SOME PUBLICATIONS

Agricultural History for October, 1942, contains The Politics of Parity, by Arthur G. Peterson, a review of John D. Black's Parity, Parity, Parity.

Historical Units of Agencies of the First World War, by Elizabeth B. Drewry, has been published as Number 4 of the Bulletins of the National Archives.

The Filson Club History Quarterly for October, 1942, includes State Building in Kentucky, by Clifton S. Lowry; and Letters of 1831-32 about Kentucky, by Samuel M. Wilson.

John Beale Bordley and the Early Years of the Philadelphia Agricultural Society, by Olive Moore Gambrill, is one of the articles in the October, 1942, number of The Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography.

The October-December, 1941, issue of Nebraska History is an Historical Catalogue Number. It contains a survey of Nebraska's part in the war and a catalogue of the publications of the Nebraska State Historical Society.

John Henri Kagi, John Brown's Secretary of War, by John W. Wayland, is one of the articles in the October, 1942, number of Americana. John Henri Kagi was one of the followers of John Brown who spent the winter of 1857-1858 at Springdale, Iowa.

The Minnesota Historical Records Survey has published a Directory of Churches and Religious Organizations in Minnesota containing a list of all the churches in that State, names of pastors, and schools and other institutions maintained by each denomination.

The third number of Volume I of the Bulletins of the American Association for State and Local History contains Using Volunteers in the Local Historical Society's Program, by Loring McMillen.

Number four presents The Local History Museum and The War Program, by Arthur C. Parker.

The October, 1942, number of the Bulletin of the Connecticut Historical Society contains two pictures of a painting of Mrs. Lydia H. Sigourney, one of the portrait as it was received and one after its restoration. The town of Sigourney in Iowa was named for this Mrs. Sigourney.

Resources of Western Libraries for Research in History, by Lawrence Clark Powell; and Before the Telegraph: The News Service of the San Francisco Bulletin, 1855-1861, by John Denton Carter, are two articles in the September, 1942, number of The Pacific Historical Review.

Three articles in the Indiana Magazine of History for September, 1942, are the following: New Harmony and the American Spirit, by Louis Martin Sears; Contributions to American Literature by Hoosiers of German Ancestry, by Oscar L. Bockstahler; and The Lincolns, Hoosier Pioneers, by Louis A. Warren.

The Michigan History Magazine for Autumn, 1942, includes the following articles: What the Great Lakes Region Is Doing to Win the War, by Captain J. K. Esler; General Anthony Wayne Visits Detroit, by F. Clever Bald; Why I Am Not a Strangite, by Reverend Clement J. Strang; and Yesterdays With the Magazine.

The Division in Missouri Methodism in 1845, by Hauser Winter; The Morrison Observatory, by Robert R. Fleet; Early Leaders in Livestock Improvement in Missouri, by George F. Lemmer; and Missouri and the War, by Bertha Gruber, are articles and papers in the Missouri Historical Review for October, 1942. A picture of the McKendree Chapel appears on the cover.

The September, 1942, number of Minnesota History contains three articles — A Hundred Years of North America, an address by Lawrence J. Burpee; The Shape of Things to Come, an address by Harold E. Wood; and LeRoy S. Buffington and the Minneapolis Boom of the 1880's, by Muriel B. Christison. There is also With Cass in the Northwest in 1820 — The Journal of Charles C. Trow-bridge, edited by Ralph H. Brown.

The Kansas Historical Quarterly for November, 1942, contains: an account entitled Restoration of the North Building at Shawnee Methodist Mission; The Story of a Kansas Freedman, edited by Alberta Pantle; and The Soft Winter Wheat Boom and the Agricultural Development of the Upper Kansas River Valley, Part I, by James C. Malin. The number also includes Bypaths of Kansas History which presents excerpts from early newspapers.

The December, 1942, issue of the Journal of the Illinois State Historical Society contains the following articles and papers: One Hyphenated American, by Edith Steinbrecher; History in War Time, by H. Gary Hudson and Walter B. Hendrickson; Illinois at West Point: Her Graduates in the Civil War, by George T. Ness, Jr.; Colonel James W. Stephenson: Galena Pioneer, by Jeanne LeBron; and History of the Illinois School for the Deaf, by Minnie Wait Cleary.

