

SOME PUBLICATIONS

Two Great Scouts and Their Pawnee Battalion. By George Bird Grinnell. Cleveland: The Arthur H. Clark Company. 1928. Pp. 299. Plates, maps. This volume is the story of two brothers—Frank J. North and Luther H. North—and their work in the West during the years 1856–1882, especially their part in the defence of the Union Pacific Railroad during the period of construction. From the standpoint of Iowa history, it is interesting to note that Frank North first enlisted as a Pawnee scout at the suggestion of General S. R. Curtis, an Iowan then in command of the Union army on the Western frontier. The volume is attractively printed and bound, and contains an index.

The Day of the Cattleman. By Ernest Staples Osgood. Minneapolis: The University of Minnesota Press. 1929. Pp. 223. Plates, maps. This attractively printed and bound volume is a presentation of history from the economic standpoint. A list of the seven chapters will indicate the subject matter: The Cattleman's Frontier, 1845–1867; The Texas Invasion; The Indian Barrier; The Cattle Boom; Organization; The Cattleman and the Public Domain; and Disaster and Transition. There is also a bibliography and a comprehensive index. The story of the cattle industry includes the Indian problem, transportation, government, and other activities of the West. Few of the countless books on western life present such an accurate and vivid picture of life in the "cattle country".

The Supplement to the Annual Report of the American Historical Association, for 1925, contains the Writings on American History, 1925, compiled by Grace Gardner Griffin.

Louisiana, Land of Perpetual Romance, by Ralph A. Graves; and Flecks of Color in New Orleans and the Fertile Fields of Louisiana, by Edwin L. Wisherd, are two of the articles in The National Geographic Magazine for April.

Economic and Social Aspects of Federal Reclamation, by Dorothy Lampen, with a foreword by Dr. Elwood Mead, Commissioner of the Bureau of Reclamation, has been published as a recent number of the Johns Hopkins University Studies in Historical and Political Science.

Pierre Dubois: Modern or Medieval?, by Walther I. Brandt; British Labor and the War-Time Coalitions, by Carl F. Brand; and Responsibility for the Failure of the Burgoyne Campaign, by Jane Clark, are the three papers which appear in the April number of The American Historical Review. There is also a comprehensive report of the annual meeting held at Durham and Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

The fourth volume of the Dictionary of American Biography, which has recently appeared, contains the following biographical sketches by Iowans: Coker F. Clarkson, Chester C. Cole, and Albert B. Cummins, by Fred E. Haynes; Kate O'Flaherty Chopin, by Dorothy Anne Dondore; William Coddington, John Collins, and Samuel Cranston, by Irving B. Richman; Edwin H. Conger, by John E. Briggs; and Samuel R. Curtis, by Ruth A. Gallaher.

WESTERN AMERICANA

Earliest Settlements of the Illinois Country, by Gilbert J. Garaghan is one of the three articles published in the January issue of The Catholic Historical Review.

Historical Societies — Living and Dead, a paper by Worthington C. Ford, has been reprinted from the December, 1929, issue of The Mississippi Valley Historical Review.

The January number of The Northwestern Bell contains, among other articles, The House Vail Built in Omaha. Theodore N. Vail lived for several years in Iowa previous to his residence in Omaha.

The April issue of Vision contains a number of pictures of the leaders of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints and of places connected with its history.

Eleanor Little, Pioneer, by M. M. Quaife, makes up the January issue of the Burton Historical Collection Leaflet for January. The number for March contains From Detroit to the Mississippi in 1820, by the same author.

An Economic Analysis of the Constitutional Restrictions Upon Municipal Indebtedness in Illinois, a monograph by Ward L. Bishop, has been recently published, as No. 1, of Vol. XVI, of the University of Illinois Studies in the Social Sciences.

The February number of Museum Echoes, published by The Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society, includes a Brief History of the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society. The number also contains a short article, The Story of Pottery, by Mrs. Margaret Cope.

The Wisconsin Magazine of History for March contains Reminiscences of Milwaukee in 1835-36, by Nelson Olin; Captains and Cargoes of Early Upper Mississippi Steamboats, by William J. Petersen; the concluding installment of The Life of a Lumberman, by John E. Nelligan; and The Society and the State, by Louise Phelps Kellogg.

