

SOME PUBLICATIONS

A Son of the Middle Border. By HAMLIN GARLAND. New York: The Macmillan Company. 1917. Pp. 467. This volume of autobiography presents a vivid picture of pioneer life in Iowa during the period following the Civil War. The sacrifice of the soldier and his family, the hardships of the frontier, the economic problems of the settlers, and the mingled romance and tragedy of the transition from one generation to another are all portrayed in the story of the writer and his family.

The glimpse of the Civil War and the dissatisfaction among the farmers of the northwest seem strangely familiar to-day. Although the book has been criticized because of some allusions to the flag and to the futility of sacrifice for a sentiment, the story, for the most part, is typical of American life and is well worth reading both for its historical interest and its literary style.

Our Debt to the Red Man. By LOUISE SEYMOUR HOUGHTON. Boston: The Stratford Company. 1918. Pp. 210. Plates. This volume, describing the contributions of the French-Indian half-breeds to the development of the United States, is an attempt to correct the prevailing conception that the mixed-blood Indian inherits the undesirable characteristics of both races. In the eighteen chapters of which the book consists the author discusses the work of the French-Indians as mediators on the frontier, their part in the explorations, trade, and settlement of the west, their position in the industrial and intellectual life of the country, and their relation to the Indian problem of to-day and to the World War.

Students of Iowa history will find much of interest in this volume, for many of the characters described are taken from the Middle West. Among these are men like Antoine Le Claire, Joseph Rolette, and Nicholas Boilvin, who were closely associated with the exploration and settlement of the Iowa country.

Although reference is frequently made to tribes west of the Mississippi River, it is apparent that the author has based her estimate of Indian character chiefly on observations of the eastern tribes, since her statements concerning the treatment of white women by their Indian captors are not supported by the records of captivity among the plains Indians. The chapters on the present status of the Indians are of especial interest. It is to be regretted that the volume lacks both index and specific notes.

The July number of the Proceedings of the Academy of Political Science in the City of New York contains the addresses and papers presented at the National Conference on War Economy held at New York City, in July, 1918. The subjects discussed are executive leadership, budgets, State and municipal debts, and the government as an employer. Among the papers is one on Executive Responsibility for War Economy, by Frank O. Lowden.

Because of the uncertain conditions resulting from the war, The Military Historian and Economist and The Journal of the United States Cavalry Association have suspended publication for the period of the war.

Bulletin sixty-one of the Bureau of American Ethnology is a volume on Teton Sioux Music by Frances Densmore. Recent Discoveries Attributed to Early Man in America, a monograph by Ales Hrdlicka, is published as bulletin sixty-six of the same series.

The August number of the Journal of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology contains an article on Modern Penal Methods in Our Army, by John H. Wigmore, and a paper on the Report of the New Jersey Prison Inquiry Commission, by George W. Kirchwey.

Walks and Talks About Historic Boston, compiled and edited by Albert W. Mann, is an attractive volume recently issued by the Mann Publishing Company. It contains a large amount of information concerning the men, places, and events which have been a part of the life and history of Boston.

The Quarterly Journal of Economics for August contains the following papers: International Tariff Relations as Affected by the War, by W. S. Culbertson; Sugar Prices and Distribution Under Food Control, by Roy G. Blakey; Price-fixing in the Iron and Steel Industry, by Abraham Berglund; Perishable Produce Under Food Regulation, by W. F. Gephart; and The Distributive Relations of Indirect Goods, by H. J. Davenport.

Among the articles in the National Municipal Review for July are the following: Kalamazoo Tries Proportional Representation, by Augustus R. Hatton; Selling Good City Government, by Leroy E. Snyder; Removals of Civil Service Employees, by William D. Foulke; The Financial Condition of Ohio Cities, by Don C. Sowers; The Non-Partisan League, by A. B. Gilbert; The Kansas General Manager System, by Harold T. Chase; and Public Health and Private Investigations, by Carl E. McCombs.