The Oshkosh Public Museum, by Nile J. Behneke; Indian Bone Implements in the Oshkosh Public Museum, by Ralph N. Buckstaff; Indian Shell Work, Oshkosh Public Museum, by the same author; and An Unusual Ceremonial Stone, by A. P. Kannenberg, are among the articles in The Wisconsin Archeologist for June, 1942. The September, 1942, issue contains Ornamental Coppers of the Wisconsin Area, by Vetal Winn, and a biographical sketch of Louise Phelps Kellogg, by Charles E. Brown.

Our National Ignorance: An Editorial, by Paul M. Angle; Galesburg: Hot-Bed of Abolitionism, by Hermann R. Muelder; Early Settlers of the Rock River Valley, by Clyde E. Buckingham; Anton C. Hesing: The Rise of a Chicago Boss, by Peter H. Olden; The First Ordained Congregational Woman Minister in the United States, by Ruth Ewers Haberkorn; and "As Others See Us" are articles, papers, and communications in the Journal of the Illinois State Historical Society for September, 1942.

The October-December, 1942, number of The Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Quarterly contains a collection of articles under the title Ohio Medical History, 1835-1858 Further Aspects. This includes the following articles: Contribution of the Ohio Physicians to the Mexican War, by Leon Goldman; Samuel Robinson: Champion of the Thomsonian System, by Philip D. Jordan; The Early Use of the Microscope in Ohio, by Russell L. Haden; The Formation of the Eclectic School in Cincinnati, by Ralph Taylor; Cholera in Cincinnati, by E. W. Mitchell; and Dental Education in Ohio, 1838-58, by Edward C. Mills.

The first volume to be issued by the Clarence Walworth Alvord Memorial Commission has recently been published. It is Documents Relating to the Northwest Missions 1815–1827, edited by Grace Lee Nute, who has written the introduction. The preface is by Solon J. Buck. The Alvord Memorial Commission was organized in December, 1928, following Dr. Alvord's death, for the purpose of collecting a revolving fund for the publication of documentary materials relating to the history of the Mississippi Valley. The documents in this volume cover the years from 1815 to 1827 and deal with the Catholic missions among the Indians and French Canadians in the Upper Mississippi Valley. Those originally in French are given also in translation. There are numerous letters from two men — Thomas Douglas, Earl of Selkirk, and Joseph Octave Plessis, Catholic Bishop of Quebec. A glossary and an index complete the volume.

The Wisconsin Magazine of History celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary in new type and a cover combining cover and frontispiece. At the same time the size has been somewhat reduced. The September, 1942, number, the first in the new format, includes the following articles and papers: Louise Phelps Kellogg; On the Trail of the Ringlings, by J. J. Schlicher; The Founding of the Lumber Industry in Wisconsin, by Robert F. Fries; American Historians and the Frontier Hypothesis in 1941 (I), by George Wilson Pierson; Wisconsin's Kilmer Memorial, by W. B. Faherty; Stephen H. Long and the Naming of Wisconsin, by Alice E. Smith; and The Founding of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin, by Peter Leo Johnson. Under Documents there is a series of letters from Alexander Schue to Robert Peter under the title Practicing Medicine in Madison, 1855-57, edited by F. Garvin Davenport and Katye Lou Davenport, and a newspaper item entitled Lake Winnebago Pioneer Steamboat.

The Mississippi Valley Historical Review for September, 1942, contains the following articles and papers: The American Historian in Wartime, by William T. Hutchinson; The Creation of Yellowstone National Park, by W. Turrentine Jackson; Thirty-fifth Annual Meeting of the Mississippi Valley Historical Association, by Philip D. Jordan; and "I Have Not Yet Begun to Fight", by Charles Lee Lewis. The Teacher's Section, edited by Philip D. Jordan, contains The New York Times Survey of United States History. The Speakership Contest of 1859-1860, by Ollinger Crenshaw; Secretary of State Elihu Root and Consular Reorganization, by Donald M. Dozer; Mob Violence in the Old South, by Clement Eaton; Bank Note Detecting in the Era of State Banks, by Arthur A. Smith; A Journey Through Oklahoma in 1832: A Letter from Henry L. Ellsworth to Professor Benjamin Silliman, edited by Stanley T. Williams and Barbara D. Simison; Samuel Gompers and Free Silver, 1896, edited by Irving Bernstein; and "I Have Not Yet Begun to Fight", by M. M. Quaife and Charles Lee Lewis, are articles and papers in the issue for December. The Teacher's Section, edited by Philip D. Jordan, includes Keeping Up with the War News.

