

Notes on Contributors

JONATHAN AARON teaches at Yale.

JEFFREY BARTLETT recently received his Ph.D. in English from The University of Iowa.

ANGELO P. BERTOCCI is Professor Emeritus of Comparative Literature at The University of Iowa and is the author, among other works, of From Symbolism to Baudelaire (1964).

MARVIN BELL was the original poetry editor of The Iowa Review. A new volume of his poems, These Green-Going-to-Yellow, will be published by Atheneum this September.

STEPHEN BERG's With Akhmatova at the Black Gates: Variations will be published this fall by The University of Illinois Press.

ROBERT BLY recently published News of the Universe: Poems of Two Fold Consciousness, an anthology beginning with Goethe and continuing to the present.

GERALD L. BRUNS teaches English at The University of Iowa.

SHARON BRYAN teaches at The University of Washington. She is co-editor of Water Table, a new magazine of poems and poetics.

STEVEN CRAMER's work has appeared in The Antioch Review, The Ohio Review, Poetry, Ploughshares and other journals.

STUART DISCHELL has had poems in New England Review, Ploughshares, Crazy Horse and The Agni Review.

RUSSELL EDSON says that the oxen in his piece, included in this issue, did get married, and have since produced a nursery full of baby oxes.

RICHARD ELMAN's "An Incident in Leon" is from By the Waters of Masaya, a book of vignettes to be published this summer by Applewood Press.

WAYNE FIELDS teaches American Literature at Washington University in St. Louis where he has just returned from a semester teaching in Copenhagen.

ANN W. FISHER teaches at The University of La Verne and is completing a book-length study of Williams' poetry and other writings.

LOWELL EDWIN FOLSOM teaches at The University of Iowa and is co-editing Walt Whitman: The Measure of His Song, a volume of poems and essays about Whitman, soon to be published by Holy Cow! Press.

DAVID GHITELMAN lives in Brooklyn and teaches at the Brooklyn House of Detention for Men. His poems have appeared in New Letters, Cutbank, and The Agni Review.

JORIE GRAHAM's book, Hybrids of Plants and of Ghosts, is available from Princeton University Press.

DEBORA GREGER is currently a fellow at The Bunting Institute of Radcliffe College. Her collection of poems, Moveable Islands, was published last spring by Princeton University Press.

LINDA GREGERSON has had poems in Poetry, Field, Ploughshares, Ironwood, The Ohio Review, and elsewhere.

ANNE HALLEY recently held a fellowship in fiction from the Massachusetts' Artist's Foundation. Her second book, The Bearded Mother, was published in 1979 by The University of Massachusetts Press.

DANIEL HALPERN's most recent collection of poetry is Life Among Others (Viking, Penguin).

KATHERINE D. HAMANN has studied creative writing at Northwestern University and The University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

THOMAS HILGERS teaches at The University of Hawaii at Manoa.

BEN HOWARD's first collection of poems, Father of Waters was published by The University of Nebraska at Omaha (Abattoir Editions) in 1979.

DAVID HUGHES is an English novelist who taught at The Iowa Writers Workshop in 1978.

DONALD JUSTICE received The Pulitzer Prize for Poetry for his Selected Poems (Atheneum, 1979). He has long taught at The Writers Workshop at Iowa.

GEORGE KEITHLEY has published two books of poetry, The Donner Party and Song in a Strange Land.

MICHAEL KREKORIAN teaches creative writing at San Diego State University and The University of California. A story of his appeared recently in Ararat.

JOHN LOGAN has two books coming out this year: Only The Dreamer can Change the Dream, Selected Poems from Ecco Press, and The Bridge of Change, New Poems 1974 to '81 from BOA Editions.

WILLIAM LOGAN's first book, Sad-Faced Men, will be issued this spring by David Godine. A chapbook, Dream of Dying, was recently published by the Graywolf Press.

SYDNEY LEA edits New England Review and is the author of Searching the Drowned Man, a book of poems from The University of Illinois Press.

GINNY MacKENZIE's poems have appeared in Ploughshares, Poetry NOW, Carleton Miscellany, The Little Magazine, and Pequod.

SANDRA McPHERSON recently published a new, small collection of poems, Sensing (Meadow Press).