One of the striking features of American economic life during the past few years has been the movement of the negroes toward the north and west. Consequently the volume by Carter G. Woodson on A Century of Negro Migration, which was recently published by the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History, will be found both instructive and interesting. The book contains several maps, a bibliography, and an index, in addition to the nine chapters of subject matter.

The Americans in Europe, by Admiral Degouy; Woman Labor in Italian Munition Factories, by Roberto Michels; The Azores, by B. H. Richard; and chapter three of Pope's Campaign in Virginia, by R. M. Johnston, are the articles in the July number of The Mili- tary Historian and Economist. There is also a continuation of the memorandum issued by the German General Staff on the Railroad Concentration for the Franco-Prussian War of 1870-71.

How the Road and Bridge Work of Iowa is Organized and Managed, by F. R. White, is one of the articles in The American City (county and town edition) for July which will be of special interest to Iowans. There is also a brief discussion of The Care of Public Records, by James Sullivan, which emphasizes the importance of the preservation of State and local public archives.

The New United States, by Albert Bushnell Hart; American and Briton, by John Galsworthy; Reims Cathedral, by Ralph Adams Cram; Japan's Difficult Position, by K. K. Kawakami; Fallacies of War Finance, by C. Reinold Noyes; The Revolution in Farming, by E. G. Nourse; Tanks, by Henry Seidel Canby; and The War Novels, by Katherine Fullerton Gerould, are among the articles of timely interest in the October number of The Yale Review.

James Miller Leake is the author of an article on The Conflict over Coördination which is given first place in the August number of The American Political Science Review. A paper by C. D. Allin deals with Federal Aspects of Preferential Trade in the British Empire, and C. O. Sauer discusses Geography and the Gerrymander. There is a continuation of Thomas Reed Powell's Decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States on Constitutional Questions, 1914-1917. Other articles are Judicial Decisions on Public Law, including War Problems, by Robert E. Cushman, and State Administration, by J. M. Mathews. The Legislative Notes and Reviews deal with moratory and military absent voting laws and include a brief history of woman suffrage in foreign countries written by P. Orman Ray. News and Notes are compiled by Frederic A. Ogg.

The August number of the American Federationist deals largely with the labor problems of Mexico and South America while the September issue is devoted to brief discussions of the part of labor in the present war. Among the contributors to this number are Newton D. Baker, Charles M. Schwab, Edward N. Hurley, William B. Wilson, George Creel, and Harry Garfield.

The June number of The Geographical Review contains, among others, an article on The Belcher Islands of Hudson Bay: Their Discovery and Exploration, by Robert J. Flaherty, and a discussion of The Zones of Civilization of the Balkan Peninsula, by Jovan Cvijic. Among other articles in the July issue are the following: The Balkans, Macedonia, and the War, by H. Charles Woods; and The Peoples of Austria, by B. C. Wallis. In the August number Lucien Gallois has an article on Alsace-Lorraine and Europe; William Thompson writes of Portugal: The Country and The People; and B. C. Wallis discusses The Rumanians in Hungary.

Mobilizing America's Resources for the War is the topic of discussion in the July number of The Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science. The volume is subdivided into six parts dealing with the following aspects of war activities: mobilizing the population for winning the war; national health as a factor in national efficiency; labor efficiency in winning the war; the making of a war budget; the food problem; and the mobilization of the public mind. The September number is devoted to War Relief Work and the articles are grouped as follows: foreword; war relief work in Europe and Canada; the United States bureau of war risk insurance; civilian relief work of the national Red Cross; the commission on training camp activities; religious organizations in war relief work; the council of national defense; the war relief of other social welfare organizations; and financing war relief.

WESTERN AMERICANA

The chief article in the June number of The Wisconsin Archeologist is Marinette County, by George R. Fox and H. O. Younger. John W. Oliver presents a brief survey of Wisconsin's War History Commission.

