitutes a recent number in the Nebraska History and Political Science Series published by the Nebraska Legislative Reference Bureau.

Besides the administrative report the Twenty-ninth Annual Report of the Bureau of American Ethnology contains a lengthy study of The Ethnogeography of the Tewa Indians, by John Peabody Harrington. In the Thirtieth Annual Report will be found two monographs, namely: Ethnobotany of the Zuni Indians, by Matilda Coxe Stevenson; and An Inquiry into the Animism and Folk-lore of the Guiana Indians, by Walter E. Roth. This volume also contains a list of publications of the Bureau of American Ethnology with an index to authors and titles.

Two monographs in the University of California Publications in American Archaeology and Ethnology published in June are the following: Miwok Moieties, by Edward Winslow Gifford; and Arapaho Dialects, by A. L. Kroeber.

The April-June number of The American Indian Magazine, published by the Society of American Indians, contains the following articles, among others: What is the Matter with our Indians?, by R. H. Pratt; The Indian Health Problem, by Charles A. Eastman; Settle Tribal Claims, by Thomas L. Sloan; A Winnebago Question and a Tale of a Winnebago Hero, by Louise Johnson Bear; and An Analysis of the Indian Bureau, by F. A. Cleveland. The editorials by Arthur C. Parker deal in a sane and logical manner with various problems connected with the status of the American Indians.

The Sense of the State, by George E. Vincent; and Literature and History, by John S. P. Tatlock, are two addresses which are printed in the July number of The University of California Chronicle.

Among the papers in The Commonwealth Review of the University of Oregon for April are the following: Economic Purposes and Possibilities in State Administration in Oregon, by F. G. Young; Oregon's Affairs Administered Through the Office of Secretary of State, by Ben W. Olcott; The Need for a Consistent General State Policy as to Public Utilities, by Clyde B. Aitchison; Evolution of the Principles of Employers' Liability and Workmen's Compensation, by William A. Marshall; and Some Essentials for Improvement of the Tax System of Oregon, by Charles V. Galloway.

Over fifty pages in the July number of Old Santa Fe are occupied with The Journal of John Greiner, with introduction and notes by Annie Heloise Abel. John Greiner as Indian agent in New Mexico in 1852 came into relations, not altogether pleasant, with Colonel Edwin V. Sumner, who at an earlier day was the commander of Fort Atkinson in northeastern Iowa. A Protestant Missionary Bishop: Rt. Rev. George Kelly Dunlop is the title of an article by Estelle Bennett Twitchel. In a paper on James Bridger: The Greatest Rocky Mountain Scout, A. J. Shotwell relates some personal recollections. Among the editorial notes is an extended biographical sketch of the late Felix Martinez.

IOWANA

Extension Division Bulletin No. 13 published by the State University of Iowa contains a paper on Employers' Welfare Work in Iowa, by Paul S. Peirce.

Two articles among those which appear in The American Freemason for August are: Is there a Political Possibility Consistent with Masonic Principles, by Joseph E. Morcombe; and John Arthur, Past Grand Master of Washington.

The Alumnus of Iowa State College for June consists of a directory of alumni and ex-students.

Besides continuations of biographical and autobiographical material in the July number of the Journal of History, published at Lamoni, Iowa, by the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, there is the first installment of the Autobiography of Levi Lamoni Wight.

The Hebrew and his Heritage, by Frank B. Almond; For Equal Suffrage, by Mrs. D. J. Krahl; and Against Equal Suffrage, by E. G. Hammond, are articles in Autumn Leaves for August.

Among the many papers in the Proceedings of the Iowa Academy of Science for 1915 is a brief sketch of the life of Dr. Charles Edwin Bessey, by L. H. Pammel; and an article on Early Iowa Locality Records, by Bohumil Shimek, which involves a discussion of the place names in western Iowa found in the journals of early explorers of the Missouri River.

Probable Results of Legal Regulation, by R. B. Howell; and First Proportional Representation Election, by A. R. Hatton, are two papers in the July number of American Municipalities. In the September number will be found the following articles: Experts in Valuation Cases, by Morris Llewellyn Cooke; Municipal Bond Issues, by Andrew Price; Advantages of Preferential Voting, by Lewis J. Johnson; and Tax Maps for Assessors, by Edward L. Heydecker.

Souvenir of the Diamond Jubilee of St. Mary's Church, Iowa City, Iowa, is the title of a volume of nearly two hundred pages containing a very creditable history of the church, written by Joseph Fuhrmann. Since Iowa City was one of the early towns of Iowa the histories of its various churches are important contributions to the religious history of the State.

The Department of Public Instruction has published and distributed an illustrated booklet of one hundred and sixty pages entitled Iowa Day for the Public Schools of the State, prepared by B. W. Hoadley. October 20th has been set apart for observance as "Iowa Day" in the schools. The booklet contains interesting information concerning the history, people, institutions, industries, products, resources, and scenic beauties of Iowa — the purpose being to give the children, and incidentally their parents, a knowledge of the State in which they live.