The Early History of McKeesport, by Walter L. Riggs; A Sketch of Pittsburgh; The Development of the Tinsplate Industry, memoirs of W. C. Cronmeyer; and Madame Montour, by John P. Penney, Jr., are the four articles in the Western Pennsylvania Historical Magazine for January.

The Utah Genealogical and Historical Magazine for January contains a number of papers and articles among which the following may be of interest to Iowa readers: The Life of Philip De La Mare, by Nicholas G. Morgan; and The Ancestry of President Brigham Young, by Mabel Young Sandborn. Both these articles are continued in the April issue.

The January number of the North Dakota Historical Quarterly contains the following papers and articles: Fort Buford, by James P. Kimball; The Great Dakota Boom, 1879 to 1886, by Harold E. Briggs; and The Heath Family, by Helen Brooks. Under Documents there are Letters of James Stallcop to Catherine Varner.

Lucius Burris Swift, by James Albert Wordburn; Francis Vigo, by Dorothy Riker; John Elder: Pioneer Builder, by Kenneth Loucks; A Quaker Pioneer in Indiana, by George W. Finley; A Letter of Dr. Gamaliel Bailey to Joshua R. Giddings; and Letters of a Massachusetts Woman Reformer to an Indiana Radical are the contributions in the Indiana Magazine of History for March.

Shane, the Western Collector, by Otto A. Rothert; Edmund L. Starling, by Mary Starling Price; and Date of the First Settlement of Lexington, Kentucky, by Samuel M. Wilson, are the three articles in the January issue of The Filson Club Historical Quarterly. This is the first number with the change in the title of the magazine, which was formerly The History Quarterly of the Filson Club.

"Turkey-tail" Points, by Charles E. Brown; The Chicago-Milwaukee-Green Bay Trail, by Louise Phelps Kellogg; The Hopewell People, by Warren K. Moorehead; Cache of Indian Stone Adzes; Indian Overland Travelways; The Huff Mandan Village Site, by Charles E. Brown; and Petroglyphs and Pictographs are among the series of short articles found in The Wisconsin Archeologist for January.

Kearny and "Kit" Carson, by Thomas Kearny; A Group of Kearny Letters; a continuation of Documentary History of the Rio Grande Pueblos, Part I, 1536-1542, by Adolph F. Bandelier; part two of The San Carlos Apache Police, by John P. Clum; and The Supply Service of the New Mexican Missions in the 17th Century, by France V. Scholes, are the contributions in the New Mexico Historical Review for January.

The issue of The Colorado Magazine for March contains the following articles: The W. M. Boggs Manuscript About Bent's Fort, Kit Carson, the Far West and Life Among the Indians, by LeRoy R. Hafen; The First Cattle North of the Union Pacific Railroad, by John M. Kuykendall; With the Indians in Colorado, by Charles S. Stobie; and A Raton Pass Mountain Road Toll Book, by James F. Willard.

A reprint of Filson's Kentucke, together with a paged critique, a sketch of John Filson's life, and a bibliography, all by Willard

Rouse Jilison, has recently been published as No. 35 of The Filson Club Publications. The volume contains a large reprint of the map prepared by Filson in 1784. In this connection it is interesting to note that the first publication of the Filson Club was John Filson, The First Historian of Kentucky, issued in 1884, just one hundred years after the publication of the volume now reprinted.

The March number of The Mississippi Valley Historical Review contains the following articles: The Authorship of Gregg's "Commerce of the Prairies," by John Thomas Lee; Trade in Frontier Ohio, by Randolph C. Downes; The National Land System in the South: 1803-1812, by R. S. Cotterill; a continuation of Anglo-Spanish Rivalry on the Upper Missouri, by A. P. Nasatir; and Social Relations and Political Control in the Old Southwest, by Thomas Perkins Abernethy. Under Documents there appears A Boy Soldier under Washington: The Memoir of Daniel Granger, edited by M. M. Quaife.