JANE MILLER's Many Juniper's, Heartbeats, has recently been published by Brown University's Copper Beach Press.

JUDITH MOFFETT is on leave this year from The University of Pennsylvania. She is working on a book about James Merrill.

MICHAEL MOLLOY teaches humanities in the University of Hawaii's Kapiolani Community College.

DAVID B. MORRIS is finishing a book entitled "Alexander Pope: The Genius of Sense" and he teaches a course called "Language, Literature and Medicine" at The University of Iowa.

STANLEY PLUMLY is the visiting poet at The University of Washington this spring. His last book, Out-of-the-Body Travel, was nominated for a National Book Critics Circle Award.

LAWRENCE RAAB teaches at Williams College. His most recent volume of poems is The Collector of Cold Weather (The Ecco Press).

DAVID RAY is the editor of New Letters, a literary quarterly, and has published several books of poetry.

SCOTT RUESCHER has had poems in The Antioch Review, The Nation, and Prairie Schooner. A pamphlet of his poems, Lake Hope, is available from Porch Publications.

DAVID SCHLOSS teaches at The University of Miami, Oxford, Ohio.

DENNIS SCHMITZ's most recent book was String (The Ecco Press).

RICHARD SELZER is on the faculty of The Yale Medical School and is the author of Rituals of Surgery, Mortal Lessons: Notes on the Art of Surgery, and Confessions of a Knife.

WILLIAM STAFFORD's most recent book, Things That Happen Where There Aren't Any People, is available from BOA Publications, Brockport, New York. It's bigger than a chapbook and smaller than a bread box.

GERALD STERN's new book The Red Coal, will be published by Houghton Mifflin this spring.

THOMAS SWISS teaches at Drake University. He has published poetry and criticism in recent issues of The Sewanee Review, Modern Poetry Studies, and The Agni Review.

ROBERT TAYLOR, Jr. teaches at Bucknell. His fiction has appeared in recent issues of Western Humanities Review, Obras, Cimarron Review, Columbia, and others.

ALEXANDER THEROUX's novel, Darconville's Cat, is being published by Doubleday this spring.

DOUGLAS UNGER's work has appeared in The Chicago Review and Shadowgraphs.

DIANE WAKOSKI's most recent book is Cap of Darkness.

MARY JANE WHITE is a 1980 N.E.A. Fellowship recipient; her poems will appear in Crazy Horse and Water Table.

FREDERIC WILL's Selected Poems were published by The University of Massachusetts Press in 1980.

CHARLES WRIGHT has a new book entitled The Southern Cross scheduled for publication in 1981.

The Madison Review

a magazine of poetry and fiction.

© JUDI KELLEMAN

The Madison Review has printed the work of William Peden, Norbert Blei, Richard Grayson, May Sarton, Peter Klappert, Lisel Mueller, Ronald Wallace, Everette Maddox, and others. It is published twice a year, in January and in June. All submissions should be addressed to:

The Madison Review
University of Wisconsin-Madison
Helen C. White Hall
600 N. Park St.
Madison, WI 53706

Subscriptions are $4 for one year, $10 for three years.

The Missouri Review

"the archetype, the one we were all waiting to see, to hold, to feel. It's perfect. No one could possibly find anything wrong with it."

Barbara Madden, Small Press Review

"It's difficult to imagine more quality in such a low-priced, carefully edited title . . . a must for all medium to large academic libraries"

Bill Katz, Library Journal

1 yr. (3 issues) $7
2 yrs. (6 issues) $12
1 yr. foreign $10

ISSN 0191-1961

*The Missouri
Review*

Department of English
231 Arts & Science
University of Missouri-Columbia
Columbia, Missouri 65211

Pitt Poetry Series

NEW in the

University of Pittsburgh Press
Pittsburgh, PA 15260

THE BADMINTON AT GREAT BARRINGTON; Michael Benedikt
OR, GUSTAVE MAHLER & THE CHATTANOOGA CHOO-CHOO
"Michael Benedikt is a lively, funny, imaginative poet, authentically off-beat in the positive and creative sense of the word."—James Dickey