The papers read at the Waterloo meeting in November, 1915, are to be found in the Proceedings of the Seventeenth Iowa State Conference of Charities and Correction. Among the numerous papers are the following: Making Social Work Effective, by George B. Mangold; The Common Sense of City Progress, by Roger N. Baldwin; Personal Recollections of the Care of the Insane Thirty-four Years Ago, by Max E. Witte; The Iowa Parole System, its Advantages and Defects, by D. C. Mott; A Community Social Program for Iowa Towns, by Ada M. Palmer; The Beginnings of the Juvenile Court in Iowa, by Mrs. W. E. Holmes; and The State Free Employment Bureau, by A. L. Urick.

The Census of Iowa for the Year 1915, compiled and published under the direction of the Executive Council by A. U. Swan and Ora Williams, has been distributed. While it contains about one hundred and forty fewer pages than the volume for 1905, it is in many respects better adapted to ready use. The "Analysis and Comparisons" in part one are especially helpful to any one interested in the population, institutions, industries, and resources of Iowa. According to this enumeration the population of the State is 2,358,066, as compared with 2,224,771 in the federal census of 1910, and 2,210,050 in the State census of 1905. Public education is among the subjects receiving particular attention in this volume.

Joshua Wingate Weeks, 1778-1779*; and a paper on The Eastern Railroad: A Historical Account of Early Railroading in Eastern New England, by Francis B. C. Bradley, are among the contents of the Historical Collections of the Essex Institute for July.

Some Extracts from the Unpublished Reminiscences of H. R. Kincaid constitute the opening contribution in the June number of The Quarterly of the Oregon Historical Society. Fred Lockley is the writer of a short article on Some Documentary Records of Slavery in Oregon. Of special interest is the first installment of the Diary of Rev. Jason Lee. Finally, there is another section of the Correspondence of the Reverend Ezra Fisher.

A study of the Development of the City School System of Indiana — 1851–1880, by Harold Littell, is begun in the September number of the Indiana Magazine of History. Under the heading of The Pioneers of Jefferson County there are reminiscences of a number of early settlers. Terre Haute in 1850 is the subject of a paper by John J. Schicher. Finally, there is an address by Merrill Moores entitled Indiana in 1816, which was delivered at the Corydon pageant on June 2, 1916.

A continuation of the Journal of Rev. John Sharpe occupies the opening pages of The Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography for July. Under the heading of Letters of More than Local Interest will be found some letters of George Washington, Anthony Wayne, and others scattered over the period from 1779 to 1825. Other manuscript contributions are Selections from the Wallace Papers; the Report of Admiral Sir William Penn to the Naval Board, 1655; and a letter written in 1789 by Edward Hand setting forth the advantages of Lancaster, Penna., for Capital of the United States.

The second and last installment of Clara M. Love's study of The Cattle Industry of the Southwest appears in the opening pages of The Southwestern Historical Quarterly for July. Marion John Atwood is the writer of a monograph on The Sources of the Mexican Acta Constitutiva. A brief article on The German Settlers of Millheim Before the Civil War is contributed by Adalbert Regenbrecht. Two other articles are: The Author of the Texas Homestead Exemption Law, by A. E. Wilkinson; and The Last Expedition of Josiah Gregg, by Owen C. Coy. Finally, there is another installment of British Correspondence Concerning Texas, edited by Ephraim Douglass Adams.

Race Mixture in the Roman Empire is the subject of an article by Tenney Frank, which opens The American Historical Review for July. David Jayne Hill contributes A Missing Chapter of Franco-American History in which new light is thrown on the influence of American ideas on the French Revolution. Archer B. Hulbert is the writer of an interesting paper on Western Ship-building which indicates, among other things, the importance of a study of the records of the ports of entry on the inland waters of the country. The concluding article is one by C. C. Pearson on The Readjuster Movement in Virginia. The documents printed in this number consist of letters from the archives in Seville relative to The Commencement of the Cane Sugar Industry in America, 1519-1538 (1563), contributed by Irene A. Wright. The letters are all in Spanish.

A number of interesting papers are to be found in the Transactions of the Illinois Historical Society for the Year 1915. John W. Cook presents a sketch of the Life and Labors of Hon. Adlai Ewing Stevenson. Miss Lotte E. Jones relates A Group of Stories of the American Indians. In some Reminiscences of Yellow Banks, by James W. Gordon, there is considerable data concerning S. S. Phelps and his brother William, both of whom spent several years as traders among the Sac and Fox Indians in the Iowa country. Other papers are Jesse W. Fell, by Frances Morehouse; The Story of the Banker-Farmer Movement Originating with the Illinois Bankers' Association, by B. F. Harris; Indian Treaties Affecting Lands in the Present State of Illinois, by Frank R. Grover; and General James Shields of Illinois, by Francis O'Shaughnessy. There are also several entertaining papers dealing with the history of Quincy, Illinois.

