

Browsing

His Lease Is Up (1915)

A Real Service Station (1949)

Some Ideas on the War (1917)

The Flowers That Bloom In The Spring, Tra La (1922)

Spring Is Busting Out Everywhere (1945)

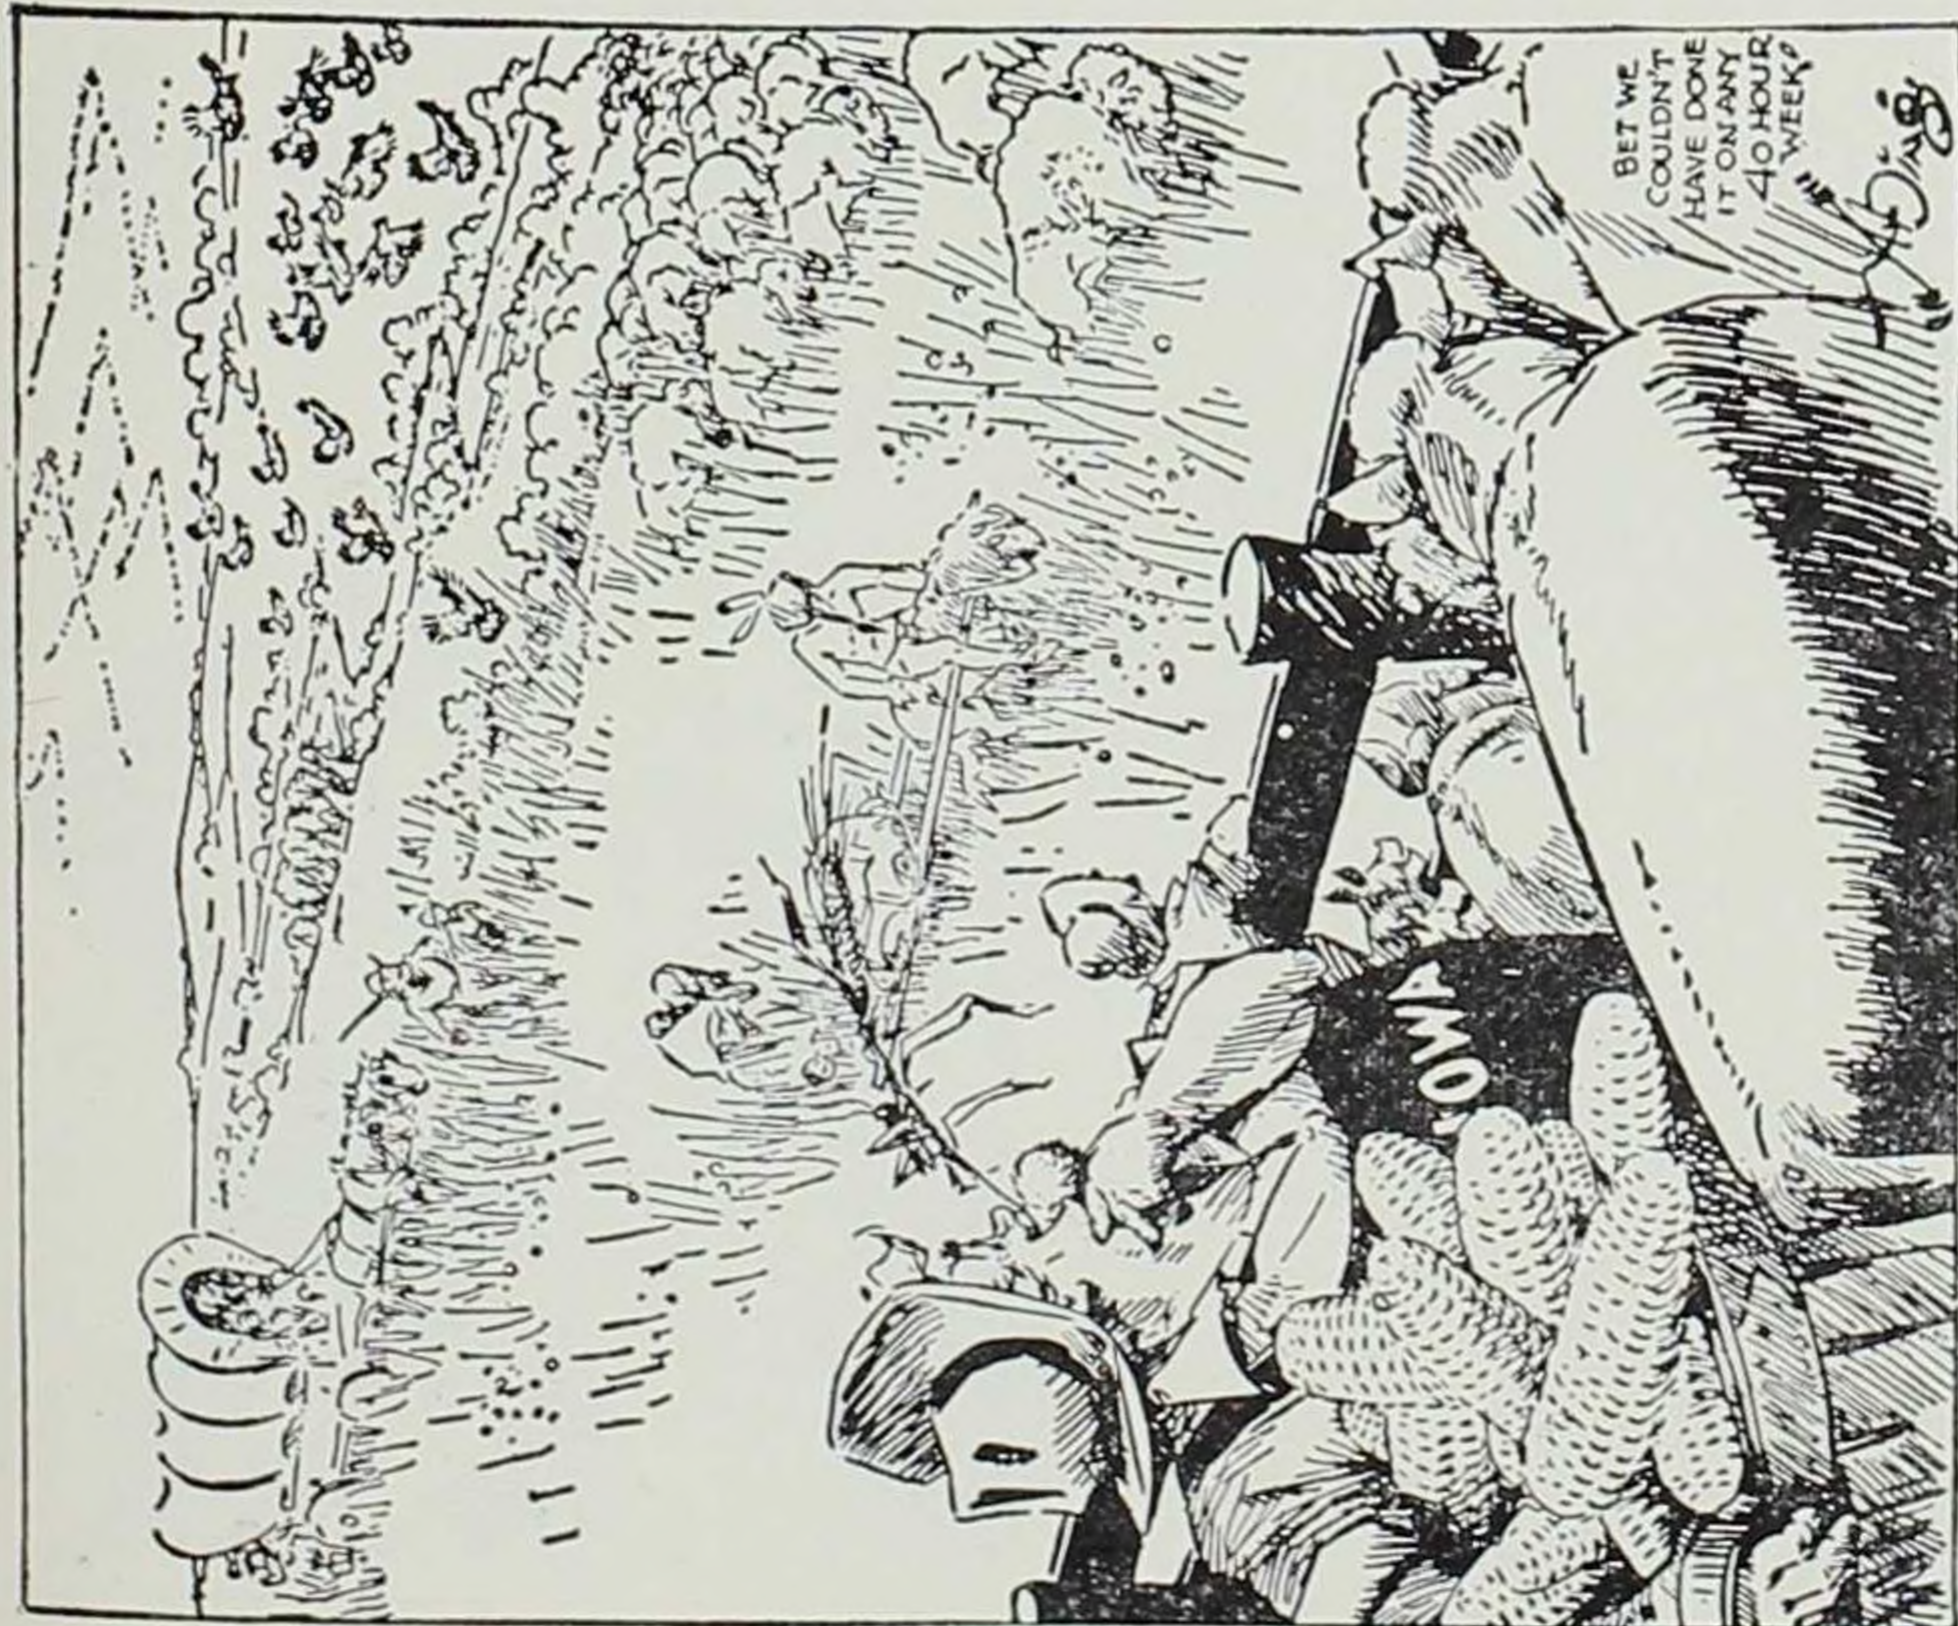

A Generation Gap (1949)