IOWANA

Charles Clyde Hunt, Grand Secretary of the Grand Lodge of Iowa, A. F. & A. M., is the author of a volume entitled Masonic Symbolism.

Prophecies of Hope, a collection of poems, edited by Clyde Tull and Clifford Hand, has been published by the English Club of Cornell College at Mount Vernon.

Pioneering in Psychology, by Carl E. Seashore, has been published as Number 70 of the Series on Aims and Progress of Research issued by the State University of Iowa.

Data on tax rates in a number of Iowa cities are to be found in Rosina Mohaupt's Tax Rates for American Cities, published in the National Municipal Review for December, 1942.

Iowa Ornithologists of Other Days—Paul Bartsch, by Mrs. H. J. Taylor, is one of the articles in Iowa Bird Life for September, 1942. The December issue includes Cover Requirements of the Eastern Ruffed Grouse in Northeast Iowa, by Emmett B. Polderboer.

State Collected Local Taxes, by John H. Mitchell; Education and the Future, by President Virgil M. Hancher of the State University of Iowa; and America Must Win or Perish, by Brigadier General Charles H. Grahl, are three articles in the January number of American Municipalities.

Emergency Medical Service in Iowa, by Dr. Thomas A. Burcham and Dr. Edmund G. Zimmerer, and Medical History of Franklin County, by Dr. William R. Arthur, are articles in The Journal of the Iowa State Medical Society for October, 1942. The second article is continued in the November and December numbers.

David Dale Owen and the First Geological Survey, by Walter B. Hendrickson; "The Irrepressible Conflict of 1861" The Letters of Samuel Ryan Curtis, edited by Kenneth E. Colton; and Hail and Farewell! The Methodist Protestant Church in Iowa, by R. E. Harvey, are three articles in The Annals of Iowa for July, 1942.

Religion and Education on the Frontier A Life of Stephen Peet, by Laurence E. Murphy, has been published at Dubuque. The Reverend Stephen Peet was connected with many of the Congregational and Presbyterian churches in Wisconsin and the adjoining States and was one of the sponsors of several educational institutions, among which was Beloit College.

Iowa Wesleyan College at Mount Pleasant celebrated its centennial anniversary in June, 1942. As one part of the celebration the college published a volume entitled History and Alumni Record of Iowa Wesleyan College 1842–1942. The first part of the book is A Centennial History, written by Charles J. Kennedy, Professor of History at the College. The Alumni Record was compiled by Lillian Kendig Rogers (Mrs. Charles S. Rogers). This record includes almost two thousand alumni.

Iowa Library Association Fifty Years, by Miriam E. Garner, is a brief historical item in the Iowa Library Quarterly for July-August-September, 1942. The issue for October-November-December includes an address by Charles Harvey Brown on First Things First: Librarian's Wartime Opportunity and Paramount Duty and Iowans Are Fond of Iowa, by Frank L. Mott.

Education in War Time, by P. C. Packer, and How Does the Federal Aid Bill Fit into the Iowa Picture?, by Arthur C. Deamer, are two articles in Midland Schools for September, 1942. The October number includes What Can an Intelligent Teacher Think and Do About the War?, by Elmer Davis, Director of the Office of War Information, and Early Days of the State Association, by C. Ray Aurner. Teaching the Problems of War and Peace to High School Youth, by Harrison J. Thornton, appears in the December number.

The History and Government Department of the Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts has prepared a series of eight bulletins with the general title The Challenge to Democracy, issued by the Agricultural Extension Service as New Series Numbers P21 to P28. The series includes the following items: Democracy on Trial, by John A. Vieg; The Citizen and the Power to Govern, by J. H. Powell; The Family Farm in the Machine Age, by Louis Bernard Schmidt; The Test of Citizenship, by V. Alton Moody; Democracy and Nationalism, by C. H. Matterson; Toward a New Rural Statesmanship, by E. D. Ross; Improving Public Administration, by H. C. Cook; and The Machine and Democracy, by Charles H. Norby.