The September number of The Road-Maker contains an unsigned article on the Liberty Highway—Newest War Road. Among the other contributions there is a discussion on What a Live Road Association Can Do, by J. Frank Smith, and an article on Modern Machinery in County Road Construction, by C. B. Scott.

Reconstruction in Louisiana after 1868, by Ella Lonn, is an attractive volume dealing with the political and economic problems which arose in Louisiana at the close of the Civil War. In addition to the twenty-one chapters of subject matter, there is a bibliography and a satisfactory index. The author is a member of the faculty of Grinnell College.

Volume fifteen of The Lakeside Classics consists of the reprinted narrative of The Indian Captivity of O. M. Spencer, edited by Milo M. Quaife. Like all the numbers of this series the volume is attractively printed and bound and is furnished with an index.

The Graduate Magazine of the University of Kansas, in the June number, contains a survey of the war activities of the University up to that time. A complete list of the students and members of the faculty in the service of the United States is the chief feature of the record.

Economy — A Unique Community, by Mrs. Agnes M. Hays Gormly, and Fragments of University of Pittsburgh Alumni History, by George M. P. Baird, are among the contributions to the July number of the Western Pennsylvania Historical Magazine. There are also included in this number a reprint of a description of Father Theobald Mathew in the United States; and a Letter from William Henry Harrison to Harmar Denny, of Pittsburgh, Accepting the Nomination to the Office of President of the United States, 1838.

An address on German Idealism and its War Critics, by C. I. Lewis; a discussion of Recent War Legislation, by Stuart Daggett; a paper on University Organization and Training, by Andrew C. Lawson; an account of The Military Bureau of the University of California, by Leon J. Richardson; and a Commencement Address, 1917, by Benjamin Ide Wheeler, are some of the articles to be found in the January number of The University of California Chronicle. The April number contains, among others, the following articles: Canada at War, by Thomas Forsyth Hunt; Austria-Hungary: Its Peoples and Government, by Ludwik Ehrlich; and The Universities in War Time, by Ralph Barton Perry.

IOWANA

The April issue of the Bulletin of State Institutions contains a paper by H. O. Pratt on Patriotism Now and in the Sixties.

The July number of the Iowa State Highway Commission Service Bulletin contains an account of the damage to roads and bridges throughout Iowa due to the June floods. There is also a summary of the Federal road aid projects in Iowa for the first year.

The war activities of Grinnell College is the subject discussed in the April-May number of The Grinnell Review. In the June-July issue there is to be found a list of the faculty members and students who have gone into military or auxiliary war service and this list is continued in the number for October.

In the July number of Autumn Leaves there is, among others, a brief article on Indian Relics in Iowa, by C. L. Crow, and a continuation of Elbert A. Smith's Timbers for the Temple which is completed in the August number. The September issue contains part one of Gospel Experiences, by Lee Quick.

A sketch of the life of Dr. Lawrence William Littig, who died at Iowa City, Iowa, July 17, 1918, is to be found in The Journal of the Iowa State Medical Society for August 15th. There is also included in this number a list of Iowa Medical Men in the War.

The Northwestern Banker for July contains a number of papers on economic problems relating to the present crisis. Among these are War Financing Measures Morale, by M. A. Traylor; A Banker's View of Railroad Control, by Halleck W. Seaman; Our World Commerce After the War, by Edward N. Hurley; and The Menace of the Hour, by John A. Cavanagh.

Charles Henry Morrill has recently published a volume of reminiscences, entitled The Morrills and Reminiscences, which will be of interest to Iowans because of the numerous references to men and events connected with the history of this State and because the writer was a resident of Iowa from 1866 until 1873. There is much pioneer history to be found in the volume, especially relating to Nebraska, but there are some items concerning the Des Moines River lands and farming conditions in Iowa following the Civil War.