Until Next Time (1929)

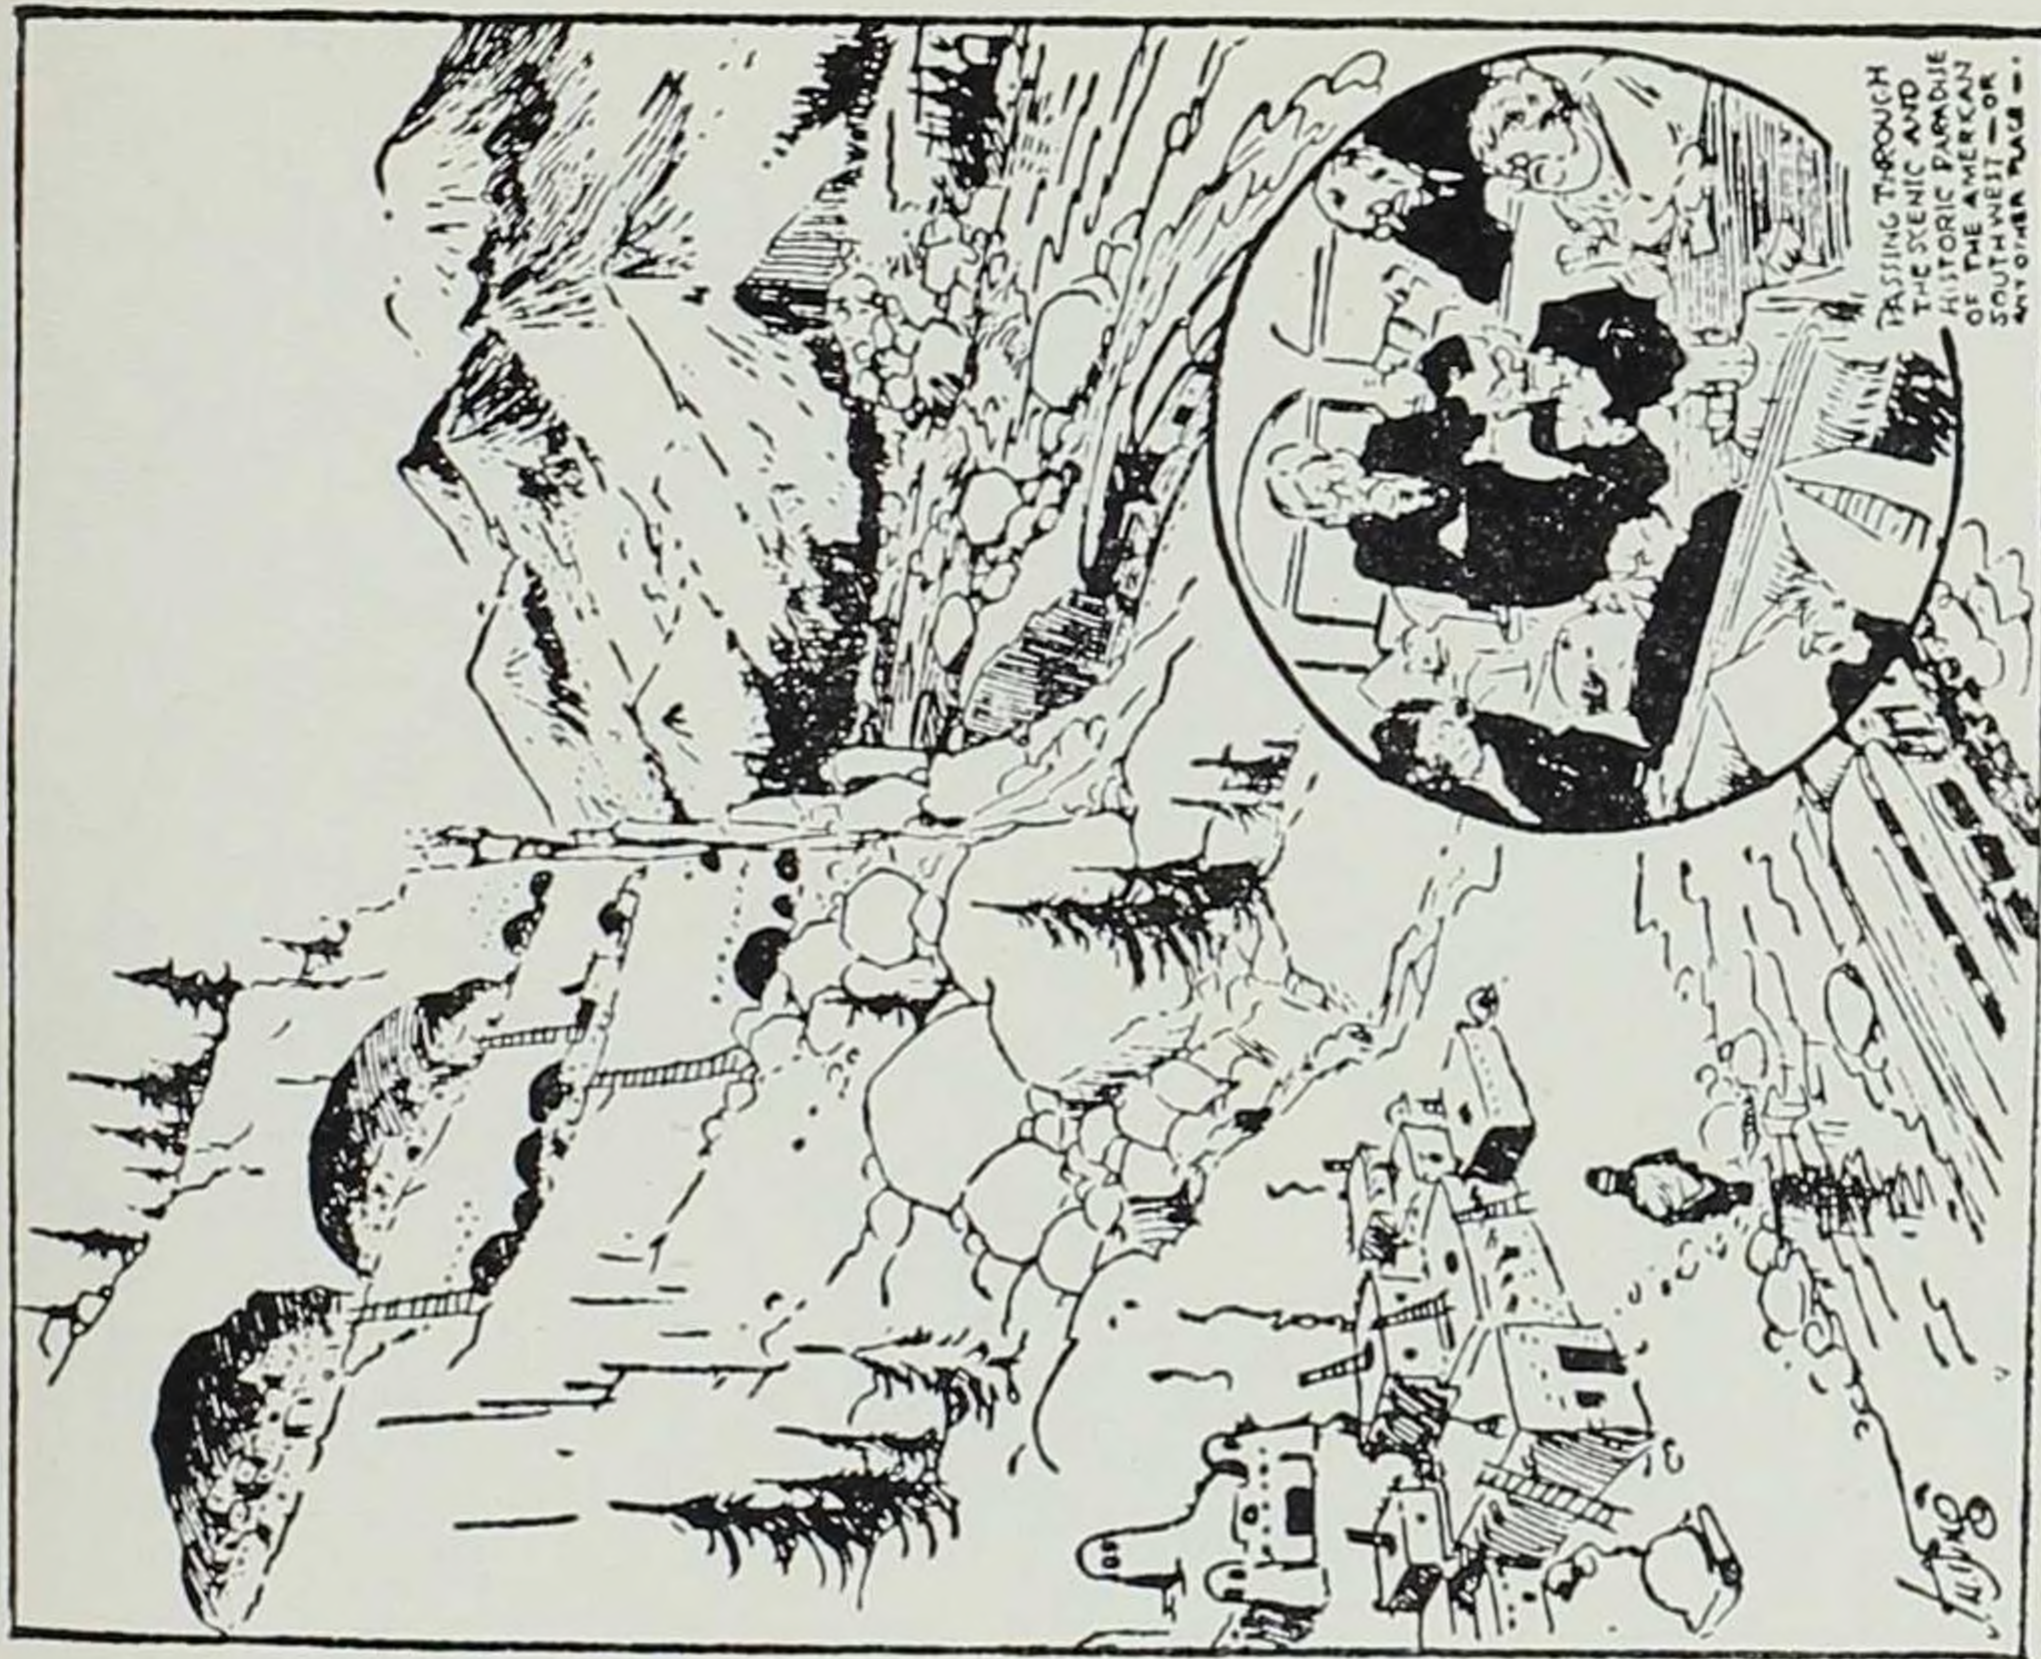

Iowa Has Come a Long Way in a Hundred Years

[100]

The Educational Value of Travel (1926)

[101]

A Dress Designer's Autobiography (1915)