THE LONE WOMAN AND OTHERS Constance Urdang
"The brother, grandmother, husband, daughters, and various permutations of self appear here as familiar, yet freshly perceived characters 'born new and naked every morning . . . of our common life.' A wise, wry book."—Maxine Kumin

SATAN SAYS Sharon Olds
"Satan Says is a daring and elegant first book. . . . This is a poetry which affirms and redeems the art."—Marilyn Hacker. "Her words are sure things in an unsure world."—Richard Hugo. "It is pure talent."—Hugh Seidman

THE SALAMANDER MIGRATION Cary Waterman
AND OTHER POEMS
"To come to poems and find the world is a great surprise, and joy, and the reason for this book's inestimable worth."—Philip Dacey. "Delightful poetry with . . . the illumination of common objects and common occasions, of the common woman."—Meridel LeSueur

SURE SIGNS: NEW AND SELECTED POEMS Ted Kooser
"Sure Signs is a complete and mature work of poetry. There is little in contemporary poetry that can compare with it in excellence."—Karl Shapiro. "My favorite young American poet is Ted Kooser."—William Cole

DEAR BLOOD Leonard Nathan
"Epigrammatically sharp as a knife. . . . The poems go by like lightning and like lightning illuminate all angles."—Theodore Weiss

IN THE PRESENCE OF MOTHERS Judith Minty
"A strong and moving book by one of the necessary poets of her generation."—William Heyen

These books available at $9.95 hardback, $4.50 paperback at your bookseller or directly (add 50¢ for postage) from the publisher.

THE AUTOMOBILE AND AMERICAN CULTURE

Now available in a second printing, this special issue of the Michigan Quarterly Review has been praised as a modern classic in its field.

James J. Flink, author of The Car Culture:

"The Automobile and American Culture is the most comprehensive collection of material on the American automobile revolution available. The contributions are uniformly of high quality and sparkle with fresh insights. . . . This is a major contribution which must be considered indispensable to understanding the impact of the road and the car on American life."

John B. Rae, author of The Road and The Car in America:

"This volume certainly has the most comprehensive coverage of the place of the automobile in American life and culture that I know of. . . . The Michigan Quarterly Review has made a major contribution to the history of the American automobile."

Fifty contributors present essays, memoirs, fiction, poetry and graphics describing the effect of one invention on the art, morals, and folkways of a nation.

Please send me _____ copies of "The Automobile and American Culture"

$7 each. My check for $_____ is enclosed

NAME _____
STREET _____
CITY _____ STATE _____ ZIP _____

Mail to Michigan Quarterly Review, 3032 Rackham Bldg., University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, MI 48109

HUMANITIES --- IN SOCIETY

HUMANITIES IN SOCIETY addresses the relationship between those academic disciplines that study and interpret human activity and the social institutions that shape it. We believe that research into this relationship is significant for two reasons: it may teach us how to restore the humanities to importance in modern university life and it may disclose ways by which humanistic ideas can better inform social processes and practices. This journal would argue that the humanities may again find influence within the university provided they are viewed, not as adjuncts to more serviceable curricula, but as a crucial form of theoretical discourse that reconstructs ideas and actions in ways that elucidate their historical and cultural roots, sociopolitical impact, and potential uses. Part of our aim is to investigate how this renewal may be accomplished. Of equal concern to HUMANITIES IN SOCIETY is the interplay between humanistic discourse and the social institutions outside the university—that is, those of the state and the economy. To what extent is humanistic discourse able to alter social policies and movements rather than simply mirror them? To what extent do social institutions determine humanistic scholarship and theory formation? Another aim is to explore this dynamic.

During the coming year HUMANITIES IN SOCIETY will consider these matters in special issues devoted to the writings of Michel Foucault, the problem of authority in America, and the American liberal tradition; these numbers will include essays, translations, and reviews by such scholars as Michael Sprinker, Paul Bové, Karlis Racevskis, Héctor Mario Cavallari, Jonathan Arac, Jean Baudrillard, Jay Martin, Sheldon Wolin, John Schaar, John Patrick Diggins, Russell Jacoby, Zelda Bronstein, Nicholas Xenos, Thomas C. Hone, Mark Krupnick, and Earl Klee. In addition, the editors invite manuscripts for future issues on “Psychoanalysis and Culture” and “Social Justice.”