Early Day Courts and Lawyers, by A. G. C. Bierer; The Dragoon Campaigns to The Rocky Mountains, by Joseph B. Thoburn; The Government of The Creek Indians, by Ohland Morton; Entertainments of the Spanish Explorers, by Winifred Johnston; Early Navigation and Commerce along the Arkansas and Red Rivers in Oklahoma, by Muriel H. Wright; and continuations of the Tribute to Captain D. L. Payne, by W. H. Osburn, and The First Two Years, by Dan W. Peery, are the papers and articles in the March number of the Chronicles of Oklahoma.

The Missouri Historical Review for January contains the following articles and papers: William F. Switzler, by North Todd Gentry; John Sappington, by Thomas B. Hall; California Letter of John Wilson, 1850, by Frederic A. Culmer; A Study of Early Days in Randolph County, 1818-1860, by Walter H. Ryle; part two of Ducharme's Invasion of Missouri An Incident in the Anglo-Spanish Rivalry for the Indian Trade of Upper Louisiana, by Abraham P. Nasatir; and chapter four of Missouri Politics During the Civil War, by Seeva Bright Laughlin. A collection of interesting history items is included under the title, Missouri History Not Found in Textbooks.

The March number of Minnesota History contains four articles — On the Hennepin Trail, by Edward C. Gale; The Progress and Prospects of Local History Work in Minnesota, by Theodore C. Blegen; The Problems of Historic Markers and Monuments in Minnesota, by Willoughby M. Babcock; and The Minnesota Historical Society in 1929, by Solon J. Buck. There is also a report of the eighty-first annual meeting of the Minnesota Historical Society at St. Paul on January 13, 1930. Under Notes and Documents there is a discussion of certain criticisms of Rølvaag's Giants in the Earth under the title The Study of Pioneer Life: Two Replies to Mr. Davis. The second contribution under this heading is The Nesmith Cave Hoax: A Communication, by C. E. Van Cleve.

The spring number of the Michigan History Magazine contains the following papers and articles: University of Michigan: Trend of Admission Requirements in the College of Literature, Science, and the Arts, by Ira M. Smith; Judge John Griffin, by William L. Jenks; Michigan's Contribution to Literature, by Sister Francis Stace; The House of Autobiography, by Ivan Swift; A Treasure Chest, by Walter A. Wheatland Mosher), by Wade Millis; How Mosby Destroyed Our Train, by Edwin R. Havens; and Michigan Federation of Women's Clubs:—Administration of Mrs. Lucy White Williams, by Irma T. Jones. There is also a continuation of the Calendar of Michigan Copyrights and the Seventeenth Annual Report of the Michigan Historical Commission, 1929.

The Foreign Language Press of New Orleans, by John S. Kendall; Louisiana Politics, 1845-1861, by James Kimmins Greer; The System of Redemption in the State of Louisiana, translated by Louis Voss; and continuations of Records of the Superior Council of Louisiana, by Heloise H. Cruzat; and Index to the Spanish Judicial Records of Louisiana, by Laura L. Porteous, are contributions in The Louisiana Historical Quarterly for July, 1929. There is also a tribute to Dr. Max Heller. In the issue for October, 1929 (published in January, 1930), Louisiana Politics, 1845-1861; the Records of the Superior Council of Louisiana and the Index to the Spanish Judicial Records are continued. In addition there are A Lawsuit in the Court of the Governor at New Orleans Involving Land in Opelousas, 1764, translated by Laura L. Porteous; Baton Rouge, the Historic Capital of Louisiana, by J. St. Clair Favrot; and West Florida — Documents Covering a Royal Land Grant on the Mississippi and Amite Rivers. The January, 1930, number contains the following articles: Thomas O. Moore, Governor of Louisiana 1860-1864, by G. P. Whittington; Financial and Economic Disturbance in New Orleans on the Eve of Secession, by Milledge L. Bonham; The Father of Admiral Farragut, by Charles O. Paullin; Manuscript of General Richard Taylor's "Destruction and Reconstruction," by André Lafargue; The Souls of Old Houses, by Helen Spann Murphy; War Times In and Around Clinton, La., by Annie Sanderson Kilbourne; and continuations of Louisiana Politics, Records of the Superior Council, and Index to Spanish Judicial Records.

IOWANA

The first number of The Masonic Bulletin, published on February 1, 1930, by the Masonic lodge in Iowa City, contains A Brief Sketch of Iowa City Lodge No. 4, A. F. & A. M., by George D. Koser.