Restricted Zones Enhance Property Values, by Roscoe E. Sawistowsky; and an unsigned article on American Military Roads are two of the articles in the July number of American Municipalities. In the August issue there is a discussion of Municipal Tax Levies in Iowa, and a paper entitled Kalamazoo Tries Proportional Representation, by Augustus R. Hatton. Two articles in the September number are of special interest, namely: The Marshall County Plan by Frank G. Pierce, which is an account of a plan of organization of war activities, and Rates for Gas Service, by J. F. Ford.

The Proceedings of the Twenty-fourth Annual Session of the Iowa State Bar Association, edited by H. C. Horack, contains the following papers and addresses: The American Bar Association, by Thomas J. Bray; Civil and Military Courts, by Percy Bordwell; The Soul of the World, by James B. Weaver; The War and Ideals, by Nathaniel T. Guernsey; Recruiting, by Emmet Tinley; Allegiance to the Constitution, by Charles W. Mullan; The Language Proclamation, by William L. Harding; and The Disloyalty of Socialism, by Rome G. Brown. The volume includes short biographical sketches of the lives of the following members of the Iowa bar who died within the preceding year: James S. Barr, A. L. Bartholomew, R. H. Belknap, Anson D. Bicknell, Theoderick F. Bradford, James L. Carney, A. D. Collier, George W. Crooks, James H. Crosby, Frank Farrell, Isaac N. Flickinger, William E. Fuller, John C. Gates, Warren Harman, Thomas G. Among the large number of addresses, papers, and letters printed in volume fifty of the Massachusetts Historical Society Proceedings, the following may be noted as of general interest: Recent Departure of the American Mission from Berlin, by Grafton Winthrop Minot; "The Whig Party" in Massachusetts, by James Schouler; Polk and California, by Justin H. Smith; and The Marine Hospitals of New England in 1817, by William Roscoe Thayer.

The Virginia Historical Magazine for July contains a list of the Virginians who had died in military service up to that time, an installment of the Minutes of the Council and General Court, 1622-1629, and a continuation of the Jones Papers.

The eleventh installment of Chapters in the History of Halifax, Nova Scotia, by Arthur Wentworth Hamilton Eaton, is one of the papers in the July issue of Americana. The article on De Soto's Route in Arkansas, by Ada Mixon, is of especial interest to Mississippi Valley readers. There is also a paper by Thomas Williams Bicknell on Rhode Island: Boston the Preparatory School for Aquidneck.

Oriental Imperialism, by Albert T. Olmstead; Greek Imperialism, by William S. Ferguson; Roman Imperialism, by George W. Botsford; The Early Spanish Colonial Exchequer, by Charles H. Haring; and Interpretations of Recent Economic Progress in Germany, by Abbott P. Usher, are the articles which appear in the July number of The American Historical Review.

Volume seventy-two of the Massachusetts Historical Society Collections is devoted to the publication of the Warren-Adams Letters, 1743-1777, edited by Worthington C. Ford. The seventy-fourth volume in this series contains a similar collection of letters under the title Jasper Mauduit, 1762-1765, taken from the Charles Grenfill Washburn collection.

A History of the University of Buffalo, by Julian Park; Roswell Park: A Memoir, by Charles G. Stockton; The Woman's Educational and Industrial Union of Buffalo, by Mrs. Frederick J. Shepard; Historical Sketch of Niagara Ship Canal Projects, by Henry W. Hill; Evolution of the New York Canal System, by George Clinton; and Our Tuscarora Neighbors, by Frank H. Severance, are some of the contributions to volume twenty-two of the Buffalo Historical Society Publications.

Volume twenty-five of the Wisconsin Historical Collections contains a large number of the letters of Edwin Bottomley edited by Milo M. Quaife under the title of An English Settler in Pioneer Wisconsin. These letters cover the period from 1842 to 1850, and furnish much interesting information concerning pioneer life during that time.

