

Notes on Contributors

GEORGE BARLOW (1970–72)* is the author of Gumbo, a 1981 National Poetry Series selection.

ROBIN BEHN (1982–84) teaches at Knox College in Galesburg, Illinois. Her work has appeared in Poetry, American Poetry Review, Ironwood and The Georgia Review.

MARVIN BELL (1961–63; 1965–86) is the author of These Green Going to Yellow (Atheneum, 1981) and Old Snow Just Melting: Essays and Interviews (U. of Michigan Press, 1983), among others. His Selected Poems will be published by Atheneum in 1987.

MICHAEL DENNIS BROWNE (1965–67; 1967–68) is the author of The Wife of Winter (1970), The Sun Fetcher (1978), and Smoke From the Fires (1985).

JANE COOPER (1953–54; 1980–81) published Scaffolding: New and Selected Poems in 1985, for which she received the Maurice English Poetry Award.

ROBERT COOVER taught at the Workshop from 1967–69. He is author of Pricksongs and Descants, The Universal Baseball Association, Inc., and The Public Burning.

HENRI COULETTE (1952–56; 1957–59) studied at the Writers' Workshop with John Berryman, Robert Lowell, and Karl Shapiro. He received the Lamont Award in 1966 for The War of the Secret Agents and Other Poems.

JAMES CRENNER (1959–62) teaches at Hobart and William Smith Colleges in Geneva, New York.

ROBERT DANA (1951–54) will publish two new books this summer: Blood Harvest (Windhover Press) and Against the Grain: Interviews with Maverick American Publishers (U. of Iowa Press).

CATHERINE DAVIS (1961–64) studied at the Writers' Workshop with Donald Justice and Paul Engle. She lives in Boston.

STEPHEN DOBYNS (1964–67; 1977–78) is the author of Black Dog, Red Dog (Holt, Rinehart, Winston, 1984) and the forthcoming Cemetery Nights (Viking, 1987).

PAUL ENGLE taught at the Writers' Workshop for 24 years. His first book, Worn Earth, was awarded the Yale Series of Younger Poets Prize in 1932.

MARK A. R. FACKNITZ (1975–77) was a student of Leonard Michaels, Fred Busch, Mary Lee Settle, Jack Leggett and Vance Bourjaily. His stories have appeared in The Georgia Review and StoryQuarterly.

TESS GALLAGHER (1972–74) has published three collections of poetry: Instructions to the Double, Under Stars and Willingly (all from Graywolf Press).

JAMES GALVIN (1974–76; 1983–86) is the author of Imaginary Timber (Doubleday, 1980) and God's Mistress (Harper and Row, 1984), a winner of the National Poetry Series.

PEGGY GIFFORD (1979–82) is an editor at the SUNY Press in Albany.

GAIL GODWIN (1967–71; 1972–73) studied at the Workshop with Kurt Vonnegut, Jose Donoso and Robert Coover. Her latest novel, A Southern Family, will appear in 1987.

LINDA GREGERSON (1975–77) is the author of Fire in the Conservatory (Dragon Gate Press).

ANDREW HUDGINS (1981–83) was a Stegner Fellow at Stanford from 1983–1984. His first book, Saints & Strangers, was published last year by Houghton Mifflin.

DONALD JUSTICE (1952–54) taught at the Writers' Workshop for nearly 20 years. His Selected Poems was awarded a Pulitzer Prize in 1979; a new book is due out in 1987.

IAN MACMILLAN (1963–66) received the AWP Short Fiction Award in 1979 for Light and Power. His work has appeared in the Best American Short Stories and Pushcart Prize anthologies.

JAMES MCKEAN (1979–81) recently completed his first book, tentatively titled Headlong, which will be published by the U. of Utah Press in 1987.

SANDRA MCPHERSON taught at the Writers' Workshop from 1974–1976 and from 1978–80. A member of the writing faculty at the University of California at Davis, she is the author of Patron Happiness (Ecco, 1983) and Floralia (Trace Editions, 1985).

ROBERT MEZEY (1956–59) has received a Guggenheim Fellowship and an award in poetry from the American Academy and Institute of Arts and Letters. His new book, Evening Wind, will be published next spring by the Wesleyan U. Press.

JANET PIPER began her graduate study at the University of Iowa in 1925, when she met her late husband, Edwin Ford Piper, a sponsor of creative writing at the University until the establishment of the Writers'

Workshop. Mrs. Piper taught for 30 years at Sam Houston State University, and recently celebrated her eighty-fourth birthday.