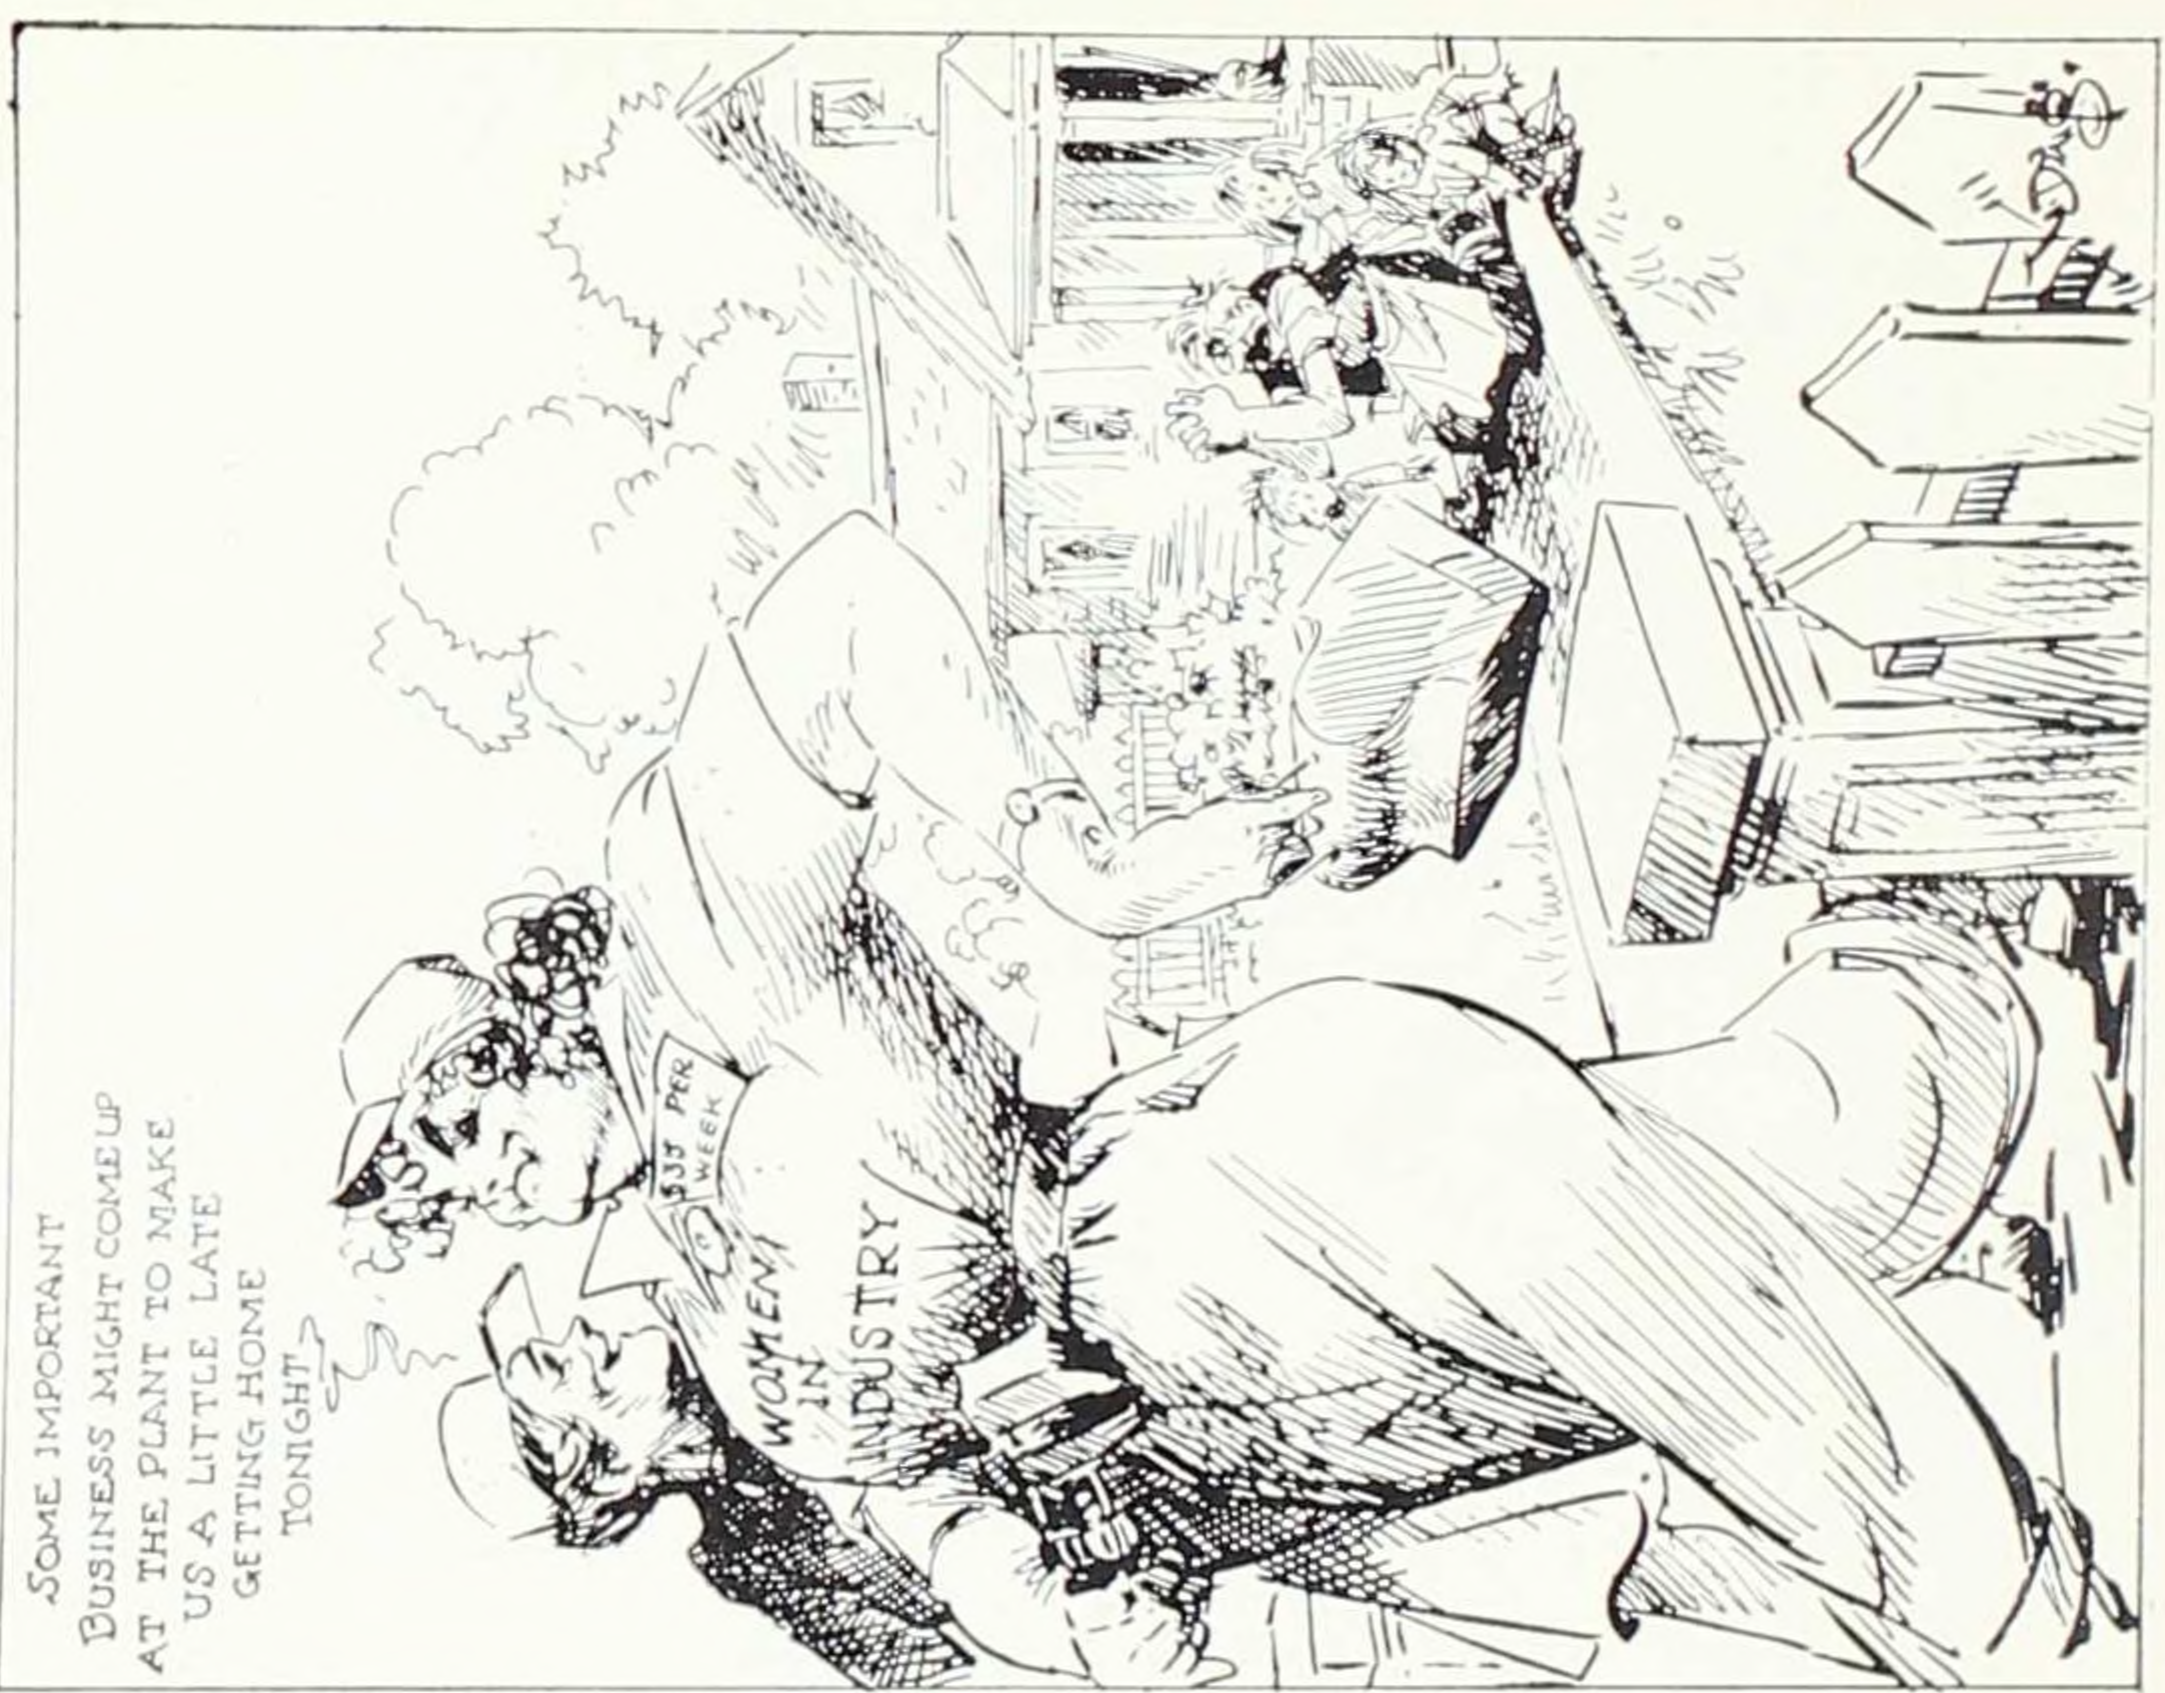

[103]

[102]

Post War Readjustment Problems (1943)

We'll Be Thinking of You Every Day (1916)

Watchful Waiting (1915)

[107]

The Republican Convention Is On (1940)

[108]

Machines Are So Much More Efficient (1929)

THE ROMANS
KILLED 4941
GLADIATORS
IN 117 ROMAN
HOLIDAYS

BUT WITH ALL OUR MODERN IMPROVEMENTS
THE BEST WE CAN DO IS ONLY ABOUT
35000 IN 365!