Oskaloosa Or the First One Hundred Years In a Mid-West Town, by Phil Hoffmann, is one of the local centennial publications which record the events of the various communities. The first third of the volume contains a reprint of sixteen of the nineteen chapters of the Roustabout's History of Mahaska County, which Mr. Hoffmann published a number of years ago. The remainder of the volume presents nineteen stories of people, community enterprises, 70.01 personal experiences, and events relating to Oskaloosa, which, the author says, were chosen because they "form the background of a people". The last twenty pages of the book contain a series of poems by Mr. Hoffmann. The author has long been interested in Iowa history. He became a member of the State Historical Society of Iowa in March, 1903, and was enrolled as a life member in August, 1918.

92

SOME RECENT HISTORICAL ITEMS IN IOWA NEWSPAPERS

- Iowa troops in the Spanish-American War, in the Blairstown Press, June 19, 1942.
- Sketch of Charles Aldrich, in the Webster City Freeman-Journal, June 19, 1942.
- Recent history of Amana, by Ray Anderson, in the Cedar Rapids Gazette, June 21, 1942.
- History of Barlow Hall, by Neil Miller, in the Sioux City Journal, June 21, 1942.
- Indians of Iowa in 1841, in the Marengo Pioneer-Republican, June 25, 1942.
- Early history of Maple Landing, in the Sloan Star, June 25, 1942.
- A glass factory at Keota, in the Oskaloosa Herald, June 27, 1942.
- History of the Bethel Presbyterian Church at West Union, in the Dubuque Telegraph-Herald, June 27, 1942.
- John Brown in Iowa, in the Iowa City Press-Citizen, June 29, 1942.
- Iowa troops visited Japan in 1899, in the Marengo Pioneer-Republican, July 2, 1942.
- Pot of gold story, in the Waukon Republican-Standard, July 8, 1942.
- Bus route from Nevada to Ankeny recalls railroad activities, by Nelle McNichols, in the Nevada Journal, July 9, 1942.
- Iowa acquires a Lincoln letter, written to S. R. Curtis, in the Cedar Rapids Gazette, July 12, 1942.

- Dr. J. D. Fulton of Sioux City owns collection of firearms, by Clyde M'Neil, in the Sioux City Journal, July 12, 1942.
- Grinnell was named by a flip of a coin, in the Grinnell Herald-Register, July 13, 1942.
- Congregational Church at Clay celebrates its centennial, by Frances Meacham, in the Washington Journal, July 9, 1942.
- Sketch of General James B. Weaver, in the Webster City Freeman-Journal, June 14, 1942.
- Pioneer days in O'Brien County, in the O'Brien County (Primghar) Bell, July 15, 1942.
- Mrs. Sarah Jane Salisbury was an early settler in O'Brien County, in the O'Brien County (Primghar) Bell, July 15, 1942.
- History of Riceville, in the Riceville Recorder, July 15, 1942.
- The first house in Mt. Vernon, in the Mt. Vernon Hawkeye-Record, July 16, 1942.
- Mason City was interested in horse racing in the 1890's, in the Mason City Globe-Gazette, July 21, 1942.
- Mt. Pleasant's first hotel, in the Burlington Hawkeye, July 21, 1942.
- Sketch of the life of Henry N. Dilly, in the Grundy Center Register, July 23, 1942.
- The State Historical Society of Iowa, an address by Walter H. Beall, in the Mount Ayr Record-News, July 23, 1942.
- Des Moines in 1846, in the Knoxville Express, July 23, 1942.
- Indian mounds along the Upper Mississippi River, in the Des Moines Register, July 26, 1942.
- Swea City is 50 years old, in the Swea City Herald, July 29, 1942.
- The Giard Tract, in the McGregor North Iowa Times, July 30, 1942.
- L. J. Tjernagel of Story City was a pioneer in Hamilton County, in the Webster City Freeman-Journal, July 31, 1942.

