

containment · Dean Taciuch

no matter how we measure the fields beyond the gate stretch out to the road there hasn't been a damned thing we could do about it yet the night watchman's asleep on the couch and hasn't heard our easy entrance dismissed in the morning as fantasy seeking what fantasy lacks the hope that not everything is possible nor these eyes of dogs surrounding him