Archer Butler Hulbert is the editor of a volume on Ohio in the Time of the Confederation, which appears as volume three of the Marietta College Historical Collections. The book contains an introduction by the editor and three parts as follows: The Antecedents of the Ordinance of 1784; Ohio in the Papers of the Continental Congress; and the Journal of John Matthews.

A brief biography of Stephen F. Austin, by Eugene C. Barker; a discussion of Acapulco and the Manila Galleon, by William Lytle Schurz; Reminiscences of the Terry Rangers, by J. K. P. Blackburn; and a continuation of the Minutes of the Ayuntamiento of San Felipe de Austin, 1828-1832, are the contributions to the July number of The Southwestern Historical Quarterly.

The Missouri Historical Review for July contains the following articles and papers: The National Railroad Convention in St. Louis, 1849, by R. S. Cotterdill; The Missouri Soldier One Hundred Years Ago, by William R. Gentry; Missourians Abroad, E. H. Crowder, by E. M. Violette; Missouri and the War, by Floyd C. Shoemaker; and a continuation of the translation of Gottfried Duden's "Report", 1824-1827, by William G. Bek.

Edward S. Delaplaine is the author of a sketch entitled Chief Justice Roger B. Taney: His Career at the Frederick Bar, which appears in the June issue of the Maryland Historical Magazine. Other contributions are the Taney Letters; some Extracts from the Carroll Papers; an article on The Washington Monument and Squares, by McHenry Howard; and the Hon. Daniel Dulany, the Younger (1722-1797), by Richard Henry Spencer.

Among the articles which appear in the July issue of the Michigan History Magazine are the following: What Can a Historical Society Do Now?, by Augustus C. Carton; France in the Great War, by R. Clyde Ford; Indian Place Names in the Upper Peninsula and Their Interpretation, by William Gagnieur; History of Schools in Portage Township in the Copper Country, by Florence E. Paton; and County Organization in Michigan, by William H. Hathaway.

Student Life at Yale College Under the First President Dwight (1795-1817), by Franklin B. Dexter; Will Democracy Alone Make the World Safe: A Study of the History of the Foreign Relations of Democratic States, by George H. Blakeslee; and a Bibliography of American Newspapers, 1690-1820, compiled by Clarence S. Brigham, are three of the papers published in the October, 1917, number of the Proceedings of the American Antiquarian Society.

A timely and interesting monograph on Secret Political Societies in the North During the War, by Mayor Fesler, occupies the entire issue of the Indiana Magazine of History for September. Among the subjects discussed are the "Knights of the Golden Circle", the "Sons of Liberty", and the "Northwest Confederacy".

The Historical Collections of the Essex Institute for July contains an extended article by Francis B. C. Bradlee on The Boston and Lowell Railroad, The Nashua and Lowell Railroad, and The Salem and Lowell Railroad. In addition to this contribution there is a paper on the Center of Salem Village in 1700, by Sidney Perley; and a continuation of the narrative A Genealogical-Historical Visitation of Andover, Mass., in the Year 1863, by Alfred Poore.

The Louisiana Historical Quarterly for January, issued as the Bienville number, contains much information concerning the bicentennial of the founding of New Orleans and the life and work of Jean Baptiste Le Moyne de Bienville. A paper entitled Notes on the Life and Services of Bienville, by Grace King; New Orleans Under Bienville, by Heloise Hulse Cruzat; Contest for Ecclesiastical Supremacy in the Valley of the Mississippi, 1763-1803, by Clarence Wyatt Bispham; and Early Episodes in Louisiana His- tory, by William Kernan Dart, are among the contributions. There is also an address delivered at New Orleans by T. P. Thompson and a reprint of the Bi-centennial Celebration in Paris of the Founding of New Orleans.