A pamphlet containing the Eulogy on the Late Charles E. Wheeler, delivered by Robert G. Cousins on December 2, 1927, has been published by the Linn County Bar Association.

Recollections of Monona County Pioneers, by Willard Robbins, is being published in book form by the Mapleton Press. The history has previously appeared in the Press in serial form.

A List of Books and Pamphlets Written by Cedar Rapids Authors, compiled by Wilbur John Coffey, has been published in pamphlet form by the Columbia College Library of Dubuque.

The January and February issues of The Journal of the Iowa State Medical Society contain The History of the Practice of Homoeopathic Medicine in Iowa, by D. S. Fairchild.

The Iowa Publisher, for March, contains biographical material on a number of Iowa newspaper men, furnished by W. G. Ray.

Among the men listed are Lafayette Young, Jr., Albert Shaw, and O. E. Hull.

How Larchwood, Iowa, Got Its Name, by M. M. Knapp, is one of the short articles in the Rock Island Magazine for January. The February number contains The Robert Lucas Home at Iowa City, Iowa, one of the series on Famous Homes on the Rock Island Lines, by L. O. Leonard.

The Wilson Bulletin, published by the H. W. Wilson Company, has been running a series of short biographical sketches of Iowa authors. Among them are Susan Glaspell, in the issue for December, 1928; Hamlin Garland, in the number for February, 1929; Bess Streeter Aldrich, April, 1929; Floyd Dell, June, 1929; Charles J. Finger, October, 1929; and Josephine Herbst, March, 1930.

The January number of the Bulletin of the Grand Lodge of Iowa, A. F. & A. M. contains an autobiography by Charles Herbert Cogswell, entitled A Pioneer in Iowa Masonry. There is a list of "Firsts" in Masonry in Iowa with some interesting pictures. The March issue contains a biographical sketch of Doctor John Claypoole, by T. W. Wellington; A Brief History of the Grand Charity Fund; and The Eastern Star Home, Boone, by J. L. Records.

The Iowa Catholic Historical Review for January contains the following papers and articles: A Message from the President, by Martin J. Wade; From Early Iowa to Boston, by M. M. Hoffmann; and H. V. Gildea: Pioneer Church Builder, by C. F. Griffith. Under the head of Documents, there is an account entitled First Religious Ministration on the Site of the Present City of Sioux City. This is a baptismal record kept by Father Hoecken of his work among the Sioux Indians on the Sioux River, furnished by Thomas J. McCarty. There are also biographical sketches of Archbishop James John Keane and Michael F. Healy.

In addition to the professional articles, Midland Schools is running a series of articles on manufacturing industries in Iowa. The one in the January issue is The Industry of Iowa Ceramics, by F. A. Welch, in collaboration with Paul Ernest Cox. The topic for February is Iowa Canneries and Cereal Products, by F. A. Welch and Edward A. Kimball. Cement and Gypsum Products of Iowa, also by F. A. Welch, and Iowa Manufacture of Farm Implements, by F. A. Welch in collaboration with J. B. Davidson, are the installments in the March and April issues respectively.

In addition to material on nature, the Bulletin of the Okoboji Protective Association. No. 25, for 1929, contains some items of historical interest. Among these are: Some Items from the Diary of S. W. Kearny, by L. H. Pammel; The Old Crandall House and the Crandalls, by A. B. Funk; Boats, by Leslie E. Francis; and a Chronological History of the Okoboji Protective Association. There are also biographical sketches of Melville A. Lumbard, Mrs. Mary Belle Coleman Francis, Walter H. Scott, William M. Smith, Mrs. Lowell Morse, and William H. Woodman.

Stephen H. Taft, the founder of the town of Humboldt, Iowa, and well-known as a pioneer minister and reformer, is the subject of a volume recently published under the title, An Empire Builder of the Middle West. The author of the biography is Fred H. Taft. The connection of Stephen H. Taft with Iowa began in 1863, when he platted a town on the Des Moines River, which he first named Springvale, later named Humboldt. In 1872, Reverend Taft opened Humboldt College and served as president of that institution for nine years. The volume contains a fund of interesting material on the history of Humboldt and vicinity and Humboldt College. In 1897, he moved to California, where he died in 1918.