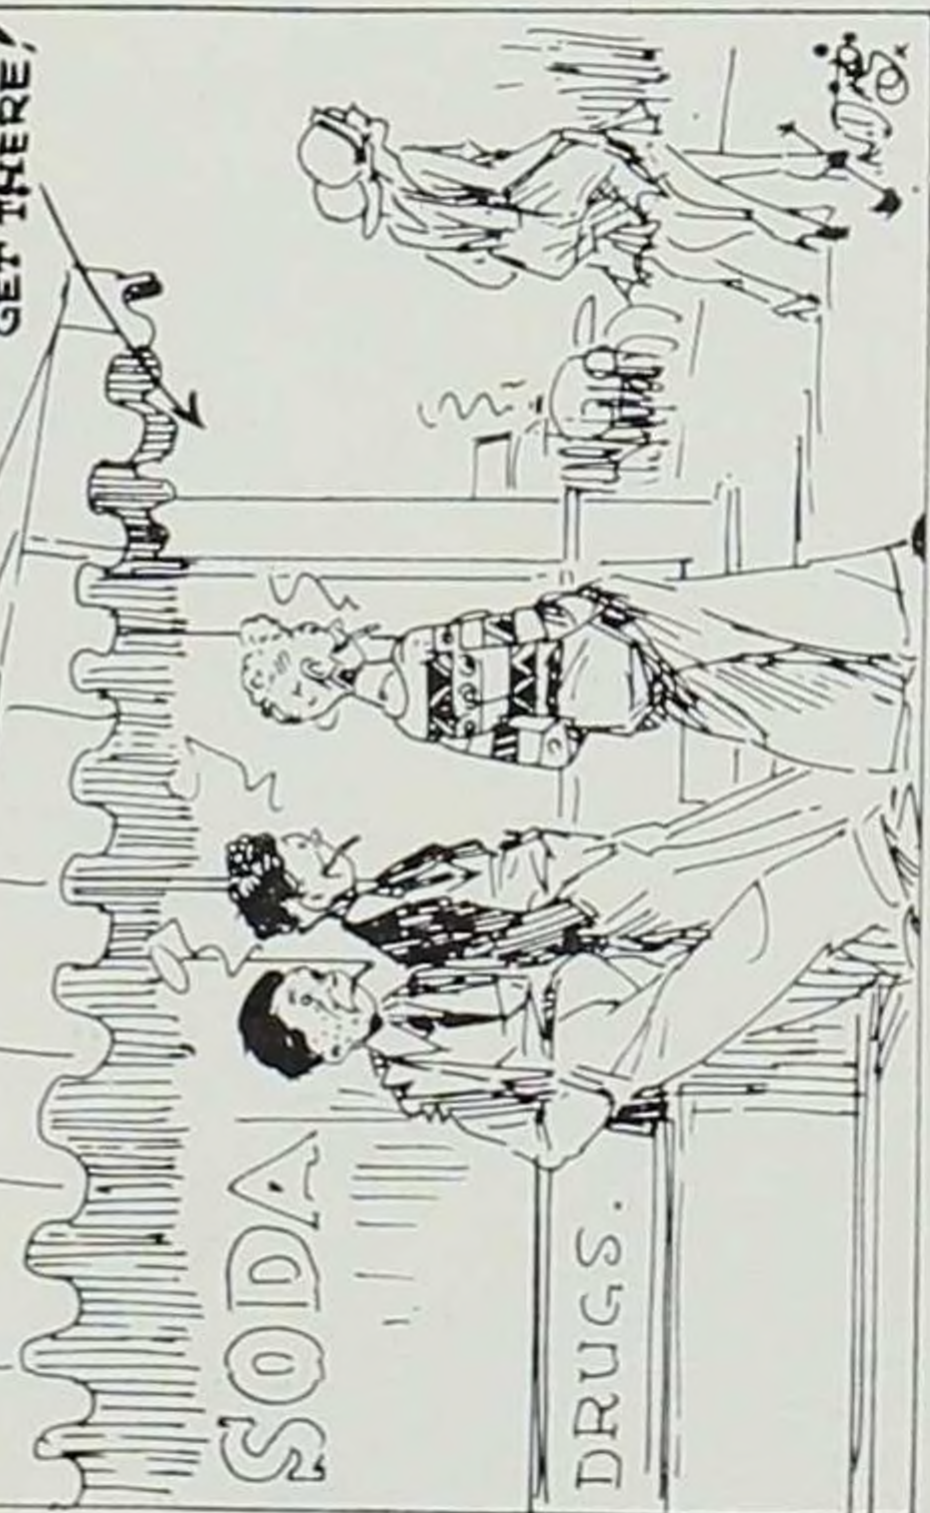

Prediction In 1939 Of World Today

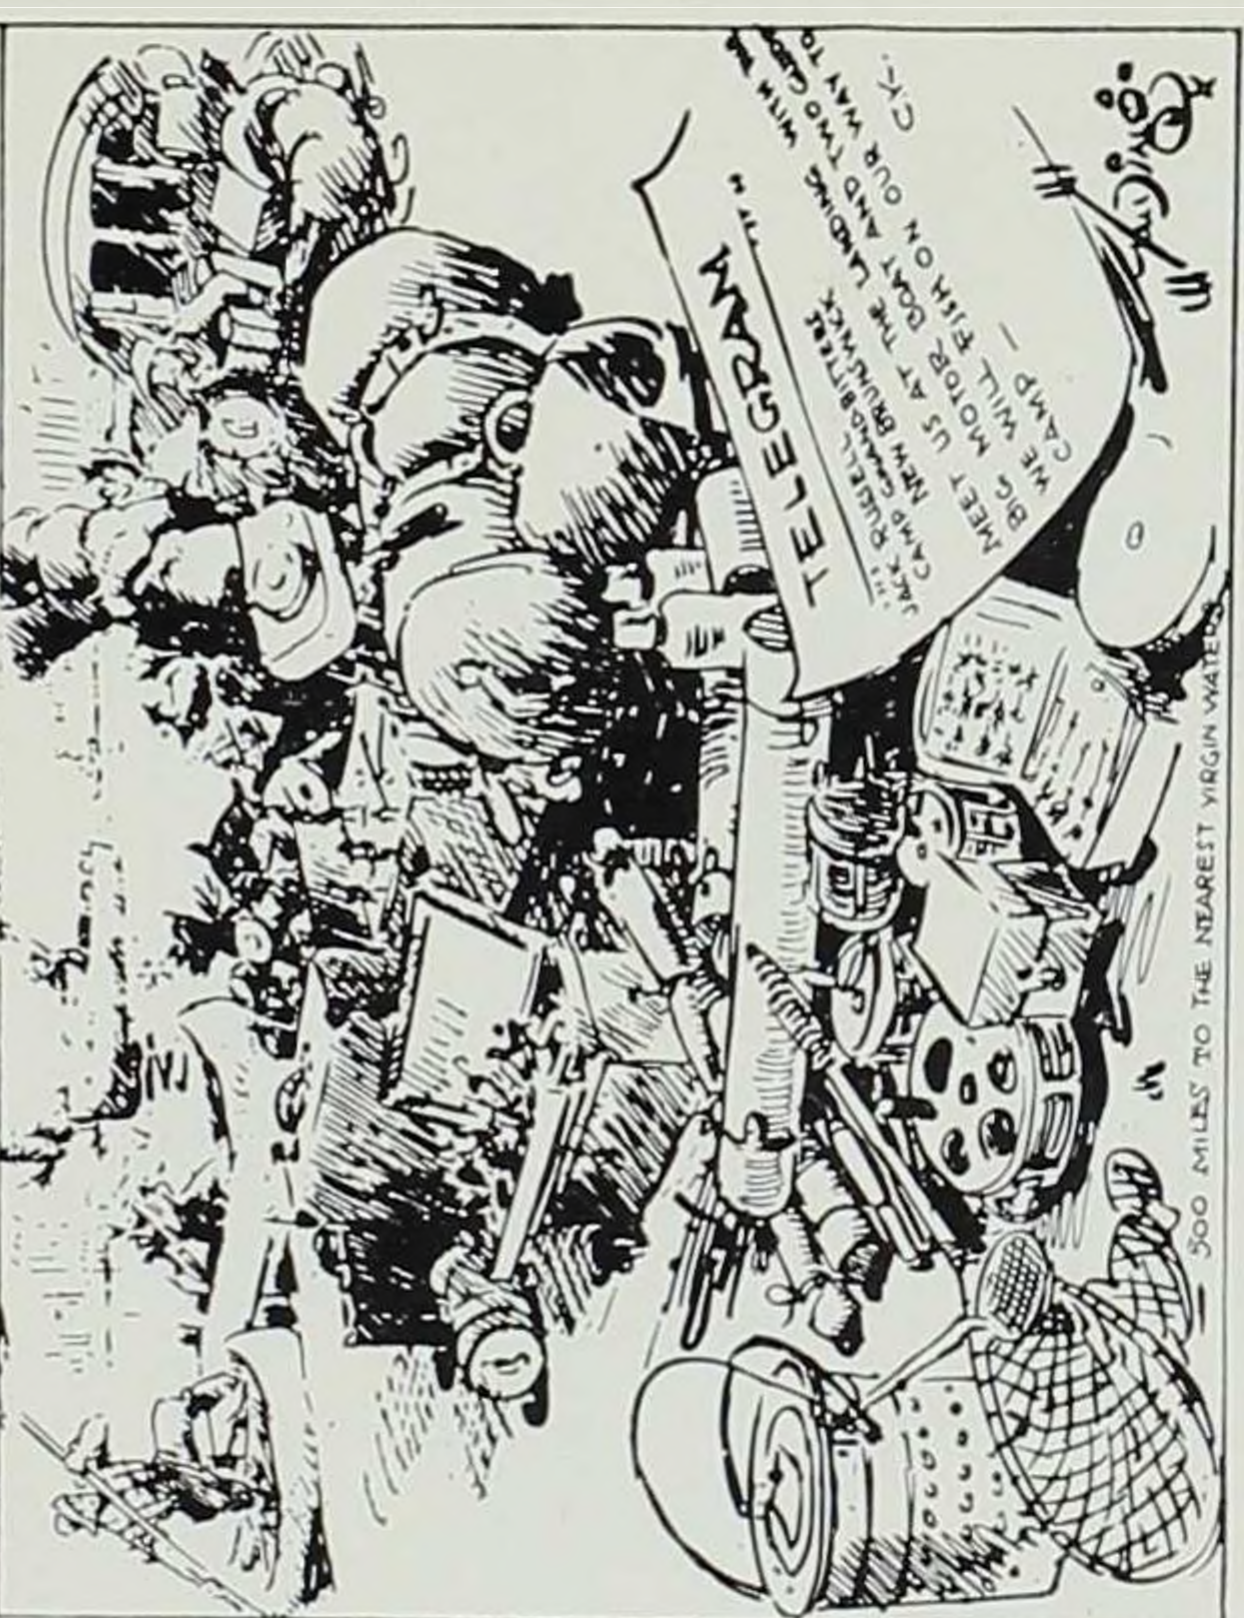

Had You Noticed It, Too? (1929)

SEEM TO BE THE ONES WHO HAVE THE LEAST TO DO WHEN THEY GET THERE!