THOMAS H. ROGERS (1951–53; 1975) studied at the Workshop with Walter Van Tilburg Clark, Verlin Cassill and Paul Engle. A former Guggenheim Fellow, he has also received the Rosenthal Award and a Friends of American Literature Award.

SARI ROSENBLATT (1982–84) was a student of James Alan McPherson, Hilma Wolitzer, Lynn Sharon Schwartz and Robb Forman Dew. She lives in Nangatuck, Connecticut.

LAURIE SHECK (1976–78) teaches at Rutgers University. Her first book, Amaranth, was brought out by the U. of Georgia Press in 1981. Recent work has appeared in The New Yorker and Poetry.

WILLIAM STAFFORD (1950–53) is the author of, among others, Stories That Could Be True and A Glass Face in the Rain (both from Harper and Row). You Must Revise Your Life is forthcoming from the U. of Michigan Press.

GEORGE STARBUCK taught in the Workshop from 1964–70. His most recent book, The Argot Merchant Disaster (Atlantic Monthly Press), was awarded the Lenore Marshall Prize in 1982. The Book of Rows will appear in 1987.

MARY SWANDER (1973–76) has been honored with both the Carl Sandburg Award and a Nation/Discovery Award. Her most recent book is Driving the Body Back (Knopf, 1986), in which “Doc” appears.

MARLY SWICK (1984–86) has published stories in Redbook and The North American Review. Other work is forthcoming in McCall's and Playgirl.

MICHAEL VAN WALLEGHEN (1963–65) won the Lamont Award in 1980 for More Trouble With the Obvious (U. of Illinois Press). He has just completed a third book, Blue Tango, for which he is seeking a publisher.

MARGARET WALKER received her Master's degree from Iowa in 1950 and her Ph.D. in 1965. She is the author of Prophets for a New Day (poems, Broadside Press, 1970), the novel Jubilee (Houghton Mifflin, 1966) and For My People, which won the Yale Series of Younger Poets Prize in 1942.

* Dates in parentheses indicate when the writer was a student and/or teacher at the Writers' Workshop.

"A loving mixture of baseball, life and fantasy."*

"This novel sings... Kinsella's lively imagination, creative devices, ingenious dialogue and complex philosophical discussions about human, particularly male-female, relationships all serve to make this baseball novel a wonderful piece of literature." — Ozark Magazine

"Evokes the films of Frank Capra... Shoeless Joe had the flavor of 'It's a Wonderful Life'... [Iowa] is a ballplayer's 'Lost Horizon.'"
— ALA Booklist

"It has the impact of a grand slam, the sheer, smooth beauty of a seamless double play, and an inner warmth any bleacher bum will recognize."
— Michael J. Bandler,
American Way Magazine

THE IOWA BASEBALL CONFEDERACY

A Novel by the Author of Shoeless Joe
W. P. KINSELLA

*Publishers Weekly

 Houghton Mifflin Company
2 Park Street, Boston, Massachusetts 02108
© Houghton Mifflin Company 1986

Jacket design/illustration: Wendell Minor © 1986

Prairie Lights

Located in downtown Iowa City at 15 S. Dubuque. Open 7 days a week, weekdays until 8 p.m.

WE CONGRATULATE

The Iowa Writers' Workshop

FOR 50 YEARS OF CREATIVE EXCELLENCE

WE ALSO SALUTE THE PEOPLE OF IOWA CITY.
THEIR APPRECIATION OF THE DIVERSITY OF
HUMAN EXPERIENCE HAS PROVIDED A UNIQUE
ENVIRONMENT FOR ARTISTIC EXPRESSION.

6:20
A NIGHTCLUB

620 S. MADISON
IOWA CITY, IOWA

Congratulations to The Writers' Workshop for fifty years of nurturing locally & nationally
the creative spirit

IOWA STATE BANK & TRUST COMPANY

Iowa City and Coralville 356-5800 Member FDIC

Providing books to Iowa City and the University
since 1920

Iowa Book & Supply
8 S. Clinton, Box 2030
Iowa City IA 52244

IOWA BOOK

I O W A

Dancing in the Movies

By Robert Boswell

1985 Iowa School of Letters Award for Short Fiction

"Dancing in the Movies is a powerful book, taut and stark, intense with human passion."—Tim O'Brien "A satisfying, if at times disturbing, collection."—Publishers Weekly