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

Individuals, $12.00; institutions, $20.00 ($3.50 postage outside US). HUMANITIES IN SOCIETY is published quarterly by the University of Southern California Center for the Humanities, 303 Doheny Memorial Library, University of Southern California, Los Angeles, CA 90007.

POETRY EAST

an international magazine of poetry

Number One, Spring 1980:

Swedish Poetry Feature: Harry Martinson, Claes Anderson, Osten Sjostrand, Tomas Transtromer, Sonja Akesson, Goran Sonnevi. And poems, translations and essays by W.H. Auden, Robert Bly, Richard Shelton, Luis Omar Salinas, Patrick Kavanagh, Gloria Fuertes, Philip Levine, Miklós Radnóti, Wendy Salinger, Louis Simpson, Ada Long, Hank Lazer, Leif Sjoberg, and more. Plus the art of Charles Biederman.

Number Two, Summer 1980:

The Poetry of Gregory Orr. Introduction by Stanley Kunitz.
Also available in a limited handset edition.

Number Three, Autumn/Winter 1980:

The Poetry of Nazim Hikmet, translated from the Turkish by Randy Blasing and Mutlu Konuk, with an essay by Mutlu Konuk. Plus poems by Czeslaw Milosz, Philip Levine, Lars Noren, Richard Shelton, Linda Gregg, Gerald Stern, Margareta Renberg, and others. Plus cartoons by Jules Feiffer, Paul Conrad, and Paul Michael Szep, and photography by Robert Walker.

Upcoming: Special Robert Bly Issue

Three Issues / Eight Dollars

Poetry East
1909 Jefferson Park Ave. #3
Charlottesville, Virginia 22903

Check Enclosed

Name: _____
Address: _____
City: _____
State: _____
ZIP: _____

Please begin my sunscription with #1 #2 #3 #4

Pitt Poetry Series

NEW in the

THE BADMINTON AT GREAT
BARRINGTON; OR, GUSTAVE
MAHLER & THE CHATTANOOGA CHOO-CHOO
Michael Benedikt

$9.95 cloth,
$4.50 paper

"Michael Benedikt is a lively, funny, imaginative poet, authentically offbeat in the positive and creative sense of the word. . . . Benedikt's work is jolting, and in the best way, outrageous."—James Dickey

THE LONE WOMAN AND OTHERS
Constance Urdang

$9.95 cloth,
$4.50 paper

"Impressive: passionate and perceptive, tough and tender. It's lovely to watch her working at her art, at the craft of it, letting out all the emotional stops."—Edward Field

THE SALAMANDER MIGRATION
AND OTHER POEMS
Cary Waterman

$9.95 cloth,
$4.50 paper

"To come to poems and find the world is a great surprise, and joy, and the reason for this book's inestimable worth."—Philip Dacey. "She creates a poetic world with all the bite and beauty of her rural life on the 'prairie of Minnesota.'"—Library Journal

SATAN SAYS
Sharon Olds

$9.95 cloth,
$4.50 paper

"Olds' poems are perpetually balanced at the edge of hyperbolic violence. . . . Many poems . . . are simply stunning. This is a powerful and impressive first book."—Booklist

SURE SIGNS: NEW AND SELECTED POEMS
Ted Kooser

$9.95 cloth,
$4.50 paper

"There is little in contemporary poetry that can compare with it in excellence."—Karl Shapiro. "My favorite young American poet is Ted Kooser."—William Cole

DEAR BLOOD
Leonard Nathan

$9.95 cloth,
$4.50 paper

"Nathan's poems are consistently and intentionally brief, made of simple language. . . . They are profound."—Library Journal. "Epigrammatically sharp as a knife. . . . The poems go by like lightning and like lightning illuminate all angles."—Theodore Weiss

IN THE PRESENCE OF MOTHERS
Judith Minty

$9.95 cloth,
$4.50 paper

The new collection by a poet whose first book won the United States Award of the International Poetry Forum. (January 1981)

Available at your bookseller or directly (add 50¢ for postage) from the publisher.

University of Pittsburgh Press

Pittsburgh, PA 15260

The cover illustrations reproduce a woodcut by Harlan Mathieu