No Wonder It Costs Us So Much More To Live These Days (1936)

About All We'll Ever Do About It (1947)

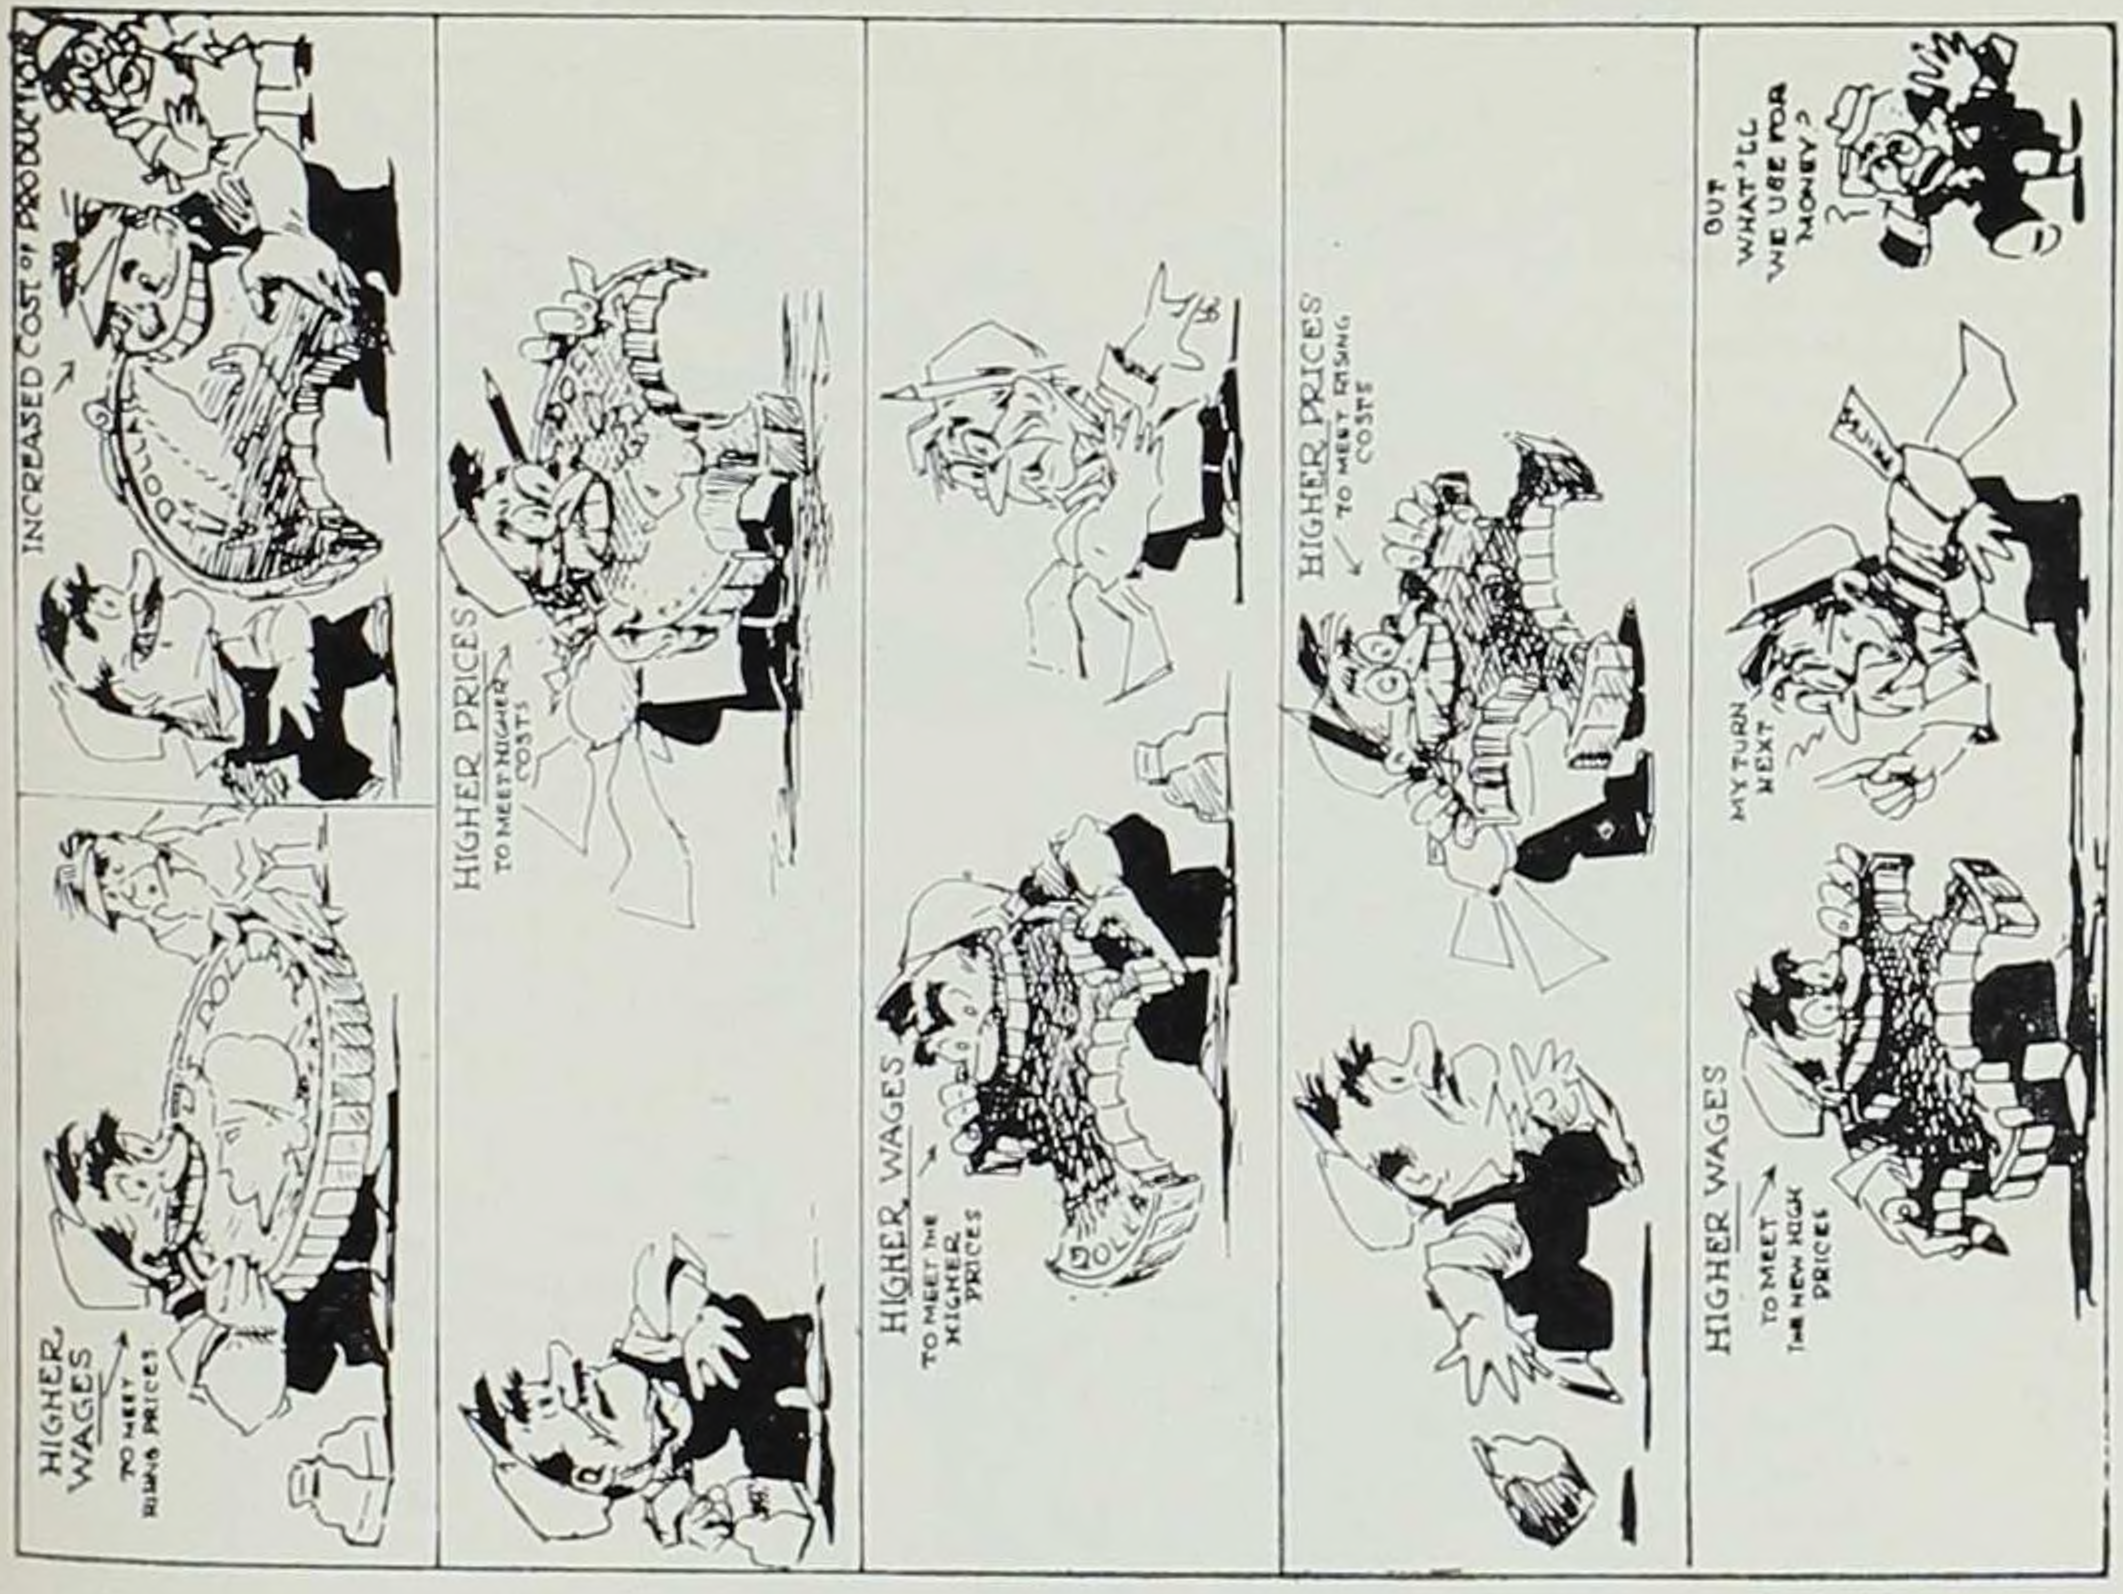

[113]