ISBN 0-87745-134-6 $14.95

The Warrior's Gift

By Mack Faith

1985 Associated Writing Programs Novel Award, selected by Margaret Atwood

"Mack Faith does not 'show promise' in The Warrior's Gift, he delivers, and the certainty of his future as a novelist is assured!"—Gordon Weaver

ISBN 0-87745-143-5 $14.95

The Poetry of Ted Hughes: Form and Imagination

By Leonard M. Scigaj

"Scigaj takes a major step forward, establishing beyond dispute the remarkable depth, richness, coherence, and progressiveness of Hughes' work. . . . Scarcely a page is dispensable."—Keith Sagar

ISBN 0-87745-141-9 $35.00 available in June

Letters to the Press

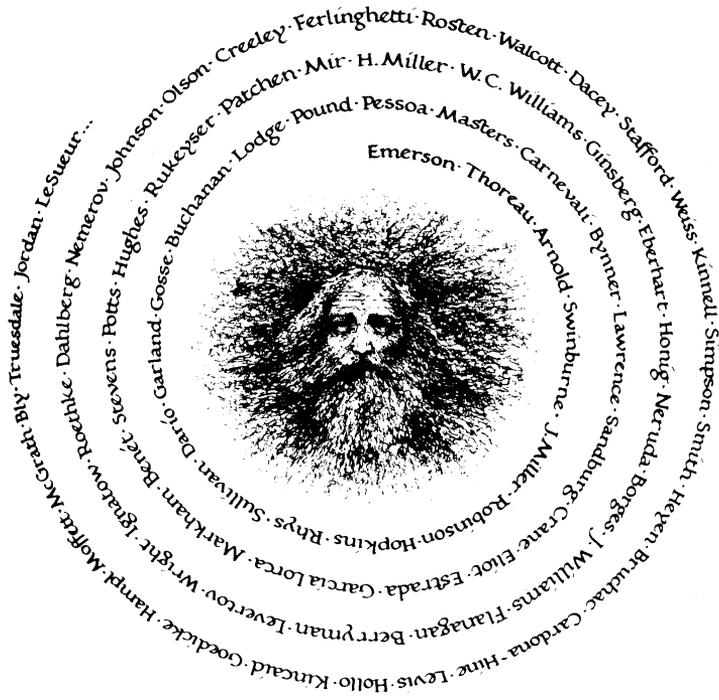

By Arthur Conan Doyle

Letters Doyle wrote to journals throughout his lifetime on a variety of subjects. An absorbing portrait of Doyle, the man and thinker, and the whole Victorian age.

ISBN 0-87745-137-0 $19.95

Ψ UNIVERSITY OF IOWA PRESS Ψ

Publications Order Dept. A-5, GSB, University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa 52242

HOLY COW! PRESS

Publishers of:

KATE GREEN, If the World is Running Out,
poems, $5.00

ROBERTA HILL WHITEMAN, Star Quilt,
poems, $6.95

JEANIE THOMPSON, How to Enter the River,
poems, $6.00

Please Request Our
1986 Catalog of Current & Forthcoming
Books

Holy Cow! Press • P.O. Box 2692 • Iowa City, IA 52244

The Mill Restaurant wishes to congratulate
The Writers' Workshop on 50 successful years.
We are proud to have served its faculty and students for almost half of its existence.

THE MILL RESTAURANT

120 East Burlington St.
Iowa City Iowa

Writing

“To create out of the materials of the human spirit something which did not exist before.”

William Faulkner

“The only end of writing is to enable the readers better to enjoy life or better to endure it.”

Samuel Johnson

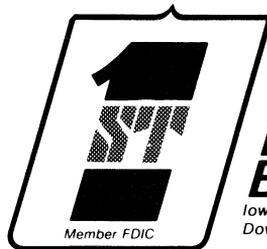

The Gazette Co. salutes the University of Iowa Writers' Workshop.

We know what it takes to make that blank sheet of paper come alive, to excite and enrich readers. It's a tough challenge, with wonderful rewards.

Everyone in Iowa should be proud of the Writers' Workshop, its graduates and the acclaim it has earned. We certainly are.

Congratulations to The Iowa Writers' Workshop on Your 50th Anniversary

First National Bank is proud to support The Writers' Workshop. Our best wishes for continued success in the years ahead.

First National Bank

Iowa City, Iowa • 356-9000
Downtown • Towncrest • Coralville