94 IOWA JOURNAL OF HISTORY AND POLITICS

- Walter H. Beall, of West Union, advocates local historical society in Ringgold County, in the Ringgold County (Mount Ayr) Bulletin, August, 1942.
- German Presbyterianism in the Upper Mississippi Valley, by H. Clifford Fox, in the Dubuque Telegraph-Herald, August 2, 1942.
- Admiral William D. Leahy, an Iowan, heads world chiefs of strategy, by Richard Wilson, in the Des Moines Register, August 2, 1942.
- Captain W. H. Keating of Oskaloosa celebrates 87th birthday, in the Oskaloosa Herald, August 3, 1942.
- The country store at Rorbeck, made famous by the Rohrbach store in Paul Corey's novel, Three Miles Square, has been closed, in the Atlantic News-Telegraph, August 3, 1942.
- Things that have made Iowa famous, from E. V. Durling's column in the Chicago Herald-American, in the Cresco Times, August 5, 1942.
- Mme. Cassandra, New York fortune teller, was born Cecelia Curley Lane in Tama, from an article by Helen Worden, in the Tama News-Herald, August 6, 1942.
- The Methodist Church of Allerton is 72 years old, in the Allerton News, August 6, 1942.
- Pioneer Stories of Boone County, by the late C. L. Lucas, in the Madrid Register-News, August 6, 27, October 1, 1942.
- Pioneer reminiscences by H. Schulte, in the McGregor North Iowa Times, August 6, 1942.
- Reminiscences by Ira Moody, written by Robert Coobs, in the McGregor North Iowa Times, August 6, 1942.
- Naming the town of LeMars, in the Alton Democrat, August 7, 1942.
- First meeting of Sioux City council was held fifty years ago, in the Sioux City Journal, August 9, 1942.

- Some history of the Third Iowa Cavalry, in the Keosauqua Republican Eagle, August 11, 1942.
- Cottonwood United Brethren Church is one hundred years old, in the Wayland News, August 13, 1942.
- Lumbering on the Missouri slope near Salix, in the Sioux City Journal, August 16, and the Sloan Star, August 20, 1942.
- W. L. Cressman has practiced law in Cedar Rapids for sixty years, in the Cedar Rapids Gazette, August 16, 1942.
- Mrs. Asa Turner was chum of Harriet Beecher Stowe, in the Burlington Hawkeye, August 17, 1942.
- Historic sites at Gillett Grove, in the Spencer Reporter, August 18, 1942.
- The story of Memorial University at Mason City, by Reeves Hall, in the Mason City Globe-Gazette, August 19, 1942.
- Sketch of the life of Judge Arthur Platt Barker, in the Clinton Herald, August 20, and the Muscatine Journal, August 21, 1942.
- Old times in Webster City recalled by H. T. Henryson, of St. Paul, in the Webster City Freeman-Journal, August 20, 1942.
- Sketch of the life of Dr. Robert W. Hegner, by O. M. Norlie, in the Decorah Public Opinion, August 26, 1942.
- Reminiscences of early McGregor, in the McGregor North Iowa Times, August 27, September 3, 10, 24, 1942.
- Why Marshall County supervisors decided to build a new courthouse, in the Marshalltown Times-Republican, August 28, 1942.
- Sketch of the life of Ralph B. Dennis, in the Traer Star-Clipper, August 28, November 13, 1942.
- Mrs. Henry A. Wallace christens the new Iowa, by Richard Wilson, in the Des Moines Register, August 28, 1942.

- The story of the battleship Iowa, in the Fort Dodge Messenger, August 28, and the Des Moines Register, September 6, 1942.
- Mrs. Warren Garst dies at Jefferson, in the Des Moines Register, August 30, and the Jefferson Bee, September 1, 1942.
- Miss Adeliza Daniels is writing a history of Marion, by Dora Jane Hamblin, in the Cedar Rapids Gazette, August 30, 1942.
- Beardsley Ruml, author of pay-as-you-go tax plan, is native Iowan, by Katherine Macy, in the Des Moines Register, August 30, 1942.
- Rowland Lafayette Rees was a pioneer in Jasper County, in the Newton News, September 1, 1942.
- The Hixite Friends Church in Marshall County, near Hartland, has been listed by the Historic American Buildings Survey, in the Marshalltown Times-Republican, September 2, 1942.
- Byron W. Newberry of Strawberry Point celebrates his eightyninth birthday, in the Oelwein Register and the Cedar Rapids Gazette, September 2, 1942.
- P. H. Drake, Tabor's oldest citizen, is ninety-nine years of age, in the Tabor Beacon, September 3, 1942.
- C. E. Underhill writes book on pioneer events, in the Onawa Sentinel, September 3, 1942.
- St. John's Lutheran Church in Grant Township near Glidden is fifty years old, in the Glidden Graphic, September 3, 1942.
- Hoover birthplace at West Branch has many visitors, in the West Branch Times, September 3, 1942.
- Beginnings of Clear Lake, in the Clear Lake Mirror, September 3, 1942.
- Indian mound opened by Davenport Museum, in the Davenport Times, September 5, 1942.
- Sioux City Public Museum has rare silver medal issued in 1857 to mark signing of peace treaty with Yankton Sioux, in the Sioux City Journal, September 6, 1942.