The fourth volume of the Journal of the National Institute of Social Sciences deals entirely with the general theme of reconstruction after the war. Among the numerous papers printed in this number the following may be noted: On the General Principles of a Policy of Reconstruction, by Thorstein Veblen; Financial Reconstruction after the War, by George E. Roberts; Problems of Immigration and the Foreign Born After the War, by Henry Pratt Fairchild; and Notes on the I. W. W. in Arizona and the Northwest, by Robert W. Bruère.

Volume two of the Centenary Series of the Publications of the Mississippi Historical Society contains a number of monographs, among which are War and Reconstruction in Mississippi, 1863-1890, by J. S. McNeily; Did De Soto Discover the Mississippi River in Tunica County, Miss.?, by Dunbar Rowland; De Soto at Chickasaw Bluffs, by J. P. Young; The Noxubee Squadron of the First Mississippi Cavalry, C. S. A., 1861-1865, by J. G. Deupree; and A Second Chapter Concerning the Discovery of the Mississippi River by De Soto, in Tunica County, Miss., by Dunbar Rowland.

Contemporary Vandalism, by Jenkin Lloyd Jones, a plea for the preservation of historical places and materials, is one of the addresses published in volume twenty-three of the Publications of the Illinois State Historical Library. The Movement of the Population of Illinois, 1870-1910, by Ernest L. Bogart; Illinois and the Underground Railroad to Canada, by Verna Cooley; A Celebrated Illinois Case that made History, by Stephen A. Day; Thomas Beard, the Pioneer and Founder of Beardstown, Illinois, by P. C. Croll; Lincoln and the Presidential Election of 1864, by Arthur C. Cole; and The Agricultural Resources of Southern Illinois, by John Reynolds, are among the papers printed in this volume.

ACTIVITIES

The thirteenth annual meeting of the Hawk-Eye Natives was held at Burlington on September 8, 1918. Senator Frank E. Thompson gave the principal address.

The thirty-fourth annual reunion of the Old Settlers' Association of Madison and Warren counties was held at St. Charles, on August 15th, Hon. W. H. Berry being the principal speaker. The following officers were elected for 1919: A. W. Johnson, president; Peter Attig, vice president for Madison County; J. L. Knott, vice president for Warren County; E. K. Anderson, secretary; W. A. Tris, treasurer; J. G. Vanatta, chaplain.

George Philpot was elected president of the Black Hawk County Old Settlers' Association at its annual meeting at Waterloo on September 7, 1918. J. J. White was named vice president; J. C. Hartman, secretary; and Roger Leavitt, treasurer.

The Old Settlers' Association of Madison County held its annual reunion at Winterset on September 4, 1918. Governor William L. Harding was the principal speaker. W. W. Gentry was chosen president; W. S. Cooper, secretary; and H. C. Husted, treasurer.

The Old Settlers' Association of Harrison County held its thirty-fourth annual meeting at Magnolia on August 22, 1918. The following officers were elected: N. S. Lawrence, president; A. M. Fyrando, secretary; H. N. Frazier, treasurer; F. H. Hanson, Thomas Chatburn, W. B. Gilkerson, W. F. Maaske, and W. A. Donn, executive committee.

The Jefferson County Historical Society holds its regular meeting at the Fairfield Public Library on September 4, 1918. A resolution asking that the name of the "Skunk" River be changed to "Haleyon" was adopted for presentation to the next General Assembly.

A paper read at the meeting of the Van Buren County Old Settlers' Association at Keosauqua on August 21, 1918, contains sketches of the lives of the pioneers who had died since the last meeting.

THE STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETY OF IOWA

A biography of General James Baird Weaver, written by Dr. F. E. Haynes, is soon to be issued by the Society.

A collection of the war proclamations issued by Governor William L. Harding between April 6, 1917, and July 1, 1918, under the title Iowa War Proclamations constitutes the July number of the Iowa and War series. An Iowa Flag, by Ruth A. Gallaher; and The First Three Liberty Loans in Iowa, by Nathaniel R. Whitney, are the numbers for August and September, respectively.