Its A Wonder There Are Any Ducks Left (1934)

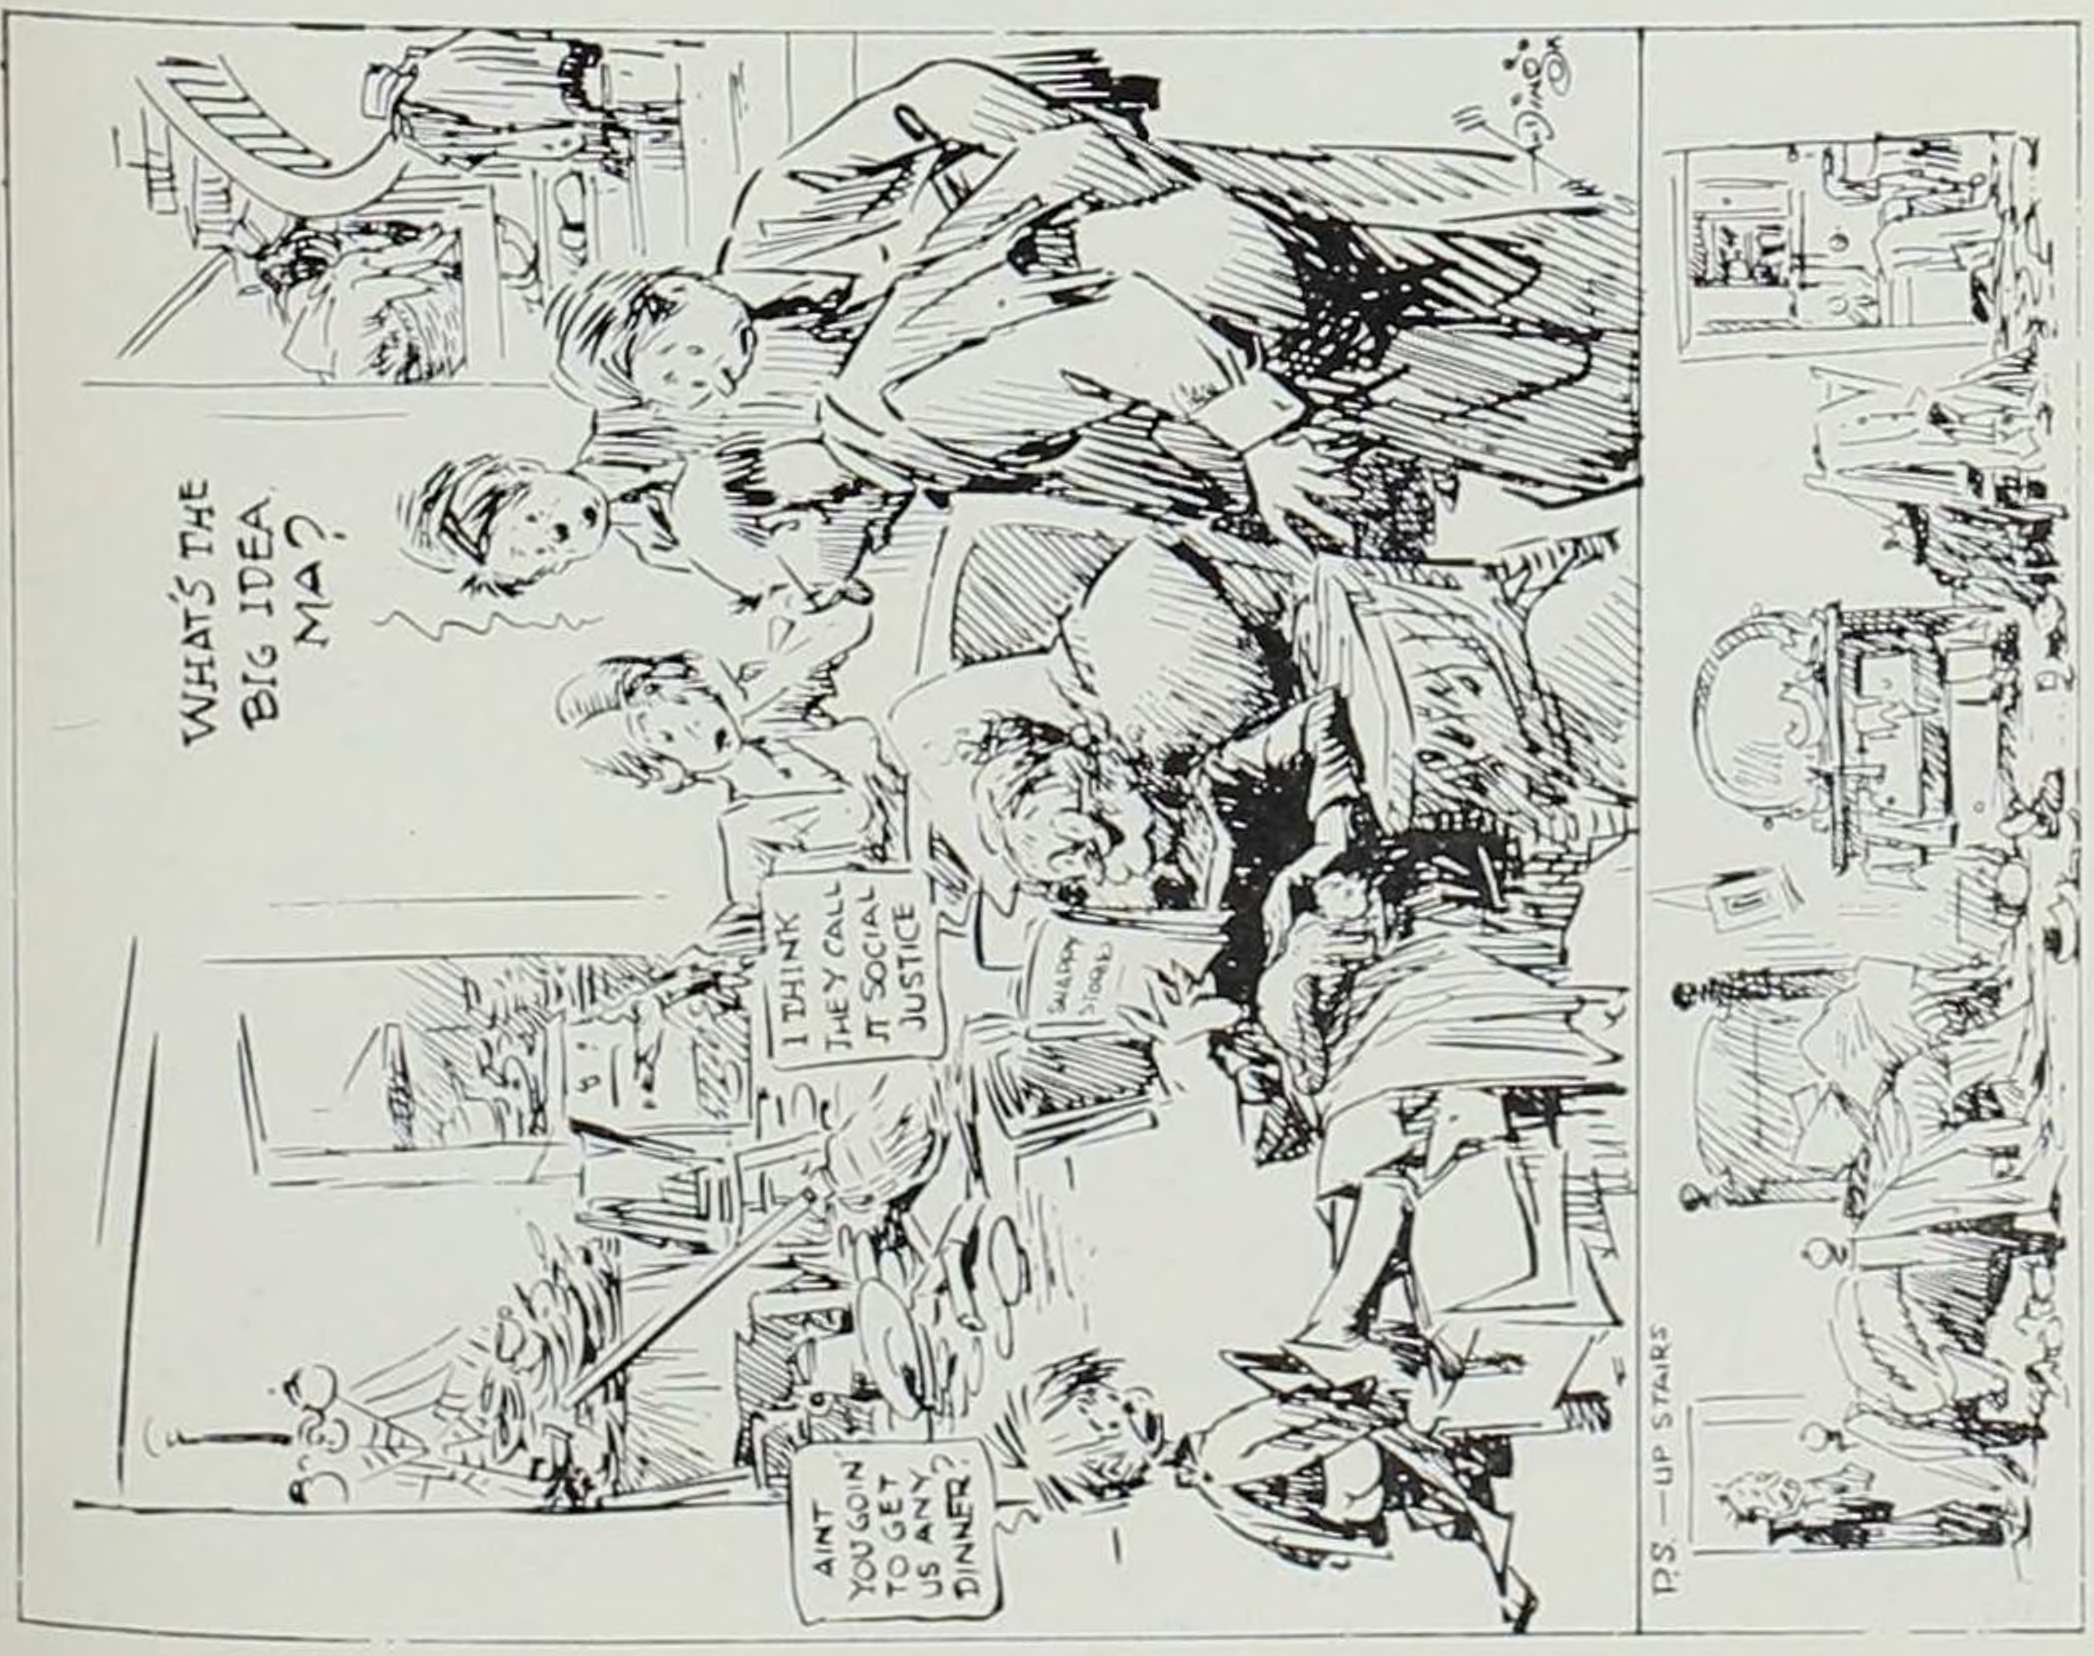

[114]

Making The Dollar Smaller (1943)

Wait Till Mother Takes Up The 30 Hour Week Idea (1936)

[116]

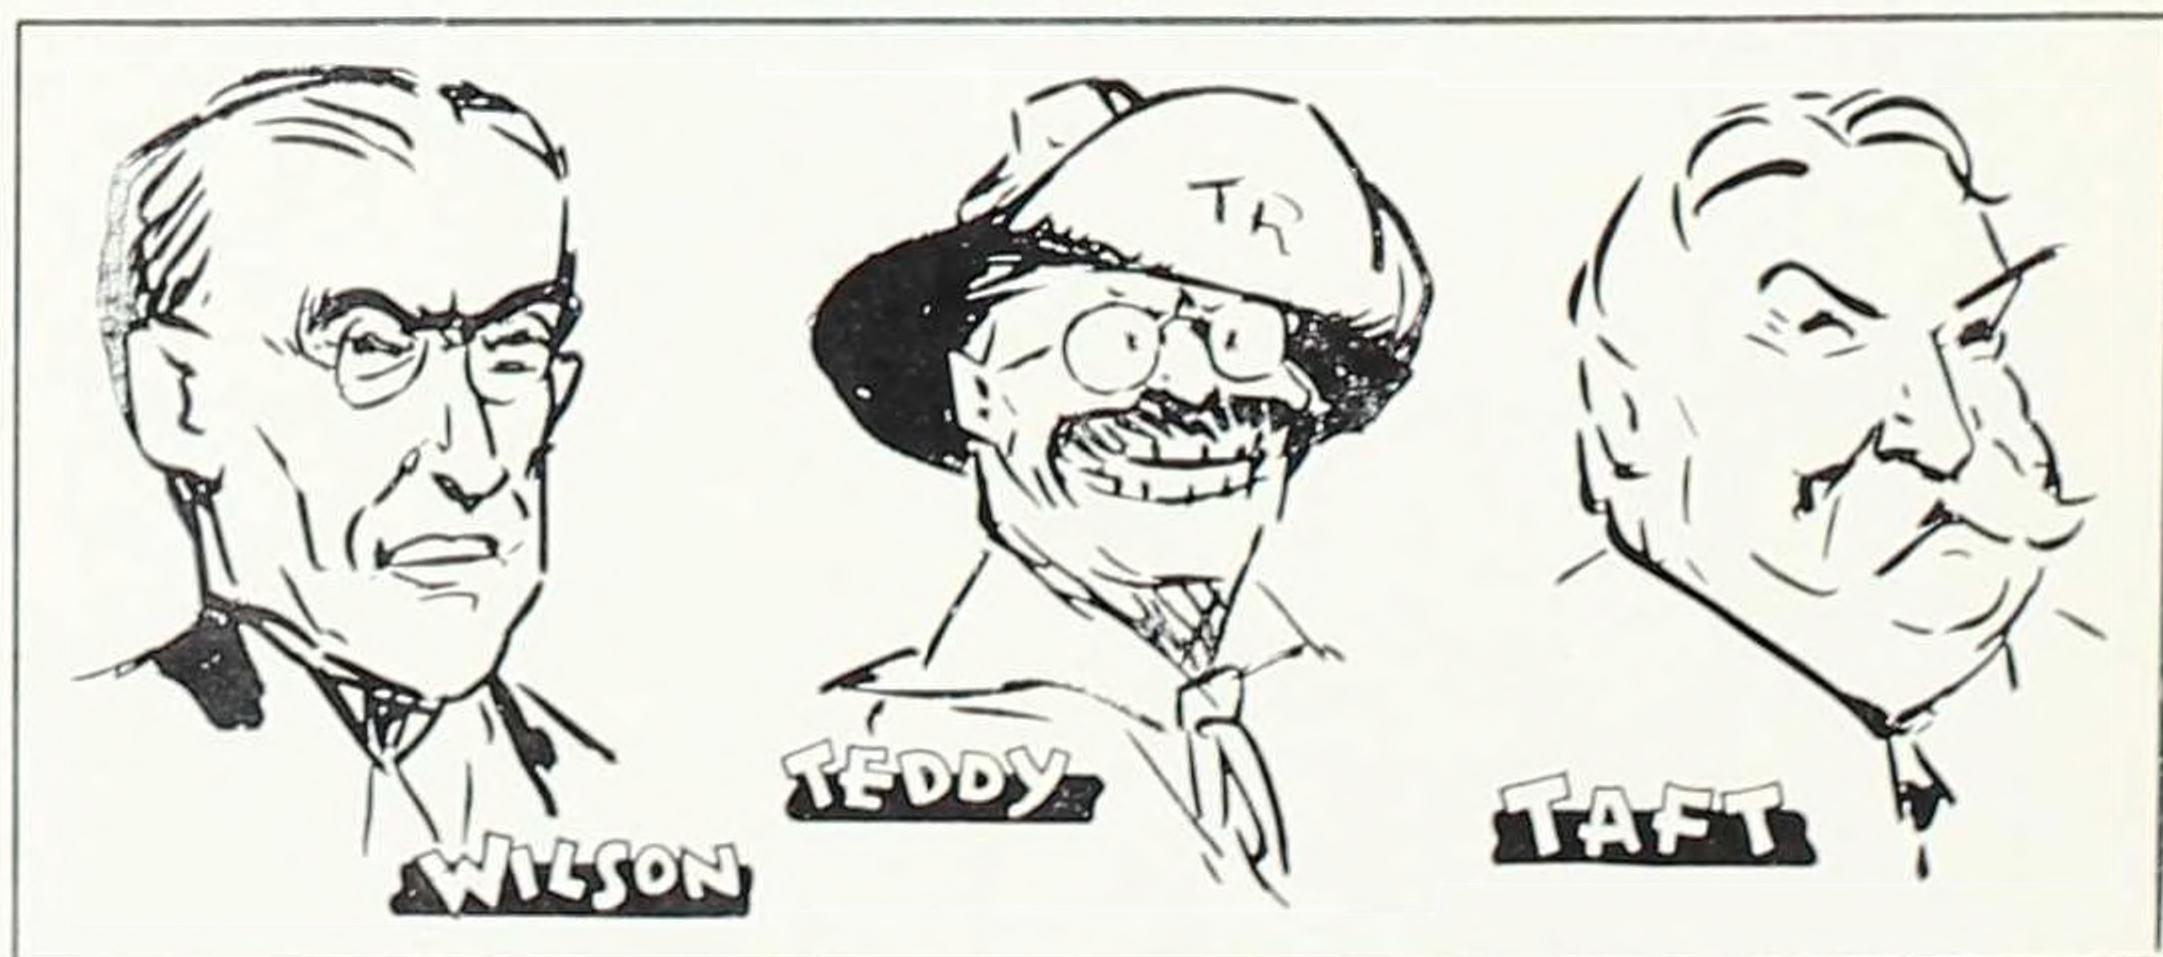

[115]

Damned If They Do and Damned If They Don't

[117]

Candidates for President in 1912

Twenty years ago, "Ding" drew the above cartoons of Wilson, Roosevelt, and Taft for the October, 1952, issue of The Palimpsest.

Ding by James Montgomery Flagg

A Self-Drawn Cartoon of Me (1922)

