

Seven Poems · James Laughlin

THE DEPARTURE

They say I have to go away soon
On the long trip to nowhere.
Put things in order, they say.
But I've always been disorderly
So why start now?
Not much time, they say.
What to do with it?
Not much different, I think,
Than what I've been doing.
My best friends have always been
The ones in books.
Read a few pages here, a few there.
No complaints, few regrets,
Thanks to everybody.

THE OLD INDIAN

told me (he was an Onandaga) that each person is born with a number of days in his hand he must accept that but he may hope for the tribe because if there is one to speak and one to listen the tribe will go on.

for Gary Snyder