

In this issue of the Iowa Historical Review, we offer a strong and unique lineup of historical research. Our goal is to promote undergraduate research and historical writing. The articles appearing within this issue reflect our hope for diverse, impactful, and well researched historical scholarship. We hope you enjoy this issue and look forward to sharing future submissions.

-The Editors,

Leighton Barnes, Roxanna Barbulescu, Kate Dennis