- Sioux City's first brick building, in the Sioux City Journal, September 6, 1942.
- Harvey Ingham reviews life in Iowa, in the Des Moines Tribune, September 8, 1942.
- Eighty years of St. John's Evangelical Church near Baxter, in the Baxter New Era, September 9, 1942.
- Noble Center Evangelical Church was built sixty years ago, in the Griswold American, September 9, 1942.
- State Center once became a party to a lawsuit over rights of canvassers, in the State Center Enterprise, September 10, 1942.
- Clear Lake and the Indians, in the Clear Lake Mirror, September 10, 17, 1942.
- When Iowans were in the Philippines, in the Perry Chief, September 12, 1942.
- Mrs. Sarah L. Nicholson is one hundred years old, in the Fort Dodge Messenger, September 12, 1942.
- The story of Beardsley Ruml, by Jerry Brondfield, in the Sioux City Journal, September 13, 1942.
- Llewellyn Valerie of Hollywood was Llewellyn Foft of Kingsley, by Betty Hetherington, in the Des Moines Register, September 13, 1942.
- How Iowa lost southern Minnesota, by M. E. Melvin, in the Des Moines Register, September 13, and the Hamburg Reporter, October 15, 1942.
- Early days on the Mississippi River, by Charles MacMahon, in the Clinton Herald, September 14, 1942.
- Story of the Roy Carter home at Salem, in the Washington Journal, September 14, 1942.
- Iowa Marine heroes in World War I, in the Oelwein Register, September 16, the Des Moines Plain Talk and Whittemore Champion, September 17, the Panora Vedette, September 24, and the Aplington News, October 8, 1942.

- Letter of 1841 praised natural resources of Iowa, in the Inwood Herald, September 17, 1942.
- When Hancock and Winnebago counties were rivals, in the Forest City Summit, September 17, 1942.
- Antoine LeClaire home in Davenport is to be moved to a new location and used by the Boy Scouts, in the Davenport Times, September 22, 23, and the Davenport Democrat, September 23, 1942.
- Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Wilson presented Lincoln statue to Greene County in 1918, in the Jefferson Bee, September 23, 1942.
- Sketch of the life of John Cooper, who came to Fremont County in 1850, in the Hamburg Reporter, September 24, 1942.
- James Williams, last Keokuk County Civil War veteran, is dead, in the Keota Eagle, September 24, 1942.
- William S. Hart once lived in Rockford, Iowa, in the Rockford Register, September 24, 1942.
- William Louden founded the Louden Machinery Company at Fairfield seventy-five years ago, in the Fairfield Ledger, September 24, 1942.
- An incident in the life of Tama Jim Wilson, in the Traer Star-Clipper, September 25, 1942.
- Sketch of the life of Mrs. Mary M. Green of North Liberty, by Robert P. Adams, in the Iowa City Press-Citizen, September 25, 1942.
- Sketch of the life of Martin Hardsocg, in the Ottumwa Courier, October 1, 1942.
- Chas. J. Seeds has seen Manchester grow, in the Manchester Press, October 8, 1942.
- Story of the Mission Covenant Church of Ogden, in the Ogden Reporter, October 8, 1942.