W. D. Lyman presents Some Observations upon the Negative Testimony and the General Spirit and Methods of Bourne and Marshall in Dealing with the Whitman Question in the April number of The Washington Historical Quarterly. His criticisms apply chiefly to Marshall's work. Another interesting article in this number is one by Edmond S. Meany on the First American Settlement on Puget Sound. John V. Campbell relates some interesting personal experiences under the heading of The Sinclair Party — An Emigration Overland Along the Old Hudson Bay Company Route from Manitoba to the Spokane Country in 1854 in the July number. The material in the article was prepared for publication by William S. Lewis from letters written by Mr. Campbell. Alaska under the Russians — Baranof the Builder is the title of an article by C. L. Andrews. An entertaining paper on Fort Hall on the Saptin River is written by Miles Cannon. The concluding article is one on Mining in Alaska Before 1867, by F. A. Golder. Under the heading of "Documents" appears the first installment of the Diary of Colonel and Mrs. I. N. Ebey, with introduction and notes by Victor J. Farrar.

Volume thirteen of the Collections of the Kansas State Historical Society, recently distributed, is a book of six hundred pages. The opening paper is a biographical sketch of the late George Washington Martin, by Perl Wilbur Morgan. Next come several articles by Charles S. Gleed and others, on the career of Eugene Fitch Ware, whose boyhood and youth were spent in Iowa and who served in Iowa regiments during the Civil War. Edward E. Wynkoop contributes a short outline of the life of his father, Edward Wanshear Wynkoop, who was well known in the West during the Civil War period as a soldier and Indian agent. In an article on The Supreme Court of the State of Kansas, by Edwin A. Austin, will be found some data concerning Daniel M. Valentine, who was successively county surveyor and county attorney of Adair County, Iowa, during the fifties. One hundred and twenty-five pages are occupied with original source material relative to The Topeka Movement. Of special interest to students of Iowa history is William E. Connelley's paper on The Lane Trail followed by free-state emigrants, which passed through Springdale, Iowa City, Sigourney, Oska-loosa, Knoxville, Indianola, Osceola, Quincy, Sidney, and other towns in this State. Other articles of general interest are: National Aspects of the Old Oregon Trail, by William E. Connelley; and What I Saw of the Quantrill Raid, by Albert R. Greene.

ACTIVITIES

At its meeting on September 6th the Jefferson County Historical Society paid a fitting tribute to the memory of its first president, the late Hon. I. D. Jones.

Among the recent manuscript accessions of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin are about twenty bound volumes of the correspondence of the law firm of Washburn & Woodman, which throw much light on the business ventures of Cadwallader C. Washburn.

The tenth annual meeting of the Ohio Valley Historical Association was held at Indianapolis on October 4 and 5, 1916, in connection with the Indiana State Centennial Celebration.

The following officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Historical Society of Marshall County on September 8th: Mrs. H. J. Howe, president; C. F. Schmidt, vice president; Miss Minnie Russell, secretary; Mrs. C. C. Trine, treasurer; and Mrs. Emma Weatherly, curator. Mrs. May Montgomery was appointed chairman of a committee to investigate the question of marking historic sites in Marshall County.

The Page County Historical Society has begun the collection and publication of reminiscences of early settlers and other data relative to the history of the county. In The Clarinda Journal for August 3rd and 31st there appeared two articles written for the Society by Miss Mabel H. Kenea. The first is an interview with Ruel C. Miller who came to Page County in 1854; and the second deals with early Clarinda fairs.

The Allamakee County Historical and Archaeological Society has recently come into possession of an enlarged photograph of David Lowry who was first a missionary and later the sub-agent for the Winnebago Indians in northeastern Iowa in the early days. The photograph was presented by Mr. Ellison Orr. At the meeting of the Society on August 9th provision was made whereby the secretary may loan the books and historical material of the Society to clubs and other organizations under certain conditions.

On Saturday, September 23rd, a conference of the Superintendents of historical societies in the Upper Mississippi Valley was held in Chicago, for the purpose of discussing the work of calendaring material in the archives at Washington, D. C., in which these societies are cooperating. Dr. Benj. F. Shambaugh was chosen chairman of the conference and Dr. Solon J. Buck, secretary; while the work is being directed by Dr. Milo M. Quaife. The work in the archives of the State Department has practically been completed, and each of the societies participating in the plan has been furnished with a card-index calendar. It is probable that Dr. N. D. Mereness, who is conducting the work at Washington, will next prepare a similar calendar of the material in the archives of the Department of the Interior relating to the States of Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, and Minnesota.