At the October meeting of the Board of Curators the use of the research rooms of the Society was extended to the instructional staff of the government course on the Issues of the War, which is given under the direction of the State University of Iowa.

The Governor has appointed the following persons as Curators of the Society for the period from June, 1918, to June, 1920: Mr. A. F. Allen, Sioux City, Iowa; Mr. Marsh W. Bailey, Washington, Iowa; Mr. J. P. Cruikshank, Fort Madison, Iowa; Mr. Chas. J. Fulton, Fairfield, Iowa; Mr. J. J. McConnell, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Mr. John T. Moffit, Tipton, Iowa; Mr. Byron W. Newberry, Strawberry Point, Iowa; Mr. Chas. E. Pickett, Waterloo, Iowa; and Mr. J. B. Weaver, Des Moines, Iowa.

Dr. Dan E. Clark, who has been connected with the staff of the Society for thirteen years, left his position as Associate Editor in July to take up Red Cross work. He has recently been transferred from Camp Dodge, where he was assistant field director, to Seattle, where he will be in charge of the home service department of the Red Cross at one of the army camps.

During the summer months researches have been in progress, under the direction of the Society, along the following lines: social work at Camp Dodge, by F. E. Haynes; the history of Liberty Loan campaigns in Iowa, by N. R. Whitney; the history of civic instruction and training for citizenship in Iowa, by C. R. Aurner; the rights, duties, and obligations of citizenship in Iowa, by J. Van der Zee; and the history of Camp Dodge, by Thomas Teakle.

A volume on The Spirit Lake Massacre, by Thomas Teakle, has been published and is now ready for distribution.

At the August meeting the Board of Curators of the Society elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Mr. Euclid Sanders, president; and Mr. Paul A. Korab, treasurer.

The following persons have recently been elected to membership in the Society: Mr. Chas. D. Kirkpatrick, Keota, Iowa; Mr. James L. Records, Iowa City, Iowa; Mrs. Alice Hill Waterman, Ottumwa, Iowa; Mr. Frank Wisdom, Bedford, Iowa; Mr. W. J. Allen, Laurens, Iowa; and Mr. T. Henry Foster, Ottumwa, Iowa. The following persons have been enrolled as life members of the Society: Mr. Luther A. Brewer, Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Mr. J. D. Edmundson, Des Moines, Iowa; Mr. T. J. Fitzpatrick, Bethany, Nebraska; Mr. Phil Hoffman, Oskaloosa, Iowa; Hon. Frank O. Lowden, Oregon, Illinois; Mr. Benjamin F. Osborn, Rippey, Iowa; Mr. F. K. Stebins, Iowa City, Iowa; Mr. H. O. Weaver, Wapello, Iowa; Mrs. Virginia J. Berryhill, Berkeley, California; and Mr. Dwight G. McCarty, Emmetsburg, Iowa.

NOTES AND COMMENT

The thirty-third annual reunion of the Linn County Veterans' Association was held at Lisbon on September 24 and 25, 1918.

Dr. Byron D. Halsted, formerly professor of botany at the Iowa State College of Agriculture, died on August 28, 1918. He was born in Venice, Cayuga County, New York, on June 7, 1852, and received his collegiate education at the Michigan Agricultural College and at Harvard University. From 1880 to 1885 he was managing editor of the American Agriculturist. At Ames he was professor of botany from 1885 to 1889; and from that time until his death he served on the faculty at Rutgers College.

The Thirtieth Iowa Infantry held its annual reunion at Fairfield on September 11 and 12, 1918.

The name of La Fayette has been given to the new national park which is to occupy the lands of the Sieur de Monts National Monument on Mount Desert Island. Here in 1613 the first French missionary settlement in America was established, and later this territory was included in the grant to Antoine de la Mothe Cadillac, the founder of Detroit and governor of Louisiana.