- Franklin Township Lutheran Church near Wiota is sixty years old, in the Atlantic News-Telegraph, October 9, 1942.
- The Ivester Church of the Brethren near Eldora celebrates its seventy-fifth anniversary, in the Marshalltown Times-Republican, October 10, 1942.
- Sketch of the life of Calvin G. Greene, in the Cedar Rapids Gazette, October 11, 1942.
- Milton history from the old Milton Herald, in the Milton Herald, October 15, 1942.
- Wild cats were found along the Volga River, by O. W. Stevenson, in the Fayette County (Fayette) Leader, October 15, 1942.
- Early history of the Methodist Church of Dyersville, in the Dyersville Commercial, October 15, 1942.
- William J. Metzger worked as woodcarver when Iowa state house was built, in the Des Moines Tribune, October 16, 1942.
- Sketch of the life of Dr. Elbridge T. Likes, in the Des Moines Register, October 17, 1942.
- Mrs. Alma H. Cooley exhibits painting of the old stone house at Clinton, by Mrs. Elizabeth Ink, in the Cedar Rapids Gazette, October 18, 1942.
- Pioneer days of the Methodist Church in Iowa, by Clyde F. Wright, in the Des Moines Register, October 18, 1942.
- Mrs. Margaret Stafford of Red Oak was one hundred years old, in the Des Moines Register, October 21, 1942.
- Wartburg College at Waverly celebrates its diamond jubilee, in the Bellevue Leader, October 8, the Waverly Journal, October 22, and the Waverly Democrat, October 23, 1942.
- Mark H. Morse is last surviving Civil War veteran in Jones County, in the Oxford Junction Mirror and the Cedar Falls Record, October 22, 1942.
- Sketch of the life of Mrs. Orlena Beal, cousin of James Russell Lowell, in the Alden Times, October 22, 1942.

100 IOWA JOURNAL OF HISTORY AND POLITICS

- Reminiscences of Tabor, by the Reverend Peter Jacobs, in the Tabor Beacon, October 22, 1942.
- Early poets of Woodbury County are discussed by Mrs. Lillian M. White, in the Sioux City Journal, October 25, 1942.
- The story of Battle Hill, in the Sioux City Journal, October 25, 1942.
- Sketch of the life of Addie Rose Alma Cherry, in the Cedar Rapids Gazette, October 27, 1942.
- How What Cheer got its name, in the What Cheer Patriot, October 29, 1942.
- Sketch of the life of B. J. Bergeson, in the Emmetsburg Democrat, October 29, 1942.
- The Iowa State Sheriffs' Association was founded in 1883, in The Iowa Sheriff (Des Moines), November, 1942.
- Sketch of the life of Warren F. Miller, in the Independence Conservative, November 4, 1942.
- Sketch of the life of Martin Birrer, one hundred years old, in the Davenport Democrat, November 5, and the Washington Journal, November 6, 1942.
- Webster City before the Civil War, in the Webster City Observer, November 5, 1942.
- Sketch of the life of Mrs. Horace M. Towner, in the Des Moines Register, November 7, and the Corning Free Press, November 12, 19, 1942.
- The story of Martin Birrer, by Mary Berry, in the Iowa City Press-Citizen, November 7, 1942.
- Sketch of the career of Senator George A. Wilson, by C. C. Clifton, in the Des Moines Register, November 8, 1942.
- Hal Trosky, once first baseman of the Cleveland Indians, now runs a farm near Norway, in the Cedar Rapids Gazette, November 8, 1942.

- Sketch of the life of Charles B. Hoeven, new Congressman from the Eighth Congressional District, by Neil Miller, in the Sioux City Journal, November 8, 1942.
- Sketch of the life of Alma M. Fyrando, historian of Harrison County, in the Logan Observer, November 12, 1942.
- Railroads of Van Buren County, in the Milton Herald, November 12, 1942.
- Underground railways in Van Buren County, in the Milton Herald, November 12, and the Bloomfield Republican, November 17, 1942.
- Sketch of the life of Jonas Danielson, in the Gowrie News, November 12, 1942.
- Sales at McManus and Shepherd's store in Davenport in 1853 and 1854, in the Davenport Times, November 12, 1942.
- Felix Morrand, near Le Claire, has collection of Indian relics, in the Davenport Democrat, November 15, 1942.
- Greene County in the "nineties", by Paul Stillman, in the Jefferson Bee, November 17, 1942.
- How the town of Givin was named, in the Oskaloosa Herald, November 19, 1942.
- Tool's Chapel, in Jasper County, is seventy-five years old, in the Newton News, November 21, 1942.
- Audubon County has two centenarians, in the Atlantic News-Telegraph, November 21, 1942.
- How Frank Teabout served liquor in Primghar during a blizzard, by O. H. Montzheimer, in the Primghar Bell, November 25, 1942.
- When the last lumber raft went down the Mississippi in 1915, in the Preston Times, November 26, 1942.
- When Fort Des Moines was established in 1843, in the Des Moines Tribune, November 26, 1942.