

The Ants

The ants move deliberately amongst the grass blades.
One, coming to a large grain of sand, moves to his left to get past it, but then, for some reason, turns to the right. He walks along for a couple of inches, then suddenly comes to a complete stop. Now he starts up again, disappearing into the tangled foliage.