

CANCIONES SIN SU MÚSICA

To think that always while for my sake the sun each morning comes out of the world barring of shadows
the sweet hurt earth I've loved so much and I see burned in his fire the dividing face of my suffering or joy to think that it will light up always also that.

translated by Nathaniel Tarn