THE STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETY OF IOWA

The research work conducted by the Society during the past summer has centered about the preparation of a large volume on Statute Law Making in Iowa which will be published this winter as volume three of the Iowa Applied History Series.

Dr. Daniel Sickler of Ogden, Iowa, a member of the Society, has a fine collection of Indian relics which he has housed in a small building erected for museum purposes.

Through the generosity of Mrs. N. W. Lyon of Garden Grove the Society has been permitted to make a copy of the extensive autobiography of her father, William J. Rodgers, which contains much interesting and valuable material concerning pioneer life in Iowa.

Dr. Fred E. Haynes's history of Third Party Movements Since the Civil War with Special Reference to Iowa — a volume of nearly six hundred pages — has been distributed to the members of the Society and to the official depositories.

In the July number of the JOURNAL there appeared a notice of the presentation to the State University of Iowa of a fine oil portrait of Theodore Sutton Parvin. Owing to the fact that Mr. Parvin was for many years the Secretary of The State Historical Society of Iowa, the portrait has recently been hung in the research room of the Society, where it is in fireproof quarters.

Professor Archer B. Hulbert of Marietta College delivered an address at the State University of Iowa on July 17th on the subject

"The Allegheny Barrier". He also spoke at a conference-seminar held in the rooms of The State Historical Society of Iowa, at which time his remarks related to western shipbuilding and the records of the inland ports of entry.

Dr. Irving King, a member of the Society, is the writer of an article on Social Training Through School Group Activities which appears in the September number of The Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science. Dr. King is Assistant Professor of Education in the State University of Iowa.

The following persons have recently been elected to membership in the Society: Miss Norma Edelstein, Iowa City, Iowa; Miss May E. Francis, Waverly, Iowa; Mr. Geo. A. Jewett, Des Moines, Iowa; Mr. S. W. Johnson, Oelwein, Iowa; Mr. S. C. Jones, Iowa City, Iowa; President W. A. Jessup, Iowa City, Iowa; and Mr. Frank Sturdevant, Waverly, Iowa. Mr. J. W. Rich of Iowa City, Iowa, has been elected to life membership in the Society.

NOTES AND COMMENT

The sixth annual conference of the Society of American Indians was held at Cedar Rapids under the auspices of Coe College from September 26 to October 1, 1916.

The nineteenth annual meeting of the League of Iowa Municipalities was held at Dubuque, September 19-21, 1916.

On July 16, 1916, occurred the death of Mr. J. A. McKlveen of Chariton who was a member of the Thirty-second General Assembly of Iowa and for several years a member of the State Board of Health.

The finding of a large buffalo skull near Des Moines recently should offer evidence to disprove the statement occasionally made that there were no buffaloes in Iowa.

Mr. W. H. Robb of Creston died on September 19, 1916. He was a member of the Twenty-first and Twenty-second General Assemblies of Iowa, and was a leader in the Greenback and Populist parties in this State.

The first annual meeting of the Iowa Association of Economists and Sociologists was held at the State University of Iowa on October 6 and 7, 1916.

August 29th was the fiftieth anniversary of the arrival of the first railroad train at Des Moines. It is difficult to realize that it was not until after the close of the Civil War that the capital city of Iowa secured railroad connections.

Between three and four thousand people attended the old settlers reunion of Jasper County at Monroe on September 7th. A number of those present settled in that region in the days when Tool's Point was the principal settlement in that county.

Mrs. Henry Chambers of Louisville, Kentucky, died recently at Atlantic City. Her husband was a son of John Chambers, the second Governor of the Territory of Iowa; and it was by her that access was given to valuable letters and papers when a biography of Governor Chambers was being prepared for publication by The State Historical Society of Iowa.

The library of the University of Texas is making an effort to collect material relative to the history of the South. A fund for this purpose was established two years ago by Major George W. Littlefield of Austin — a fund which has recently been augmented by a generous additional contribution from the same source.

According to newspaper accounts plans are under way for the celebration some time this fall of the centennial of the establishment of Fort Crawford at Prairie du Chien. Various towns in northeastern Iowa are interested in the plans which include an elaborate historical pageant.

On August 29th, under the auspices of the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, there was formally dedicated at Spirit Lake a boulder and bronze tablet marking the site of the stockade and old courthouse where the people of Dickinson County were sheltered during the Indian uprising of 1861-1862. The principal address was delivered by Mr. Harvey Ingham of Des Moines.

On July 6, 1916, occurred the death of Mrs. Euclid Sanders of Iowa City, wife of the president of The State Historical Society of Iowa. Mrs. Sanders was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terrell, who were among the earliest settlers of Johnson County. She graduated from the liberal arts and law departments of the State University of Iowa in 1874 and 1877, respectively. Her public benefactions include the water power privileges represented in the old Terrell dam which she transferred to the State University, and the city park which she virtually donated to Iowa City.
