

PAUL MCCORMICK

Shoal

A hand will not smooth her.
She cemetery sky.

She's how far
The wind moves.

She siltstone, she chert,
She blue bottle glass.

Evening untethers
Her purpling canoe.

Where her bog iron falls,
The hermits leave their shawls.