DRIFT

The birds between poles make a thicker cable. Their falls dark paper to the broken soil, blows to cut corn and dirt cuts a sky. A sky is full stew, a mottle and a glaze.
A road drifts all over our country.

University of Iowa is collaborating with JSTOR to digitize, preserve, and extend access to The Iowa Review
www.jstor.org