

[white paper #27]

no Chinatown in my hometown just missionary chopstick news we knew that San Francisco had we didn't know the gold rush brought them maybe knew the transcontinental railroad brought we didn't know when it was done the Act of 1882 excluded though women still were bought to yes until the war we knew when it wasn't China it was Japan this was years before I rode the train to a school near San Francisco built by one of the rich railroad men my large class had a few Asian Americans I knew one