In response to a suggestion from The State Historical Society of Iowa, a committee of Buena Vista County residents met with the Board of Supervisors on June 21st to discuss the ways and means of preserving records of the soldiers, sailors, and nurses of the county. The work is under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Walpole of the Storm Lake Public Library.

A meeting of several of the committees of the Iowa Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution was held at Lake Okoboji on July 30th to consider the purchase of the Gardner cabin. But on account of the price and because the building is being well cared for, it was decided not to make the purchase at the present time.

The Historical Department at Des Moines is keeping a record of the Iowa men in military service in the present war, with the rank, branch of service, and similar information concerning each.

The annual reunion of the Boone County Veterans' Association was held at Boone on August 22, 1918. Allen Secor was the speaker, and music was furnished by the 163rd Depot Brigade Band from Camp Dodge.

The Twenty-fourth Iowa Regiment held its eighteenth biennial reunion at Tipton on September 18 and 19, 1918.

The annual meeting of the Veterans of Black Hawk County was held at Waterloo on September 11, 1918.

Five hundred persons took part in the historical pageant of Clay County presented on September 25th at Spencer, Iowa. The pageant, which was directed by Miss Etta Smith, represented five scenes from as many different historical periods. Among the scenes were representations of Indian life, the arrival of the pioneers, agriculture in early days, present day scenes in Clay County, and Clay County's part in the Great War.

The Third Iowa Cavalry held its twenty-ninth annual reunion at Bloomfield on September 18th and 19th.

The possibility of establishing a national park at McGregor was one of the subjects discussed at the meeting of the Iowa Conservation Association held at that place on July 13-16, 1918.

John Herriott, State Treasurer of Iowa from 1895 to 1901 and Lieutenant-Governor from 1902 to 1907, died at his home at Stuart, Iowa, on September 25, 1918.

The State of Illinois celebrated the hundredth anniversary of the adoption of its constitution on August 26th. Dr. Otto L. Schmidt, the chairman of the Centennial Commission, Governor Frank O. Lowden, and ex-President Theodore Roosevelt were the speakers at the meeting held at the State fair grounds at Springfield. After the speaking, The Masque of Illinois: A Symbolical Dramatization of the 245 Years of Illinois History, written by Wallace Rice, was presented. Some weeks later, on the fifth and sixth of October, there were further exercises celebrating the centennial anniversary of the meeting of the first State legislature and the inauguration of the governor. It was hoped that President Wilson might be able to attend but this proved to be impossible. A statue of Abraham Lincoln, by Andrew O'Connor, and one of Stephen A. Douglas, by Gilbert P. Riswold, were unveiled. The ceremony closed with the laying of the corner stone of the Centennial Memorial Building.

On September 17, 1918, occurred the death of Roderick A. Smith, one of the pioneers of the northwest and a member of the famous Spirit Lake Relief Expedition from Fort Dodge in March, 1857. Mr. Smith served as Clerk of the District Court; and in 1868 was elected Representative of Clay, Dickinson, Emmet, and Palo Alto counties in the General Assembly. In 1894 he was appointed by Governor Jackson as a member of the commission authorized to erect a monument to the victims of the Spirit Lake Massacre. Mr. Smith was the author of a History of Dickinson County.

HIRAM PRICE DILLON

Hiram Price Dillon, a son of John F. Dillon, the noted jurist, and a grandson of Hiram Price, died at Chicago, Illinois, September 2, 1918. He was born at Davenport, Scott County, Iowa, on February 27, 1855, and graduated from the Law College of the University of Iowa in 1876.

Beginning his career at Topeka, Kansas, he formed a partnership with A. L. Williams which continued until the death of Mr. Williams. Later Mr. Dillon maintained an office with N. H. Loomis and afterwards with R. W. Blair. During part of this time he held the position of master of chancery of the Federal Court.

On November 5, 1878, Judge Dillon married Miss Susie Brown of Jacksonville, Illinois, who survives him. For many years before his death Mr. Dillon was a member of The State Historical Society of Iowa.
