

Their Houses There Without Their Bodies

no one is there but someone will be there transparent houses that have no rooms or someone was there and is coming back that have no walls there is nothing but air or someone is there but can't be seen or is it water that bubbling that blue they are not there but they seem to be diving their clothes are clinging to transparent walls or swimming in underwater houses their silvery coppery chairs are balanced their houses are breathing water their arms their chairs their jackets a crown are waiting their bodies cannot be seen they are sitting and breathing without their bodies they are home